High-Altitude Test Success; New One Set

Plan For Larger Nuclear Shot In Pacific Tuesday

HONOLULU (AP) — A nuclear device the size of the atom bomb that destroyed Hiroshima in 1945 was detonated above Johnston Island in the Pacific Friday night. Another larger test shot is scheduled for Tuesday night.

Observers on the island of Kauai, closest to the blast and about 100 miles northwest of Honolulu, reported a bright orange fireball that burst into view above the horizon.

SECOND SUCCESS

Heavy clouds reduced its visual effects to something like a light-flash over Honolulu.

The detonation was only the second successful American high-altitude nuclear test in six tries in the Pacific this year. Four have failed because of troubles with Thor boosters lifting warheads into the sky.

A new missile was used this time—a specially built booster employing the motor from a surface-to-surface Sergeant rocket. The device was an instant success and the nuclear package exploded between 20 and 30 miles high in a ball of orange flame.

The flash faded seconds after it appeared. It was in no way comparable to the July 8 thermonuclear blast that lit up the mid-Pacific like a giant flashbulb. Those Honolulu residents and tourists who turned out to watch failed to see much of anything.

The Atomic Energy Commission indicated the device and its booster performed perfectly, despite three delays presumably caused by cloudy weather. The shot was held a total of one hour.

Minutes after the test, the AEC announced the next high-altitude shot above Johnston will involve a larger device than Friday night's blast which packed a power of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

One Killed, 19 Injured In Rail Station Blasts

VERONA, Italy (AP) — Violent explosions shattered baggage rooms in two north Italian railway stations Saturday, killing 1 person and injuring 19 others. An unexploded charge of dynamite was found near a school.

Authorities feared it was the state of a new wave of violence in the thorny South Tyron issue. Police quickly threw reinforced guards around train stations as far south as Rome.

The explosions, blamed on time bombs planted in checked luggage, ripped through station baggage rooms in Verona and Trento, 50 miles north of Verona.

The midafternoon explosion in Verona fatally injured a baggage room attendant and hurt 18 other persons, 3 gravely. The blast shattered hundreds of windows in the station and surrounding buildings.

Few people were in the Trento station when the hidden charge exploded just before dawn. One person was injured, and the baggage room was heavily damaged.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

State Has Big Oil Reserve

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana accounted for a tremendous 62 per cent of all the net increase in the nation's oil reserves during the last 10 years, oil officials said Saturday.

Because of the giant increase in oil reserves, Louisiana is considered the bright state among the big six oil producers — Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, California, Kansas and Louisiana.

Why is Louisiana springing ahead? There are two major reasons:

Seventy-five per cent of all drilling money goes into wells more than 10,000 feet deep.

RICH RESERVES

Louisiana is rich in ultra-deep oil reserves.

What is important about all this is that the largest oil reserves being found in the nation today are in deep, deep regions — and Louisiana has them. Much of this is offshore, but not all of it.

Charlie S. Wilkins, executive vice president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, said substantial reserves will mean years of stability for this state.

This does not mean — all of a sudden — the state is getting richer with oil revenues, for market demand controls that.

The State Mineral Board next Thursday will conduct its first oil lease sale this fiscal year, offering 88,794 acres in the offshore area and 119,530 inland acres.

Because Louisiana fell short of its estimated revenues from oil bonuses last fiscal year, Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' administration has estimated only $13 million from oil bonuses this year.

If the lease sale Thursday fails to reach that figure, there is still plenty of time during the balance of the year for other leasings.

The largest slice of state revenues from oil doesn't come from lease sales, but from the oil severence levy. That severance levy isn't collected until the oil is produced for market demand.

Governor's Race Previewed Here

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

Political overtones sounded Saturday in a preview of the coming governor's race as the Louisiana Associated General Contractors convention ended in Monroe with a parade of gubernatorial hopefuls.

A sample of the 1963 campaign was offered in this order by:

Claude Kirkpatrick, Director of the Department of Public Works, who described Louisiana's water resources as the "coming resource" to replace oil and gas. He is considering the race.

William J. Dodd, chairman of the State Board of Education, who cautioned the contractors that a "population explosion" will make education problems greater. He is a potential candidate for education superintendent.

CANDIDATE

John J. McKeithen, Public Service Commission, of Columbia, who said plainly that he is a candidate for governor after telling the delegates about his father's experiences in the contracting business.

Robert F. Kennon, governor from 1952-56, who said businessmen can best run the state, describing himself as "just a citizen." He is a candidate for governor.

PLAN NEW MINUTEMAN

War Missile May Get Larger Wallop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has started planning on advanced Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile with longer range, a heavier nuclear wallop and greater accuracy.

Preliminary steps are being taken on an advanced version even as work is nearing completion on the first combat launch bases for early models of the 6,300-mile-range ICBM. The advanced Minutemen may be ready in about three years.

Designers hope to improve the missile's accuracy by better than 20 per cent. Current models are believed able to hit within a mile of a target center—near enough to wreak devastation on a city.

Another objective is to lengthen the reach of the missile and to give it power to loft a heavier warhead. As now built, the Minuteman's warhead reportedly pack the punch of about 800,000 tons of TNT.

Missile experts are planning a major innovation — replacing the present underground block houses with airborne and mobile ground control centers from which firing orders could be sent.

This would make it vastly more difficult to knock out missile control machinery with a surprise attack.

Over-all, the Air Force aims for about 2,000 nuclear-tipped ICBMs.

This total includes 234 liquid-fuel Atlases and Titans, nearly two-thirds of which already are in place.

By the end of this year, the Air Force expects to have at least 20 Minutemen in underground silos widely dispersed around Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana. Other Minuteman bases will center in Missouri, Wyoming, North Dakota and South Dakota.

U.S. Keeping Close Watch On India War

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials kept a close watch on reports of heavy fighting between Indian and Red Chinese forces Saturday. But they said both sides probably have limited objectives which should keep the conflict from exploding into a big Asian war.

The Kennedy administration is evidently prepared to sell Prime Minister Nehru's government military equipment if he requests it for his forces in the face of the Red Chinese pressure. However, officials said the Indians have not made any such requests.

WINTER FACTOR

Official thinking here is that the scope of the conflict should be known rather quickly. With the onset of winter in the high mountains of the India-China border regions, heavy snows and freezing winds within the next 10 days or two weeks would normally put a halt to all military operations.

The private view of U.S. officials is that while India and Red China have long disputed the border division in the region, the Chinese Communists bear responsibility for stirring up the current struggle.

Behind the so far sharply limited conflict, however, are powerful conflicting forces which give it a much greater potential significance.

Leaders of both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations have consistently conceived of the cold war struggle in Asia as being determined in the long run by the results of the rivalry between India and Communist China. India has concentrated on building up its civilian economy; Red China has focused on generating military power.

The United States, along with other Western powers, is backing India's economic development program at a cost running into some billions of dollars.

Police Probing West Monroe Store Robbery

An unmasked robber took around $200 at gunpoint from the Seven Eleven Store on Cypress Street in West Monroe late Friday night. West Monroe police, along with local law agencies, are still looking for the lone bandit.

The store manager, C. E. Hogan of 1302 Hinkle Dr., told police the man wandered around the store before robbing him at 10:45 p.m. Hogan said the man brought several jars of jelly to the counter to be checked out.

As the manager started to check the merchandise, the man allegedly told him "this is a stickup," and then ordered him to hand over his money and "make it snappy."

Hogan at first thought the man was kidding, he said, but then found himself looking into the barrel of a snub-nosed .22-caliber revolver. He said he gave the man approximately $200, and the man fled in a car. The store is located at 1501 Cypress Street, and police believe the escape car was probably parked on a sidestreet out of sight.

An item was immediately broadcast to all local authorities with a description of the bandit but late Saturday he had not been apprehended. He was described as being about 25 years old, around 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighing approximately 140 pounds. He was clad in grey khaki pants and a checked shirt.

The weatherman calls for scattered thundershowers early today in the Twin City area, then clearing and cooler later in the day and tonight.

Low tonight is expected to range between 50 and 54 degrees, following a high today of 75 to 78.

Saturday's temperatures ranged from a high of 90 to a low of 53. Fairly heavy showers also fell during the afternoon.

Ella Threat To Mainland Fading Away

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Hurricane Ella, a monsterous freak measuring 1,000 miles across in spots, swung its highest 100-mile-an-hour winds further away from the U. S. mainland Saturday but kept gales trained toward the Eastern Seaboard.

It was traveling northeastward at about 15 miles an hour on a course that apparently doomed it to death in the cold North Atlantic.

THREAT FADES

"The hurricane is no longer a threat to coastal sections of the Middle Atlantic states," the Weather Bureau advised.

The size of the storm was such, however, that gale warnings remained in effect from Cape May, N. J. to Cape Lookout, N. C.

Forecasters said the area where the gale watch was in effect could expect rough seas, heavy swells and gage winds a short distance off the coast.

Tides were expected to run 1 to 3 feet above normal Saturday night in the area.

"Winds along coastal North Carolina and Virginia are gradually decreasing and will be under 25 m.p.h. on the mainland but 30 to 40 m.p.h. a short distance off shore," the Weather Bureau said.

It warned small craft from Block Island, R. I., to Savannah, Ga., and those in extreme southern Chesapeake Bay to remain in port until seas subside.

The Weather Bureau said seas south of Cape Hatteras were "slowly moderating," but nonetheless warned small craft southward along the Florida East Coast and in the extreme northern Bahamas to exercise caution.

TANKER, BARGES BURN

19 Feared Dead In River Crash

LUTCHER, La. (AP) — The Norwegian motor tanker Boheme and a string of oil barges smashed into each other in the pre-dawn Mississippi River fog Saturday. One person was known dead, but reports on the missing conflicted.

The Coast Guard said 19 were lost and feared killed after the crash, some 30 winding river miles upstream from New Orleans. N. D. Trosclair, a parish fire marshal who boarded the ship, said 19 men were believed trapped in a burnt hole.

Shipping officials said 18 were missing from the tanker's crew of 49.

Flaming oil from the strong of four barges spread across the river and explosions shook the 13,500-ton tanker, laden with a high octane solvent.

LEAP IN WATER

Panic-stricken crewmen leaped into the blazing oil-covered waters. People on the shore heard their screams. Eight crewmen were hospitalized.

The collision occured about 3:40 a.m. CST, authorities said. Hours later, rescuers fished from the river a crewman's body identified as Hans Wollsen, 65, of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Flames still belched from a gaping hole in the tanker's starboard bow and from her superstructure late Saturday.

"I'm afraid the missing crewmen are either trapped in there or are in the water," said fire chief Roy A. Breaux of Vachierie, across the river from Lutcher. He was at the scene soon after the crash.

"The whole sky lit up," Breaux said. "The fog was so thick we couldn't see a thing for a long time except the fire. We would hear these poor people hollering for help."

The dead and missing — including one of five women who worked as a galley stewardess — were all from the 6-year-old tanker. Crewmen of the tug Bonnie D, hauling the barge train, were reported safe.

Pontoon Found From 'Copter

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—A Pontoon was reported discovered Saturday from a helicopter missing with four persons aboard south of here.

The four were Roy Senior Jr., about 35, the pilot, employed by Reading and Bates Offshore Drilling Co., Lake Charles; James W. Nickle, about 45, the company's drilling superintentent; Don Elam of New Iberia, catering service manager; and Fred Brown, pilot for Cessna Aircraft Corp., Kansas City, Kan.

PLANS JAIL CEREMONY

Suspect In Fatal Abortion To Wed

MONTPELLIER, France (AP) —American Dr. Harvey Lothringer, held in connection with the abortion death of a 19-year-old girl in New York, will be married Monday in Montpellier jail, his attorney said Saturday.

The bride will be Juana Teresa Carillo y Aguerra, 25, who accompanied Lothringer, 41, to Europe while police sought the doctor on two continents.

Dr. Lothringer's attorney, Moses M. Falk of New York, said it would be a civil ceremony according to French law. Falk said Dr. Lothringer was divorced from his first wife about six years ago, and that his former wife has remarried.

In New York, Lothringer's marital status could not be determined. It had been thought that he and his wife were only separated.

The Montpellier court Saturday rejected Falk's argument that under the 1909 extradition treaty, the accused must be released if papers requesting his detention are not produced in 40 days. Saturday was the 41st day Lothringer has been held.

The court ruled that when the ambassador of the demanding country turns the case over to the French government, the papers are considered as produced.

Lothringer allegedly performed an abortion last summer that was fatal to Barbara Lofrumento, Pelham, N.Y. Police said her body was chopped up and flushed down the sewer of his New York office.

The extradition hearing, before a court of three judges, will be held Thursday, Oct. 25, Falk said. The attorney will contend that Lothringer was kidnaped in Andorra in violation of the extradition treaty. Andorra is a tiny, independent principality in the Pyrenees between France and Spain.

High Losses Reported In Border War

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Wave after wave of howling Red Chinese troops firing burp - guns under thundering mortar cover drove Indian soldiers back on two fronts Saturday along their disputed Himalayan border. Both sides reported heavy casualties in the battles that began before dawn and continued after dark.

The Indian government said the Chinese threw one, possibly two divisions into an attack on Indian positions along a 15-mile front two miles up in the snow - covered Himalayas on India's northeast frontier. Three Indian outposts were reported captured as the Chinese drove south across the Nam Kha (Kechilang) River.

VOWS TO FIGHT

Indian troops retreated to positions as much as four miles south of the line India claims as its borders. India had maintained outposts within a mile of that line.

On the other fighting front, in the Chip Chap Valley of Ladakh 900 miles to the northwest, Indian soldiers fell back from one and possibly a second outpost before the Chinese onslaught.

Indian troops were said to be regrouping in both areas and Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, frequent champion of Red China, vowed that India will "fight on, come what may, until the aggression is vacated."

"For every Indian soldier the Chinese kill, we will kill many," Menon declared in a speech to a cheering crowd in New Delhi in which he frequently used the word

24-Hour Orbit Due As Prelude To Moon Flight

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)— The United States will put an astronaut into 24-hour orbit of the earth early next year as a prelude to a flight to the moon, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Saturday.

Donald Gregory, technical assistant to the director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, told a space seminar the flight will be used to test the physical, mental and physiological reactions to an extended stay in space.

"It is important to note," Gregory said, "that no scientific break-through is needed for an Apollo (moonflight) mission."

He did not elaborate.

Lt. Gen. Howell M. Estes Jr., vice commander of the air force space systems command at Los Angeles, told the seminar "there are too many blue sky visions about space."

Estes said too many people minimize the problems of space and let fantasies outweigh the magnitude of the problem.

"We must strengthen our space knowledge by positive exploration," Estes said. "This is not a time for dreaming but delving... not a time for brashness but boldness."

Ella Threat To Mainland Fading Away

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Hurricane Ella, a monsterous freak measuring 1,000 miles across in spots, swung its highest 100-mile-an-hour winds further away from the U. S. mainland Saturday but kept gales trained toward the Eastern Seaboard.

It was traveling northeastward at about 15 miles an hour on a course that apparently doomed it to death in the cold North Atlantic.

THREAT FADES

"The hurricane is no longer a threat to coastal sections of the Middle Atlantic states," the Weather Bureau advised.

The size of the storm was such, however, that gale warnings remained in effect from Cape May, N. J. to Cape Lookout, N. C.

Forecasters said the area where the gale watch was in effect could expect rough seas, heavy swells and gage winds a short distance off the coast.

Tides were expected to run 1 to 3 feet above normal Saturday night in the area.

"Winds along coastal North Carolina and Virginia are gradually decreasing and will be under 25 m.p.h. on the mainland but 30 to 40 m.p.h. a short distance off shore," the Weather Bureau said.

It warned small craft from Block Island, R. I., to Savannah, Ga., and those in extreme southern Chesapeake Bay to remain in port until seas subside.

The Weather Bureau said seas south of Cape Hatteras were "slowly moderating," but nonetheless warned small craft southward along the Florida East Coast and in the extreme northern Bahamas to exercise caution.

TANKER, BARGES BURN

19 Feared Dead In River Crash

LUTCHER, La. (AP) — The Norwegian motor tanker Boheme and a string of oil barges smashed into each other in the pre-dawn Mississippi River fog Saturday. One person was known dead, but reports on the missing conflicted.

The Coast Guard said 19 were lost and feared killed after the crash, some 30 winding river miles upstream from New Orleans. N. D. Trosclair, a parish fire marshal who boarded the ship, said 19 men were believed trapped in a burnt hole.

Shipping officials said 18 were missing from the tanker's crew of 49.

Flaming oil from the strong of four barges spread across the river and explosions shook the 13,500-ton tanker, laden with a high octane solvent.

LEAP IN WATER

Panic-stricken crewmen leaped into the blazing oil-covered waters. People on the shore heard their screams. Eight crewmen were hospitalized.

The collision occured about 3:40 a.m. CST, authorities said. Hours later, rescuers fished from the river a crewman's body identified as Hans Wollsen, 65, of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Flames still belched from a gaping hole in the tanker's starboard bow and from her superstructure late Saturday.

"I'm afraid the missing crewmen are either trapped in there or are in the water," said fire chief Roy A. Breaux of Vachierie, across the river from Lutcher. He was at the scene soon after the crash.

"The whole sky lit up," Breaux said. "The fog was so thick we couldn't see a thing for a long time except the fire. We would hear these poor people hollering for help."

The dead and missing — including one of five women who worked as a galley stewardess — were all from the 6-year-old tanker. Crewmen of the tug Bonnie D, hauling the barge train, were reported safe.

PLANS JAIL CEREMONY

Suspect In Fatal Abortion To Wed

MONTPELLIER, France (AP) —American Dr. Harvey Lothringer, held in connection with the abortion death of a 19-year-old girl in New York, will be married Monday in Montpellier jail, his attorney said Saturday.

The bride will be Juana Teresa Carillo y Aguerra, 25, who accompanied Lothringer, 41, to Europe while police sought the doctor on two continents.

Dr. Lothringer's attorney, Moses M. Falk of New York, said it would be a civil ceremony according to French law. Falk said Dr. Lothringer was divorced from his first wife about six years ago, and that his former wife has remarried.

In New York, Lothringer's marital status could not be determined. It had been thought that he and his wife were only separated.

The Montpellier court Saturday rejected Falk's argument that under the 1909 extradition treaty, the accused must be released if papers requesting his detention are not produced in 40 days. Saturday was the 41st day Lothringer has been held.

The court ruled that when the ambassador of the demanding country turns the case over to the French government, the papers are considered as produced.

Lothringer allegedly performed an abortion last summer that was fatal to Barbara Lofrumento, Pelham, N.Y. Police said her body was chopped up and flushed down the sewer of his New York office.

The extradition hearing, before a court of three judges, will be held Thursday, Oct. 25, Falk said. The attorney will contend that Lothringer was kidnaped in Andorra in violation of the extradition treaty. Andorra is a tiny, independent principality in the Pyrenees between France and Spain.

High Losses Reported In Border War

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Wave after wave of howling Red Chinese troops firing burp - guns under thundering mortar cover drove Indian soldiers back on two fronts Saturday along their disputed Himalayan border. Both sides reported heavy casualties in the battles that began before dawn and continued after dark.

The Indian government said the Chinese threw one, possibly two divisions into an attack on Indian positions along a 15-mile front two miles up in the snow - covered Himalayas on India's northeast frontier. Three Indian outposts were reported captured as the Chinese drove south across the Nam Kha (Kechilang) River.

VOWS TO FIGHT

Indian troops retreated to positions as much as four miles south of the line India claims as its borders. India had maintained outposts within a mile of that line.

On the other fighting front, in the Chip Chap Valley of Ladakh 900 miles to the northwest, Indian soldiers fell back from one and possibly a second outpost before the Chinese onslaught.

Indian troops were said to be regrouping in both areas and Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, frequent champion of Red China, vowed that India will "fight on, come what may, until the aggression is vacated."

"For every Indian soldier the Chinese kill, we will kill many," Menon declared in a speech to a cheering crowd in New Delhi in which he frequently used the word

24-Hour Orbit Due As Prelude To Moon Flight

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)— The United States will put an astronaut into 24-hour orbit of the earth early next year as a prelude to a flight to the moon, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Saturday.

Donald Gregory, technical assistant to the director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, told a space seminar the flight will be used to test the physical, mental and physiological reactions to an extended stay in space.

"It is important to note," Gregory said, "that no scientific break-through is needed for an Apollo (moonflight) mission."

He did not elaborate.

Lt. Gen. Howell M. Estes Jr., vice commander of the air force space systems command at Los Angeles, told the seminar "there are too many blue sky visions about space."

Estes said too many people minimize the problems of space and let fantasies outweigh the magnitude of the problem.

"We must strengthen our space knowledge by positive exploration," Estes said. "This is not a time for dreaming but delving... not a time for brashness but boldness."

Center Planned For Moon Shot

America's man - shot to the moon in Project Apole will be controlled from a center to be completed at Houston, Willaim Parker, Deputy Chief of Procurement, National Aeronautics and Space Craft Center, said here Saturday.

Parker told the Louisiana Associated General Contractors in convention that a $30-million center would control the shot after it is launched at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

The installation will be located on Clear Lake near Houston.

"We hope to have man on the moon by 1967," Parker, a native of Shreveport, said.

Parker, showing a film on Project Gemini, which is the preliminary step to Apolo, said the NASA could put a space station up now.

"A space station would be like Buck Rogers with 18 men working from it," Parker explained. "We will go to Venus and Mars."

An LSU graduate, Parker said 2700 persons would be staffed at the Houston control center, including the nation's astronauts. Project Gemini, which will return a man to the ground rather than in the sea, is within 1½ years from completion.

He said the moon project is a combined effort between the government and the nation's industry, but added that only six companies were equipped to handle the work.

Texans Seek To Try Estes Third Time

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Texas will seek for a third time Monday to bring Billie Sol Estes to trial on criminal charges stemming from his multi-million-dollar farm enterprises.

Estes, once reputed to be worth $150 million but now declared bankrupt, is accused of theft and swindling in four indictments returned by a county grand jury at Pecos, his hometown in West Texas.

Defense lawyers won a postponement here Sept. 25 when they argued that key witnesses were unavailable. The case was transferred across the state to Tyler after efforts to agree on a jury at Pecos failed last June.

A U.S. Senate subcommittee is waiting until after Estes' trial to question the promoter about dealings with the Agriculture Department. Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the subcommittee would hold off to be sure it doesn't prejudice Estes' rights.

In event of further delay in the case here, Estes is scheduled for trial Oct. 29 at Amarillo, Tex.

Local Sewer Plant Project Given Support

Director Claude Kirkpatrick of the Department of Public Works said Saturday that he "certainly hoped" the City of Monroe was successful with its plans to build a sewer treatment plant.

"Monroe and West Monroe are the last big communities on the Ouachita River that haven't constructed sewer treatment plants," Kirkpatrick said while attending the Louisiana Associated General Contractors convention in Monroe.

In an address to the contractors, Kirkpatrick described Louisiana's water resources as the "coming great resource," pointing to other areas of the country that do not have an abundance of water supply.

Later he said it pleased him to see the City of Monroe planning a plant.

"The Ouachita River is a valuable asset and its improvement will enhance the future of the Monroe area," Kirkpatrick said. "Certainly I am in favor of this city taking care of its river problems."

Monroe at present dumps its sewage in the Ouachita River.

But the construction of a disposal plant is included in an $11,250,000 capital improvement program that will be voted on by city property owners November 20th.

The sewer plant would take up $2,750,000 of the proposed bond issue with five propositions that can be voted on separately.

SHREVEPORT (Special) —The Louisiana Home Builders Association ended its annual three-day meeting here Saturday with a session with Federal Housing Administration and Veteran Administration loan officers.

Saturday's LHBA activity got underway with a 10 a.m. panel on builders' dealings with the FHA and VA's. Morgan Earnest of New Orleans was the moderator.

Panelists were O. P. Heffington, Shreveport FHA director; Bryan Ready, VA regional loan guaranty officer of New Orleans; Rudy Langford, Ready's assistant; Larry Dumestre, FHA director in New Orleans; and Welsey Ford, chief underwriter for the Shreveport FHA office.

Approximately 200 builders from all over the state attended the convention.

Road Work, Maintenance, Drainage Enjoy Good Year

Ouachita Parish roadbuilding, drainage projects and road maintenance have enjoyed one of their "most favorable seasons" in many years, according to Parish Engineer Wayne Huckaby.

"And we have made hay while the sun has shone," Huckaby said in stressing that much had been accomplished during the very favorable weather this summer.

Huckaby's comment came in a report released at a recent interview.

Huckaby pointed out that as summer began in 1962 the parish faced a monumental task of restoring freeze - damaged roads. Last winter brought an extremely severe freeze to the area, causing vast damage to the highway system.

"We were faced not only with restoring our damaged roads but continuing a project of road building that had already been assigned by the police jury," Huckaby said.

In giving a breakdown of roadbuilding operations during the year, Huckaby said that a $220,000 asphalt improvement program had been spread, "with great cognizance of equity," throughout the parish.

"Roughly the jury prorated one - eleventh of the asphalt program or $20,000 to each of the wards in the parish. Ward Five (West Monroe) got two - elevenths of the allocated funds due to the size of the ward and magnitude of its road system," Huckaby said.

With some minor exceptions Huckabay said, the asphalt program has been completed.

The highway engineer said that he had incorporated into the asphalt program a basic standard of quality in roads built.

"We haven't built super highways but we have adopted an acceptable standard which we feel satisfactory to our needs and within reasonable cost," he said.

He said the newly adopted standard for parish asphalt roads calls for a 20 - foot wide gravel base five to six inches deep under an 18 - foot asphalt stripe at a total cost of about $10,000 per mile.

"This past winter brought us a vivid example of the need for quality in our roads," Huckaby said. "We had considerable freeze damage that we will not experience again in the roads we are now building to the standard we feel necessary."

Asked about the condition of gravel roads in the parish, Huckaby, replied, "The majority of our gravel roads are in excellent condition.

"Most of our blacktop roads are in good shape, too, although we still have some work to do in ward 4. It is doubtful at this time whether we will have enough funds to complete this work even if the weather continue to hold up.

"Overall, I would like to stress that our parish road system compares very favorably to any in the state. We are a big parish with many latteral roads that link our people together and I hope the public understands the job that confronts our Police Jury in its efforts to properly spend the available money for rebuilding and maintenance.

"The task is huge," Huckaby said, "but I feel that we have made great progress in recent months, during one of the most favorable roadbuilding years — weatherwise — I have experienced in my years in the business."

In an inspection of ward 10 blacktopping projects, Huckaby and Juror L. U. Fourmy inspected some achievements in areas of the city ward that were considered important to taxpayers there.

Especially important is Westminster street where the new Sally Humble school was built by the city and also a new recreation center is domiciled on Westminster. "Anyone who wishes to see what type roads we are building can see a good example by driving out to Westminster," Fourmy said.

Touching on parish drainage work, Huckaby said that the same weather conditions that were conducive to roadbuilding had also favored efforts toward sustaining the parish drainage program.

He said that most people benefitted by a single parish drainage project had been in the Lakeshore area where a subsurface drainage program had been completed.

From the agriculture standpoint, several lateral canals in ward 4 have been restored by the removal of vegetation and general cleaning.

Improvements have been carried to the drainage systems in practically every ward in the parish where there is any appreciable need for drainage.

That includes all of the parish east of the river and ward five west of the river, Huckaby said.

Much improvement has been made in the vicinity of the papermill and Seigle Addition, according to Huckaby.

"I'm not trying to say that we've eliminated all of our drainage problems," Huckaby said, "but we have improved the system considerably."

Accidents, Thefts Keep Officers Busy

Traffic accidents kept state troopers busy Saturday while Monroe police reported several theft investigations underway.

State police filed charges of improper brakes against a Monroe Negro woman after her car crashed through the wall of M. D. Powell's Grocery Store, located approximately 10 miles west of the West Monroe city limits, near Calhoun.

The woman, identified as Eunice R. Conley, 48, of 208 Williams St., Monroe, sustained various bruises and minor scratches while Powell sustained bruises inflicted by crashing canned goods.

The Conley woman told troopers she was traveling west on U.S. Highway 80, when her brakes went out. She was attempting to turn off the highway into Powell's Garage located next to the store, but was unable to stop in the garage drive and careened on into the store. The accident occurred around 8 a.m.

Another accident investigated by state troopers resulted in lacerations and chest injuries to E. C. Fuller, 26, of Route Four, Box 187-C, Monroe. Troopers charged the other party involved in the collision, Mrs. Mary B. Johnston, 43, of Sterlington, with negligent injury and reckless driving. According to troopers, both cars were headed south on U. S. Highway 165 approximate-around 3 p.m. when the accident occurred.

Fuller was stopped, attempting a left turn off the highway onto the Fink's Hideway Road when the collision occurred as Mrs. Johnston attempted to pass him. The Fuller vehicle was knocked off the highway into a deep ditch. He was being treated at St. Francis Hospital Saturday night for a laceration of the head.

Meanwhile, Monroe police were investigating the burglary of Ward's Cafe, at 1500 Grammont St., that occurred sometime early Saturday morning. A partially filled box of cigars was taken from the cafe, and entrance was gained by breaking off a padlock on the front door.

The theft of around $44 from Negro Isaac Lyons, of Bastrop, also was being probed by Monroe officers. The Negro told police he was counting the money in a truckstop restroom, and left it on the wash - stand to let someone else enter. When he returned to get the money, it was gone.

Monroe police booked a 25-year-old Monroe man, Clarence Lee Roberts, of 307 Egan St., for theft. He was apprehended late Friday evening on a warrant charging him with issuing worthless checks obtained by Floyd B. Jeffries, manager of the Seven - Eleven Store at 2400 Lee Ave. Monroe officers also booked a 63-year-old Negro, Eugene Lewis, of 2316 Adams St., Friday afternoon for theft.

Two men were booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages Saturday. Monroe police booked Orville R. Davis, 32, who gave his address as No. 10 Hanks Motel, for DWI and reckless driving after apprehending him on North Fifth Street around 2:30 a.m. He was held under a $435 bond.

West Monroe patrolmen booked James L. Dorman Jr., 39, of Route One, Box 251-A, West Monroe, for DWI at 6 p.m. Dorman was taken into custody at Travis and Trenton Streets.

patrick, Dodd, McKeithen and Kennon captured the spotlight.

But McKeithen was the only one who made no bones about his candidacy for governor. He said:

"I promise and assure you that in me you will have a willing and understanding ear."

But Kennon, playing on a theme of government in the hands of businessmen, took a poke at the political faction that McKeithen may carry the banner for — the Longs.

"When I was governor, I rescued a tax that a former governor had given to the Port of New Orleans and dedicated it to the proper source — highway construction," Kennon said.

He was reffering to the late Earl K. Long and a half - cent gasoline tax that was given to New Orleans to solve the cicty's financial troubles, McKeithen said. McKeithen was a floor leader for Earl Long.

But most of Kennon's talk was directed on the national scene in critical terms of welfare. He said, however, that when he was governor businessmen directed the state's spending program.

"I believe that government should have as little to do with business as possible," he said.

McKeithen also touched briefly on fiscal matters, explaining, "We can't go forward if we quit building. But we've got to be realistic. It takes money to run this state."

Kirkpatrick, who was in the Legislature when Kennon was governor, endorsed the proposed $60-million highway bond issue to be voted on November 6th.

"It's a good investment," he said.

But Kirkpatrick warned that nations decay when they fail to develop their natural resources, explaining that Louisiana has a bright future because of its water supply.

"Water is going to be the great natural resource in Louisiana," he said. "Right now it's oil and gas, but in the future it will be water."

Kirkpatrick pointed out that the East is becoming overcrowded and that the West does not have an abundant water supply. Kennon also said "destiny" would make the Gulf Coast the coming area of the future.

Dodd, meantime, confined his remarks to the "population explosion," explaining that by 1965 school enrollment would double and by 1970 it would increase by 100 per cent.

"That means we will have to have a lot of construction," Dodd said. "It's a great challenge for contractors."

Kirkpatrick, Dodd, McKeithen and Kennon highlighted a morning speaking session where Howard urged the contractors to to watch the outcome of the November 20th $11,250,000 bond issue election in Monroe.

"We are in hopes that our program will pass and certainly encourage you to bid on the projects," he said.

McKeithen recognized former highway director Bob Richardson of Baton Rouge in the audience, saying, "Bob Richardson was one of the most outstanding highway men in the nation."

Rep. T. T. Fields of Farmerville was scheduled to speak, but he did not attend.

Technical discussions followed on panels before the convention ended Saturday night at a party at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

During a panel discussion, Highway Director Ray Burgess, in answer to questions directed by contractors, said his department's field men were making more decisions.

"We are making fewer and fewer decisions," Burgess said.

But he explained that the highway department is $83 million behind in receiving federal funds on the federal highway construction programs, blaming the delay on the formula of distribution.

At another point during a discussion, Charles J. Perrilloux, representing the State Board of Education, advised the contractors that the state often rejects building jobs because of the work.

"Many times we've had to turn down jobs because of the work," he said. "Too much of the projects are going down the drain because of the shabby work."

Over 350 delegates attended the convention at the Holiday Inn hosted by the Northeast Louisiana Chapter of the Associated General Contractors.

National officers present included Frank F. Burrows, National AGC president, Belmont, Calif., AGC executive director William E. Dunn, and AGC vice - president Charles Keller Jr., New Orleans.

The AGC adopted the following resolutions:

1. Endorsing the $60 - million highway bond issue.

2. Requesting Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. and the Douglas Fir Plywood Association to produce a telecast (answering the October 1st David Brinkley's Journal) on the highway program "placing the few faults and cases of wrong - doing in their proper perspective and giving the public a true picture of the highway program."

3. Thanking the various AGC committees for the work during the past year, also acknowledging the efforts of the local chapter, city officials, the Chamber of Commerce and the Holiday Inn for their efforts with the convention.

4. Commending Congressman Otto E. Passman for his "valiant and continuing energetic efforts toward the reduction of expenditures on foreign aid."

5. Acknowledging its grief in the passing of the late Lional F. Favret.

6. Urging the State Board of Education and the State Bond and Building Commission to make "reasonable" contract clauses relating to "liquidated damages."

7. Urging the National AIA - AGC Liaison Committee to keep its original draft of a "recommended guide for bidding procedures" in order that "no bid guarantee should be required on private work from invited bidders"

IT'S TOO EARLY to tell who will be running for governor in Louisiana next year, but there's a good indication. Speakers at the 10th annual convention of the Louisiana Associated General Contractors ending here Saturday night included (left to right) Claude Kirkpatrick, director of Department of Public Works, Former-Gov. Robert F. Kennon, John J. McKeithen, Public Service Commission, and William J. Dodd, State Board of Education. McKeithen and Kennon have announced their intentions to run for governor while Kirkpatrick is considering the race. Dodd is a possible candidate for state superintendent of education. Play Accident Kills Girl, 3

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Police said Saturday a three-year-old girl was killed in a "one-in-10,000" freak accident when a playmate accidentally struck her on the head with a toy broomstick.

The victim was identified as Valerie Pappas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pappas. She died at Arcadia Methodist Hospital late Friday night from skull injuries.

Officers said the child suffered an apparent skull concussion when she was hit with a broomstick in the hands of a 4-year-old playmate during play.

Doctors said the odds were overwhelmingly against a fatality resulting from such an apparently light blow. The girl's parents were reported in a state of "near shock."

U.S. Guards Against Accidental War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department believes the U.S. system to guard against triggering a nuclear war by incident or accident is improved, but is spending hundreds of millions more on further tightening of the command and control set-up.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, responding to views of both the White House and State Department, gave the program top priority at the outset of his administration.

The over-all purpose of the complex system is to prevent any element of the U.S. air, sea or land forces from using nuclear weapons — intentionally or because of communications trouble — without specific authorization of the highest level of government. The system also is intended to make effective the doctrine of "controlled response and negotiating pauses in the event of thermonuclear attack."

This means, simply, withholding retaliatory fire by U.S. missiles and bombers until it is certain that the enemy attack is intentional and not an accident. The pause also would provide an opportunity to be certain from which country the attack was coming.

The control system applies to all military units armed with nuclear weapons—Navy carriers and Polaris submarines, Army and Marine tactical weapons—but it is especially applicable to the Strategic Air Command's ICBM and manned bomber elements.

SAC insists that "positive control rules out the possibility of inadvertent hostile action by the SAC force but guarantees that the bomber force will receive the attack order, if issued by the President." It also says that multiple safeguards are employed to prevent firing without presidential direction of ICBMs at dispersed and underground launching bases.

Positive control, as applied to the manned B52, B47 and B58 bombers, is explained this way by SAC:

"After reaching a certain point on their routes, well outside enemy territory, the bombers automatically return to their bases unless they receive positive coded voice instructions to proceed to their targets. Authority from the President is the only means whereby a SAC force would proceed to target, beyond the positive control point. If the 'go' code is not received, they turn back.

"The 'go' code, transmitted only upon orders of the President, would be authenticated at several levels of command and ultimately by more than one member of the bomber crew. It would be transmitted to the airborne force by a variety of means from widely dispersed sites. Use of dispersed transmitters and different methods of communications eliminate the possibility that the 'go' code might not be received by the aircraft. In addition to the communications procedures of positive control, the weapons in the aircraft are not armed until the bomber is ordered to attack."

It is the addition of radio facilities and development of new preventive devices that requires big new spending of big money. The preventive devices include the new "electronic lock" for warheads of missiles. The warhead of a missile can't be armed for firing until a radio signal transmitted from a remote headquarters releases the lock on the triggering system.

Hazing Is Fatal To Indonesian

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Reports from Bandung that a freshman at Padjadjaran University had been found dead in a swimming pool at the end of hazing week brought sharp reaction Saturday from Indonesia's minister of higher learning and science, Tojib Hadiwidjaja:

"Any worn out method of ragging (hazing), such as those ruling in colonial times, should be done away with at once. Any form of ragging which is not in accordance with the national identity and which is not in line with the system of guided study cannot be tolerated and should be forbidden."

U.S. Guards Against Accidental War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department believes the U.S. system to guard against triggering a nuclear war by incident or accident is improved, but is spending hundreds of millions more on further tightening of the command and control set-up.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, responding to views of both the White House and State Department, gave the program top priority at the outset of his administration.

The over-all purpose of the complex system is to prevent any element of the U.S. air, sea or land forces from using nuclear weapons — intentionally or because of communications trouble — without specific authorization of the highest level of government. The system also is intended to make effective the doctrine of "controlled response and negotiating pauses in the event of thermonuclear attack."

This means, simply, withholding retaliatory fire by U.S. missiles and bombers until it is certain that the enemy attack is intentional and not an accident. The pause also would provide an opportunity to be certain from which country the attack was coming.

The control system applies to all military units armed with nuclear weapons—Navy carriers and Polaris submarines, Army and Marine tactical weapons—but it is especially applicable to the Strategic Air Command's ICBM and manned bomber elements.

SAC insists that "positive control rules out the possibility of inadvertent hostile action by the SAC force but guarantees that the bomber force will receive the attack order, if issued by the President." It also says that multiple safeguards are employed to prevent firing without presidential direction of ICBMs at dispersed and underground launching bases.

Positive control, as applied to the manned B52, B47 and B58 bombers, is explained this way by SAC:

"After reaching a certain point on their routes, well outside enemy territory, the bombers automatically return to their bases unless they receive positive coded voice instructions to proceed to their targets. Authority from the President is the only means whereby a SAC force would proceed to target, beyond the positive control point. If the 'go' code is not received, they turn back.

"The 'go' code, transmitted only upon orders of the President, would be authenticated at several levels of command and ultimately by more than one member of the bomber crew. It would be transmitted to the airborne force by a variety of means from widely dispersed sites. Use of dispersed transmitters and different methods of communications eliminate the possibility that the 'go' code might not be received by the aircraft. In addition to the communications procedures of positive control, the weapons in the aircraft are not armed until the bomber is ordered to attack."

It is the addition of radio facilities and development of new preventive devices that requires big new spending of big money. The preventive devices include the new "electronic lock" for warheads of missiles. The warhead of a missile can't be armed for firing until a radio signal transmitted from a remote headquarters releases the lock on the triggering system.

Soviet Rapid Shift Artist

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

NEWS ANALYSIS

An anxious world, wondering what is coming in Berlin, may be witnessing a new example of Khrushchev razzle-dazzle known as the rapid shift.

The tactic is an old one, used time and again in communism's unending war of attrition against the West.

Just a year ago, the Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress spotlighted the rapid shift principle with an injunction to the world's Reds: "The success of the struggle of the working class for victory of the revolution will depend upon the extent to which workers and their party master all forms of struggle and are ready to change rapidly and unexpectedly from one form of struggle to another."

This principle applies to foreign policy as well as to revolutionary tactics around the world. Communist little wars, support for "wars of liberation," episodes like the Berlin blockade and the Korean War, all were examples. When the going got too hot, the Kremlin withdrew, counted its gains and waited to hit again later, hoping each time to edge closer to ultimate objectives.

This involves constant attrition against the West's economies, in the cases of little wars and threats of a big one, and against its nerve and will to resist in the case of the political struggle over Berlin.

Last year the Communists plunked down their Berlin wall and got away with it. After sealing off East Berlin, Soviet Premier Khrushchev in effect told the West: "What's mine is mine, what's yours, we'll bargain about."

The idea seemed to be that with the hot war threat as a weapon, the Kremlin hoped to nibble away piece by piece at West Berlin, easing pressure only when danger made it necessary.

It is now four years since Khrushchev, in November 1958, first issued a dated ultimatum to the Western Allies to quit West Berlin. He withdrew the deadline but applied pressure again and again.

How long can Khrushchev justify postponements in the eyes of the Communist world? When will he drop that other shoe? When will he sign that treaty with Red East Germany as he so long threatened, thus asserting the claim that the puppet regime is responsible for West Berlin?

Khrushchev still commands the leading position in world communism, but he must be pulled in several directions at once, nagged and prodded from some quarters. The pressure on him to put up or shut up may be fairly strong.

One way or another, the struggle over Berlin will go on and on, because the U.S.S.R. obviously is determined eventually to force Western concessions. If Khrushchev has his way, he likely will prefer the cautious, step-by-step approach. If the Communists take the bull by the horns, grave danger will arise.

Weekend Slated For Mothers At Louisiana Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Mothers' Weekend is scheduled at Louisiana Tech this year for Oct. 27-28, with Martha Belton of Shreveport in charge.

This is an event sponsored annually by the Campus Activities Board in which mothers of Tech coeds are invited to spend a typical weekend on the campus.

Each dormitory will have the responsibility of registering the mothers staying there. Coffee will be served to the guests during registration until the time of a style show, which is given to entertain the mothers. Tech girls model their own clothes in the style show.

The mothers are invited to attend the Tech vs. Tennessee Tech football game and the all-campus dance to be held afterwards on Saturday night, free of charge.

Plans are being made for the traditional fraternity serenade of the dormitories.

On Sunday morning the Campus Women's Council will be hostess at a coffee party for the mothers which will last until time for morning church services.

GOP Seeks Gains In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans said Saturday that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has been flooded with requests from GOP candidates for election campaign support.

A Republican National Committee statement said the demand for Eisenhower appearances has accelerated since the Oct. 15 Boston speech in which the former chief executive rapped President Kennedy. The committee said Kennedy had tried to belittle the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration, especially in foreign policy.

In a seperate statement, I. Lee Potter, chairman of the committee's "Operation Dixie" campaign, said the South is the key to wresting control of the House from the Democrats. Potter said election of 10 or 12 more Republicans from the South would virtually clinch a GOP majority.

The national committee gave Eisenhower's speaking schedule at this time as:

Oct. 25—Pittsburgh, night rally; Oct. 27—Marion, Ill., Louisville, Ky., and London, Ky., airport; Oct. 29—Syracuse, N.Y., night rally; Nov. 2—Dundalk, Md., night rally.

The committee said the former President is determined not to spare himself in the party's effort to score decisive victories in the Nov. 6 elections.

Potter said in his statement about the South that the Republicans need 44 seat gains to win a bare majority of 218 in the House, and that surveys indicate the party will pick up 32 or 34 in areas outside the South.

Therefore, Potter continued, "If the South will give us 10 to 12 additional seats, the Republican party will have a majority in the House."

Potter said the traditional election of Democrats in the South has "played into the hands of the liberal national Democratic party by giving them a solid base on which to pile up a congressional majority."

"In the past," he said, "the Republican party has had to write off some 100 congressional seats in the South. But this year, with seven Republican candidates for the U.S. Senate and 61 for the U.S. House, conservatives are waging a vigorous fight throughout Dixie."

Still, the Republicans are not offering candidates for 54 seats from the South and border states.

Potter said election of a GOP House majority will "effectively block the New Frontier's program for more federal government and more federal spending," adding:

Soviet Rapid Shift Artist

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

NEWS ANALYSIS

An anxious world, wondering what is coming in Berlin, may be witnessing a new example of Khrushchev razzle-dazzle known as the rapid shift.

The tactic is an old one, used time and again in communism's unending war of attrition against the West.

Just a year ago, the Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress spotlighted the rapid shift principle with an injunction to the world's Reds: "The success of the struggle of the working class for victory of the revolution will depend upon the extent to which workers and their party master all forms of struggle and are ready to change rapidly and unexpectedly from one form of struggle to another."

This principle applies to foreign policy as well as to revolutionary tactics around the world. Communist little wars, support for "wars of liberation," episodes like the Berlin blockade and the Korean War, all were examples. When the going got too hot, the Kremlin withdrew, counted its gains and waited to hit again later, hoping each time to edge closer to ultimate objectives.

This involves constant attrition against the West's economies, in the cases of little wars and threats of a big one, and against its nerve and will to resist in the case of the political struggle over Berlin.

Last year the Communists plunked down their Berlin wall and got away with it. After sealing off East Berlin, Soviet Premier Khrushchev in effect told the West: "What's mine is mine, what's yours, we'll bargain about."

The idea seemed to be that with the hot war threat as a weapon, the Kremlin hoped to nibble away piece by piece at West Berlin, easing pressure only when danger made it necessary.

It is now four years since Khrushchev, in November 1958, first issued a dated ultimatum to the Western Allies to quit West Berlin. He withdrew the deadline but applied pressure again and again.

How long can Khrushchev justify postponements in the eyes of the Communist world? When will he drop that other shoe? When will he sign that treaty with Red East Germany as he so long threatened, thus asserting the claim that the puppet regime is responsible for West Berlin?

Khrushchev still commands the leading position in world communism, but he must be pulled in several directions at once, nagged and prodded from some quarters. The pressure on him to put up or shut up may be fairly strong.

One way or another, the struggle over Berlin will go on and on, because the U.S.S.R. obviously is determined eventually to force Western concessions. If Khrushchev has his way, he likely will prefer the cautious, step-by-step approach. If the Communists take the bull by the horns, grave danger will arise.

Weekend Slated For Mothers At Louisiana Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Mothers' Weekend is scheduled at Louisiana Tech this year for Oct. 27-28, with Martha Belton of Shreveport in charge.

This is an event sponsored annually by the Campus Activities Board in which mothers of Tech coeds are invited to spend a typical weekend on the campus.

Each dormitory will have the responsibility of registering the mothers staying there. Coffee will be served to the guests during registration until the time of a style show, which is given to entertain the mothers. Tech girls model their own clothes in the style show.

The mothers are invited to attend the Tech vs. Tennessee Tech football game and the all-campus dance to be held afterwards on Saturday night, free of charge.

Plans are being made for the traditional fraternity serenade of the dormitories.

On Sunday morning the Campus Women's Council will be hostess at a coffee party for the mothers which will last until time for morning church services.

GOP Seeks Gains In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans said Saturday that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has been flooded with requests from GOP candidates for election campaign support.

A Republican National Committee statement said the demand for Eisenhower appearances has accelerated since the Oct. 15 Boston speech in which the former chief executive rapped President Kennedy. The committee said Kennedy had tried to belittle the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration, especially in foreign policy.

In a seperate statement, I. Lee Potter, chairman of the committee's "Operation Dixie" campaign, said the South is the key to wresting control of the House from the Democrats. Potter said election of 10 or 12 more Republicans from the South would virtually clinch a GOP majority.

The national committee gave Eisenhower's speaking schedule at this time as:

Oct. 25—Pittsburgh, night rally; Oct. 27—Marion, Ill., Louisville, Ky., and London, Ky., airport; Oct. 29—Syracuse, N.Y., night rally; Nov. 2—Dundalk, Md., night rally.

The committee said the former President is determined not to spare himself in the party's effort to score decisive victories in the Nov. 6 elections.

Potter said in his statement about the South that the Republicans need 44 seat gains to win a bare majority of 218 in the House, and that surveys indicate the party will pick up 32 or 34 in areas outside the South.

Therefore, Potter continued, "If the South will give us 10 to 12 additional seats, the Republican party will have a majority in the House."

Potter said the traditional election of Democrats in the South has "played into the hands of the liberal national Democratic party by giving them a solid base on which to pile up a congressional majority."

"In the past," he said, "the Republican party has had to write off some 100 congressional seats in the South. But this year, with seven Republican candidates for the U.S. Senate and 61 for the U.S. House, conservatives are waging a vigorous fight throughout Dixie."

Still, the Republicans are not offering candidates for 54 seats from the South and border states.

Potter said election of a GOP House majority will "effectively block the New Frontier's program for more federal government and more federal spending," adding:

Soviet Plays India-China Waiting Game

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union is caught between two fires in the dangerous border conflict between India and Red China. It is an ally of Red China and friend of India.

The Kremlin holds the key to the dispute but so far has been playing a waiting game. Its sympathy appears, however, to be tipped in favor of India.

It may not be able to remain on the fence.

Moscow's taking sides in the mounting conflict could have tremendous consequences: It could bring an open rift with Peiping if Russia were to back India. Alternatively, the Kremlin risks the loss of support from neutral and uncommitted nations of which India so often has been the spokesman.

Soviet affairs experts say Russia could not remain "neutral" in the conflict if, as seems threatened, it mushrooms into full scale war.

What has been the situation to date?

Russia does not like the friction between an ally and a friend with all its dangerous implications for Kremlin policy. It expressed its displeasure some time ago when the Delhi - Peiping troubles first came into the open.

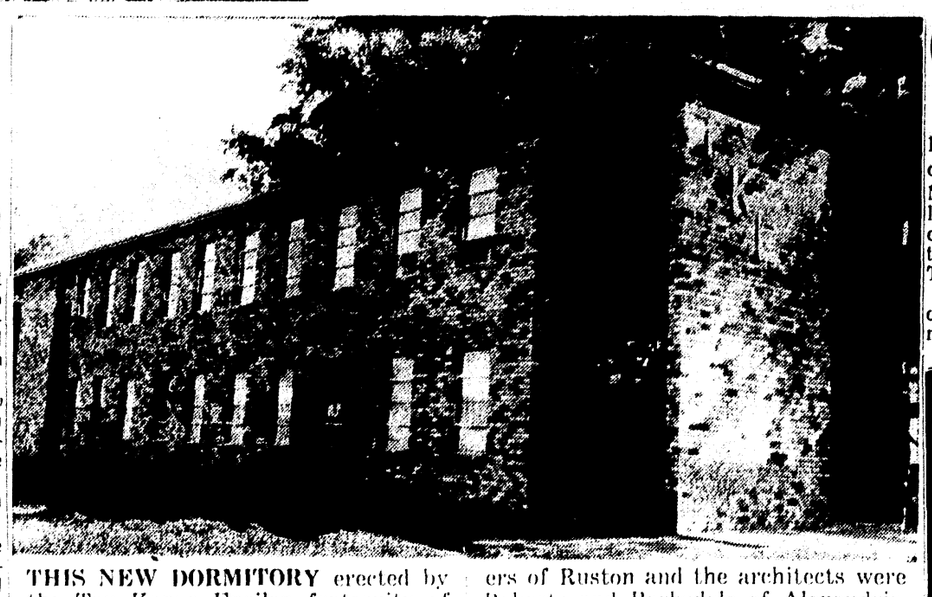
Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper, took the unusual step at the time to publish both India's and Red China's declarations on the dispute.

By the Pravda publication, Moscow served notice that it was not taking sides in the dispute, a move which at the time was reported to have caused considerable annoyance in Peiping.

Since then Moscow has on a number of occasions indicated its displease over Red Chinese pressures on India.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was reported to have referred to the conflict in private conversation with Western visitors as "a said affair."

There have also been reliable reports that Khrushchev cautioned his Chinese allies to "lay off" and avert a showdown with India which could spark off unforeseeable troubles in Asia and within the camp of uncommitted nations.



THIS NEW DORMITORY erected by the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity of Louisiana Tech at a cost of $80,000 accommodates 40 men in two - man rooms which are centrally heated and air conditioned. Open house tentatively is scheduled by the TKE members for homecoming weekend Nov. 3. The dormitory was built by Lincoln Builders of Ruston and the architects were Roberts and Barksdale of Alexandria. This is the first of a two-unit building program of the TKE chapter. Within two years, the organization plans an addition consisting of a chapter room, dining facilities and quarters for a house mother in front of the present structure.

Close Call From A-Bomb Is Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, a nuclear physicist, said Saturday the State of North Carolina had a close call last year from a jettisoned nuclear bomb that packed a potential wallop of 24 million tons of TNT.

The Defense Department declined to affirm or deny Lapp's report.

In a book being published Monday, Lapp, who is not connected with the government's atomic program, says "Nuclear weapons have been involved in about a dozen major incidents or accidents, mostly plane crashes, both in the United States and overseas."

"In one of these incidents," he writes, "a B52 bomber had to jettison a 24-megaton bomb over North Carolina. The bomb fell in a field without exploding.

"The Defense Department has adopted complex devices and strict rules to prevent the accidental arming or firing of nuclear weapons. In this case the 24-megaton warhead was equipped with six interlocking safety mechanisms, all of which had to be triggered in sequence to explode the bomb.

"When Air Force experts rushed to the North Carolina farm to examine the weapon after the accident, they found that five if the six interlocks had been set off by the fall! Only a single switch prevented the 24-megaton bomb from detonating and spreading fire and destruction over a wide area."

Farming Of Ocean Beds Is Predicted

LONDON (AP) — Fifty years from now man will be "farming" the bed of the sea with giant tractors, an Oxford professor said Friday.

Sir Alister Hardy, professor of zoological studies, told the 2nd world congress of undersea activities that man would spend three hours at a time cultivating the sea bed and then return to a mother ship.

In his view, fish would be grown in compounds bounded by electric fences. Periodically, these fish beds would be swept up by giant tractors for harvesting the catch.

"Man is still a hunter in the sea," said Sir Alister. "He is still in the early Stone Age period. Can we do something to improve this by introducing some sort of farm methods in the sea? Are we going to go on reaping this harvest without putting anything back?"

And then he predicted: "The time will surely come when we will be husbanding the sea bed. I think this will come about in 50 years or so. Man is going to be forced more and more into the sea to find food for the enormously increasing population."

Machines on the sea bed would move backward and forward like great wheat reapers and binders.

But, he said, there is still a tremendous amount of marine biology to be done.

"We must not start using insecticides and weed killers indiscriminately on the sea bed as we have done on the land before we know what we are doing," he said.

Group Planning Drive To Get More Members

RUSTON (Special) — To provide funds for keeping the official Journal of Louisiana History in print, the Louisiana Historical Assn. plans an intensive membership drive, it has been announced here by Dr. G. W. McGinty, head of the social science department at Louisiana Tech.

McGinty and John D. Winters, a history professor at Tech, attended a meeting of the state historical society in Baton Rouge, where a decision was reached to begin a drive to boost the present 600 members of the organization to approximately 6,000.

The need to raise additional money for the historical publication stems from the fact that the Legislature dropped the subsidy formerly granted to assist in the printing of the journal, Dr. McGinty said.

Dues have been set at $10 for memberships of libraries, $5 for regular members and $2 for students.

As a special inducement for memberships, the state historical board is offering a bonus of all back copies of the journal to the first 300 persons becoming members before Dec. 31.

Ike Urges Businessmen To Take Plunge Into Politics

HOT SPRINGS, Va., (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, urging businessmen to "take the plunge into politics," said Saturday night industrialists have only themselves to blame for what he termed high taxes, excessive federal spending and government intervention in free markets.

Eisenhower came here to address a dinner meeting closing the Business Council's fall session. More than 100 corporation heads, including many of the biggest names in industry, attended. The council has elected Eisenhower to honorary membership.

Paraphrasing a famed French quotation about war being too important to be left to the generals, Eisenhower told the business leaders, "politics has become far too important to entrust to the politicians."

He urged them to play a greater role, from the precinct level on up, "in the activities of the party of your choice."

The party choice of at least 95 per cent of his audience was Republican, but Eisenhower took a far different tone from the sharply partisan attacks he has been delivering against the Kennedy administration in the current congressional campaign.

He told the business leaders that the outmoded view that contact with political affairs is somehow contaminating has resulted in the taxation of corporate earnings, and rising costs of doing business.

The fact that gains in profits have lagged far behind the rise in production and personal income, he said, is responsible for an inadequate flow of investment funds into new plants and equipment needed to keep America competitive in world markets and provide economic growth.

Although the dinner meeting was closed, like all Business Council sessions, reporters were able to obtain a fairly ample if not verbatim account of Eisenhower's message.

He said businessmen should have been shouting from the rooftops for years that without business profits there can not be jobs for workers.

And with federal spending pushing close to $100 billion a year, Eisenhower said, it would seem that "the first concern of any administration is to see that profits are maintained at reasonably adequate levels" — with the government taking a large share in taxation.

Eisenhower, who already has announced he favors tax reduction as a business stimulant, told the council he plans also to appeal with greater emphasis for reduction in federal spending.

He said the costs of government do not necessarily have to keep on rising, that it is entirely possible to reduce the present spending rate.

But the fact is that spending does keep right on going up, Eisenhower said, and he added, "I am unhappy to say so, but a large part of the reason is you."

Group Planning Drive To Get More Members

RUSTON (Special) — To provide funds for keeping the official Journal of Louisiana History in print, the Louisiana Historical Assn. plans an intensive membership drive, it has been announced here by Dr. G. W. McGinty, head of the social science department at Louisiana Tech.

McGinty and John D. Winters, a history professor at Tech, attended a meeting of the state historical society in Baton Rouge, where a decision was reached to begin a drive to boost the present 600 members of the organization to approximately 6,000.

The need to raise additional money for the historical publication stems from the fact that the Legislature dropped the subsidy formerly granted to assist in the printing of the journal, Dr. McGinty said.

Dues have been set at $10 for memberships of libraries, $5 for regular members and $2 for students.

As a special inducement for memberships, the state historical board is offering a bonus of all back copies of the journal to the first 300 persons becoming members before Dec. 31.

Ike Urges Businessmen To Take Plunge Into Politics

HOT SPRINGS, Va., (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, urging businessmen to "take the plunge into politics," said Saturday night industrialists have only themselves to blame for what he termed high taxes, excessive federal spending and government intervention in free markets.

Eisenhower came here to address a dinner meeting closing the Business Council's fall session. More than 100 corporation heads, including many of the biggest names in industry, attended. The council has elected Eisenhower to honorary membership.

Paraphrasing a famed French quotation about war being too important to be left to the generals, Eisenhower told the business leaders, "politics has become far too important to entrust to the politicians."

He urged them to play a greater role, from the precinct level on up, "in the activities of the party of your choice."

The party choice of at least 95 per cent of his audience was Republican, but Eisenhower took a far different tone from the sharply partisan attacks he has been delivering against the Kennedy administration in the current congressional campaign.

He told the business leaders that the outmoded view that contact with political affairs is somehow contaminating has resulted in the taxation of corporate earnings, and rising costs of doing business.

The fact that gains in profits have lagged far behind the rise in production and personal income, he said, is responsible for an inadequate flow of investment funds into new plants and equipment needed to keep America competitive in world markets and provide economic growth.

Although the dinner meeting was closed, like all Business Council sessions, reporters were able to obtain a fairly ample if not verbatim account of Eisenhower's message.

He said businessmen should have been shouting from the rooftops for years that without business profits there can not be jobs for workers.

And with federal spending pushing close to $100 billion a year, Eisenhower said, it would seem that "the first concern of any administration is to see that profits are maintained at reasonably adequate levels" — with the government taking a large share in taxation.

Eisenhower, who already has announced he favors tax reduction as a business stimulant, told the council he plans also to appeal with greater emphasis for reduction in federal spending.

He said the costs of government do not necessarily have to keep on rising, that it is entirely possible to reduce the present spending rate.

But the fact is that spending does keep right on going up, Eisenhower said, and he added, "I am unhappy to say so, but a large part of the reason is you."

SALVAGE OPERATIONS TOURED

Zero Hour Drawing Near For 'Operation Chlorine'

By JIMMY HATTEN
State Editor

VIDALIA — Zero hour is near in "Operation Chlorine." The first of four chlorine tanks will soon be hauled from the Mississippi River, according to latest announcements from "Operation Chlorine" headquarters here.

How the operation is organized, how it came into being and how it is being carried out can perhaps best be described by taking the reader on a trip back in time and on a tour of the salvage operations.

What is "Operation Chlorine?" It's the job of bringing four tanks filled with chlorine from the bottom of the Mississippi River to the surface, loading them on a barge, and shipping them out of the area.

Here's what happened that day of March 23, 1961, according to The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, that brought the whole thing about:

The towboat "Eastern" of the Union Barge Lines was upbound on the Mississippi River with a tow of 16 barges. On the port forward corner of the tow drifted the barge "Wychem 112." It was loaded with 1,100 tons of liquified chlorine — a staggering figure when it is pointed out that this is more chlorine than was used as a poison gas in World War I.

Opposite Morville, La., seven and one-half miles downstream from Natchez, Miss., it happened. The "Eastern" and her tow encounted a very strong eddy.

The "Wychem 112's bow submerged. Lashing cables parted. The barge sank. Down, down, and finally, 75 feet of water covered the barge and the four tanks.

Attempts to locate the barge proved fruitless. The cargo lay at the bottom of the river as months passed and a September attempt to locate it again failed. High water came, efforts were abandoned. Months passed.

Then, in August of this year, the word came out from Washington. The word was, in effect, get those tanks out of the river. By September, the federal government was beginning the preliminary phase of what came to be called "Operation Chlorine."

Now, the tour. It begins in Natchez, the office of the mayor. John Nosser, white - haired and confident. "We expect no trouble, but we're taking all precautions. He glances at the air purifier by the window. He hopes, he says, that this one and the others in strategic buildings such as hospitals, etc., will not have to be used.

Next, the streets of Natchez. There are National Guardsmen everywhere, helmeted and friendly — this isn't as distasteful as service at Oxford — but it could be thousands of times more dangerous.

Troop - carrier trucks line the street where you can toss a rock and hit the Mississippi River. The guardsmen build tables to eat off of, put up tents. They stand, wearily at times, bored at times, at highways leading into town, tossing off a wave and a wide grin as you pass.

Across the Mississippi River bridge, and swinging from the main highway, you pull up to "Operation Headquarters" in quiet Vidalia, La.

Here stand the building pressed into service to house "Operation Chlorine" personnel. Behind the desk in the small office sits Dr. G. P. Ferrazzano, chief of the Division of Health Mobilization, Office of the Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service.

His job is to advise local and state agencies on evacuation, health precautions and general welfare of the public in case one of the chlorine tanks springs a leak.

This is so much different than a normal evacution procedure, he tells you. A half-million people were moved out of danger areas in Louisiana and Texas when Hurricane Carla hit. Involved in this possible evacuation would be some 80-thousand.

But the big thing is that this evacuation plan, so elaborate, so minutely - detailed may not be used. It may be used. In the meantime, the public must not be allowed to drift to the beckoning breast of apathy.

Adjoining this building is the Louisiana State Police headquarters and Civil Defense agency. CD representative Col. Marshall T. Cappel Jr. outlines evacuation plans. In the danger zone are Concordia, Tensas and Catahoula parishes on this side of the river.

Should a leak occur on one of the tanks, the information would be relayed here. The alert would be double - checked, then, the wailing blasts of sirens would rent the air.

Parked next to the building is a converted passenger bus. It is now a complete communications center. Inside, radio of varying frequencies, manned by a rotating shift of six state policemen, are to be used to alert sheriff's departments, police stations and all offices that would aid in helping some 40,000 Louisianans escape from the effects of the lung-searing yellowish-green chlorine.

At the sound of the alert, helicopters would whip criss-cross patterns over the three parishes. Loudspeakers on the choppers would bellow the word that the chlorine was out. Spotter planes would be pressed into service. Coast Guard boats upstream and downstream from the chlorine site would warn river traffic to steer clear.

Meanwhile, on the Mississippi side, similar operations would be underway. There, another 40-thousand would be endangered.

On the Louisiana side of the river, the evacuees would stream into evacuation shelters set by the Red Cross in Winn, Grant, Caldwell, Richland, Madison, Franklin, West Feliciana and Point Coupee parishes.

Flares, red smoke grenades and smoke geneators at the barge site in the meantime would put on an eerie display.

A blacktop road hugs the outside curve of the Mississippi. By following it seven and one-half miles south, you hit a clearing. Numerous cars are parked here, two helicopters stand at the ready. Engineers, donned in shiny metal hats, deep orange life preservers and carrying what looks like lunch pails climb the steep banks. Then you see the sign on one of the lunch pails. It says, "Gas Mask."

The small, two - motored boat bounces as the choppy little waves and eddies slap it. It carries you about three-quarters of a mile downstream to the barge "Henry B."

"Henry B" is one of the barges that will drag the tanks up. Extended from the "Henry B" is a giant crane and opposite it a large derrick.

Lying nearby is a long white, grooved object. It's a "cradle." This "cradle" will be lowered by derricks on the "Henry B" and the "Bolen" to fit over the tanks. After it is secured the tanks will be lifted one by one from the water.

As the tanks are hauled into the air, another barge will slip under them. They will be lowered onto this barge which will then proceed down the Mississippi, probably to the Wyndotte Chemical Plant at Geismer, La.

Then, everybody can breath again.

John Anderson, liaison man for Col. Warren S. Everett, district engineer for the Vicksburg district, explained that the first problem in "Operaion Chlorine" was to remove the six-foot layer of silt that had settled over the tanks.

Next, a platform built over the four tanks had to be taken away piece by piece by divers. Then, with the "cradle" fitting snugly over the tanks, the divers cut through the cables that lash the tanks to the barge.

The cutting, he said, is done by using underwater torches that emit a flame of about an inch. Asbestos surrounds the area being cut through lest the flame would cut through to the chlorine.

As one diver works, another double - checks behind him, frequently feeling with his hands over the area being cut to make sure the progress is going smoothly.

Another boat transports you to the barge "Bolen" anchored over the site where the chlorine is sunken. For the most part, the work goes quietly, and there seems to be a certain seriousness that is not quite the same as the other spots on the tour.

You can understandw hy.

Biggest possibility of a leak from the tanks come from the valves. But it could be stopped by the divers, using sealing material. A substance is sprinkled over the water at the site from time to time. If there is a leak, the substance would show it quickly.

Depositing gas mask and life preserver back at the river bank after having completed the tour, the facts and figures obtained vie for importance in the overall picture.

Such as:

—More than 40,000 gas masks have been distributed. Two thousands National Guardsmen wait, as do 50 Louisiana State troopers, 24 Wild Life and Fisheries agents. Numerous personnel with the engineers, employees of the Brown and Root, Inc., Houston, Tex. and CCC Corp, Morgan City, public health service, Red Cross, and other groups totaling 50 are here. It's costing an estimated $30,000 to keep the guard troops on duty.

—The chlorine tanks, which are being shipped from the Geismer plant to the Union Carbide Corp. plant at South Charleston, W. Va., are cylindrical, 75 feet long and constructed of steel one and three - eighths of an inch thick.

—The tanks weigh an estimated 358 tons each.

—The danger area — a 30-mile radius in which 80,000 people live. Three Louisiana Parishes and three Mississippi counties are in this area.

—Until the tanks are safely out of the area, the only siren that will be heard will be the alert sirens that mean evacuation time is at hand.

—And a most comforting statistic. The remoteness of a leak from the tanks — variously estimated from "very remote" to a "jillion-in-one" chance.

The one chance is the one that has caused the hugh preparations.

It's fate's deal.

GOP May Gain Governors, Few New Seats In Congress Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the great game of politics, 1962 version, Republicans appear to stand a better chance to hit the jackpot in governorship contests than they do in Congress.

A nationwide Associated Press survey of informed though in many cases necessarily uncertain opinion boils down to this:

House — Marginal GOP gains, possibly as few as eight.

Senate—Few if any Republican gains; the Democrats might even strengthen their overwhelming 64-36 grip.

Governorships — Here the Republicans are reaching, with signs of possible success, for such glittering prices as California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and several others.

Adding these to such political gems as the New York governorship, which Nelson A. Rockefeller evidently will retain, could measurably enrich the party's chances for 1964.

And it could lengthen the roster of Republican presidential possibilities, adding such names for example as George Romney, Michigan's Rambler man and William W. Scranton, he of the old Pennsylvania lineage and popular personality. Not to speak of how it would buoy the hopes of those who feel Richard M. Nixon of California would make a fine president.

The AP survey, covering all 50 states, is a composite of opinions of newspaper political writers, polls taken by newspapers or others, and the considered analysis of AP political writers, bureau chiefs and correspondents.

Realizing the complexity of the issues, the vastness of the country and the difficulty of probing a voter's mind, these men keep their fingers crossed. They remember past occasions when political prophets wished, after the returns poured in, that they had taken up tea leaf reading as a career.

As President Kennedy jets along the campaign trails, as Dwight D. Eisenhower does his old soldier's best for the GOP, and as myriad other orators woo the voters, many things could change between now and Nov. 6.

As of now, however, here's the rundown:

Democrats now dominate the House 263-174, counting one Democratic vacancy. In the 12 midterm elections since 1914, the party that controlled the White House has lost strength in the House 11 times (the exception being 1934.) The losses ranged from 10 seats in 1926 to 75 in 1922.

As President Kennedy figures it: from the off-year of 1930 through 1958, the party in power lost an average of 39 House seats. And if that happens this year, he acknowledges he can kiss goodby to such cherished proposals as health care for the aged, aid to higher education, a department of urban affairs and a Kennedy-style farm bill.

So Democrats and Republicans alike are paying particular attention to the key districts — fewer than 100 of them—where the vote has been close in the past.

Studying returns from the AP survey, this writer took a plunge and came up with this conclusion:

Republican House gains—8.

Democratic House losses—10.

Something seems amiss here, but the mathematics even out if you remember that the House membership is dropping from 437 this Congress to 435 in the next.

The House picture is further scrambled because of reapportionment arising from the 1960 census. California gets the biggest bonanza, eight new seats: New York losses two from its massive 43.

As a result of reapportionment, it can be said with certainty that seven House members in the old Congress won't be back. The reason: seven of the districts have been revamped in such a way that in each of them, two incumbents are fighting it out.

For example in the vast Kansas 1st—which is bigger in area than Pennsylvania — Rep. J. Floyd Breeding (D) and Rep. Bob Dole (R) both are appealing to the same wheat-conscious electorate.

As for the Senate, there's the possibility of Democratic gains in such states as Connecticut, Idaho, Kentucky, Maryland, South Dakota and Utah. The potential Republican pick-ups of seats do not seem so numerous—Colorado, Wyoming and perhaps one or two others.

The Democrats now tenant 34 of the 50 governors' mansions. Scanning the political map, it's hard to figure where they might get another leasehold except in New Mexico and—of all places—New Hampshire. There Republican Gov. Wesley Powell, defeated for renomination, is doing his best to elect the first Democratic governor in 40 years, John King by name.

But the Republicans enjoy chances—ranging from good to slim—in Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Wyoming, besides the states already named. They even say their chances are good in Texas, though this stretches the imagination.

Among the many issues, Communist Cuba is a subject people brood about. A suggestion from Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) for an embargo and possible invasion aroused Kennedy to perhaps his hottest campaign blast. He spoke of "self-appointed generals and admirals who want to send someone else's sons to war." Republican leaders snapped back that Kennedy was guilty of tragic irresolution on Cuba. Latest word from Indiana is that Kennedy probably can't purge Capehart.

The campaign has its piquant aspects—such as the techniques of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican Senate leader. He pictures himself as (1) an old friend and adviser of Kennedy and (2) a sworn foe of New Frontiersmen.

GOP May Gain Governors, Few New Seats In Congress Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the great game of politics, 1962 version, Republicans appear to stand a better chance to hit the jackpot in governorship contests than they do in Congress.

A nationwide Associated Press survey of informed though in many cases necessarily uncertain opinion boils down to this:

House — Marginal GOP gains, possibly as few as eight.

Senate—Few if any Republican gains; the Democrats might even strengthen their overwhelming 64-36 grip.

Governorships — Here the Republicans are reaching, with signs of possible success, for such glittering prices as California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and several others.

Adding these to such political gems as the New York governorship, which Nelson A. Rockefeller evidently will retain, could measurably enrich the party's chances for 1964.

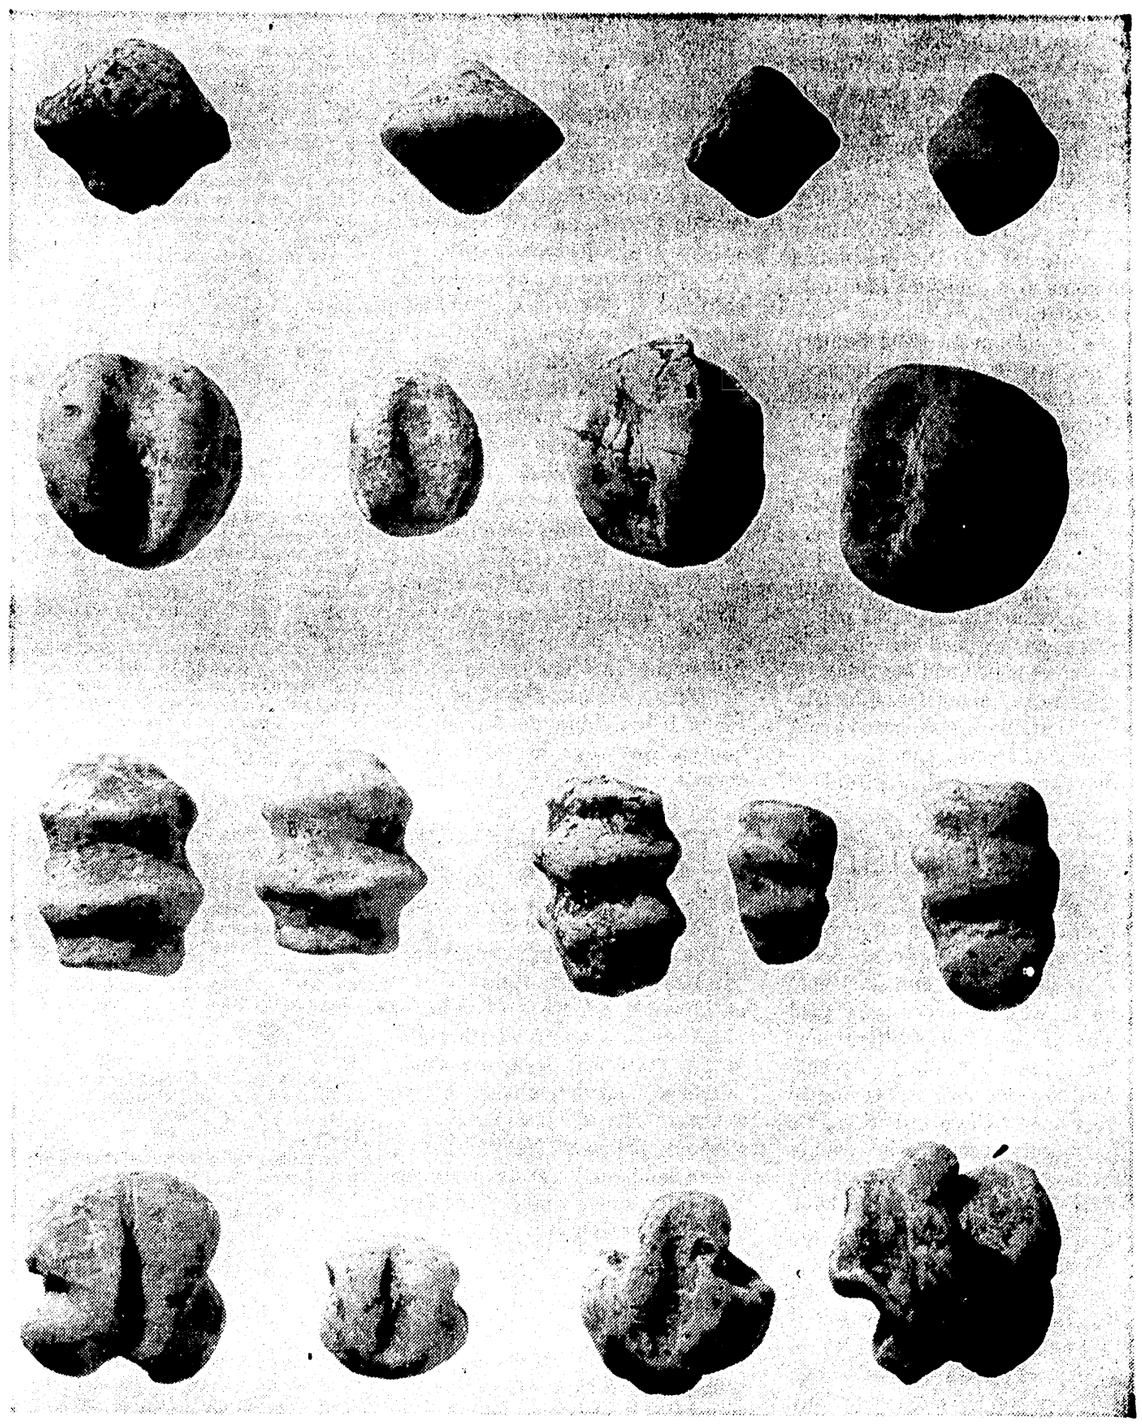
PLUMMETS OF hematite from the collection of Carl Alexander, Epps, were gathered from Poverty Point. (American Museum of Natural History Photo)

DR. JAMES A. FORD, of the American Museum of Natural History (right), kneels to draw a picture in the sand atop Motley Mound at Poverty Point near Epps, to show Dr. Charles R. McGimsey III of the University of Arkansas what he thought the mound would have looked like if it had been finished. He believes that it was designed to be a second bird effigy, but was never finished. One wing of the mound is being demolished with dirt burrowing. (University of Arkansas Photo)



THESE POVERTY POINT CLAY OBJECTS, thought to have been used in cooking, are from the collection of Carl Alexander, Epps. There are millions of these objects in the Poverty Point site. It is thought that they were heated to white-hot state, then dropped by the dozens into the fire pit of food. These were replaced with more hot ones as they cooled. (American Museum of Natural History Photo)

By JANICE CLARK

Crossett, Ark., Correspondent

The establishment of Poverty Point near Epps as a national monument, is not yet an accomplished fact, reports Correspondent Janice Clark. In this account, she outlines steps that still must be taken to preserve the site of early Indian culture that has attracted wide attention in archeological circles.

The Poverty Point artifacts belonging to Carl Alexander have been returned from New York to his home at Epps, Louisiana.

Alexander reported recently that the unique items in his collection from the Late Archaic site had been in New York's American Museum of Natural History for the past several months, where engravings were made for the revised book on the West Carroll Parish site which will be published in the near future. Persons interested in the Poverty Point culture may see the collection which Alexander has been making from the area during the past decade and a half.

STUDIED CULTURES

Dr. James Ford, of the American Museum of Natural History, and co-author with Dr. Clarence H. Webb of the book, spent some time last summer at the Poverty Point site as he studied the Indian cultures of the Mississippi River valley.

I discussing the future of the site and its possibilities of being rescued from natural erosion and curio hunters, Ford said there are two ways to move toward preservation: (1) The state can obtain the land comprising the site and present it to the federal government; or (2) the federal government can purchase it. For the latter step an enabling act must be passed and than an appropriation made for the purchase.

As the matter stands now, according to Alexander, it has simply been one of 340 sites in America designated as being of archeological interest.

EROSION PROBLEM

In discussing the future of developing Poverty Point as a National Monument, Dr. Ford said that the ensuing control of the approximately 400 acre area would first of all involve the stemming of natural erosion. He commented that natural (including farming) erosion has taken a heavy toll in the eight years since he had visited the area. Deep gulleys have developed where there were none eight years ago, and there is "borrowing" of dirt from the Motley Mound, which in a matter of a very short time will eliminate that mound from the complex.

Ford said that the Poverty Point site is "the only site of its kind." He added, "There is a very good possibility that Poverty Point represents the introduction of the first high culture north of Mexico. The Indians had been living in North America for 10,000 years — since the last ice sheet, but a simple Paleolithic culture had existed, with no mound build- and no pottery."

Then, in this place where men once hunted elephants, sprang a culture of such cohesive strength that thousands of men and women worked in unison to build the great bird effigy mound which swept 70 feet above the old Arkansas River delta. At the base of the bird's forked tail they built, one within the other, six precisely octagonal ridges on which they placed their shelter homes.

These men who sprang from the mists of the unknown in our ancient history were perfectionists. Their ridges, as seen from the air, are geometrically perfect in their relationship one to another, and in their eight-sided "floor plan."

How did these primitive men, almost 3,000 years ago, conceive such flawless draftmanship? They tooled iron ore into jewel-slick plummets for hunting. Their standard of perfection and beauty cost them years, and possibly generations, of work with fine abrasives to bring the hard hematite and magnatite to the Tiffany-jewel perfection of those to be seen in Alexander's collection.

Dr. Charles R. McGimsey III, head of the Department of Archeology at the University of Arkansas, toured the Poverty Point site with Dr. Ford last summer. Asked what should be done to stem the destruction of our archeological history by the uninitiated "pot hunter," Dr. McGimsey said, "Landowners need to become aware of the importance of the sites on their land so they will prevent promiscuous digging on their property."

He added, in discussion of the collections of arrowheads so many people are making over the country, "All that a bushel of arrowheads tells us is that so much history has been lost forever. Artifacts themselves have no real scientific value unless we have precise information regarding their location in relation to other artifacts."

As the two archeologists discussed the value to an area of making such a unique site as Poverty Point into a National Monument, they pointed out that as many as 5,000 people visit the reconstructed Chucalissa Indian Village near Memphis on a single Sunday. Moundville in Alabama receives thousands of visitors every day. Millions of people every year make special trips to Mesa Verde in Colorado.

Poverty Point is located near national highways, easily accessible to people traveling from east to west. The benefits to the northern part of Louisiana would be immeasurable if the site is ever reconstructed and given to the people of America as a salvaged page in our history.

It seems at present that the next step in holding Poverty Point for ourselves and all time is up to the people of Louisiana. Precise inquiry of the Department of Interior must be made as to just what those steps must be, and then action can follow.

Perhaps a Poverty Point Society might be formed to insure that orderly steps be taken, and that the public be kept informed of progress in order that they can lend their support when needed. A glance at the great public attraction of the restored battlefields at Vicksburg gives some indication of what Poverty Point can mean to Louisiana and to America.

Schweitzer And Africa

Even the greatest, most self-sacrificing humanitarian may sometimes be maligned and discredited if there is some element which opposes the kind of good works he does. This seems to have happened to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, 87-year-old good Samaritan, who has devoted most of his life to medical care for the helpless and diseased in Africa.

When a man of spotless reputation and almost unparalleled devotion is discredited there is almost always some evil and designing element bent on destroying him. Undoubtedly, Dr. Schweitzer's noble life and works are being attacked because most of the African countries have turned communist and the people are under the influence of communists.

Communists, who hold to the theory that there is no Supreme Being, can understand little of self-sacrifice. All their actions must be self-serving. Therefore they cannot understand Dr. Schweitzer and the good things he does. They think he must have an ulterior motive. Back of that, also, is the desire of the Reds to attack anything that might bring credit to and good will for the United States. Therefore, because Dr. Schweitzer has stood as a shining light in Africa for many years, they attack him.

According to Insider's Newsletter, many Africans have nothing but contempt for Dr. Schweitzer and some even consider him to be a crackpot.

The octogenarian good Samaritan got a vote of "no confidence" in a survey of hundreds of natives in several countries conducted by the Malawi News, a Nyasaland publication. It is entirely likely that this publication is controlled and that it either sampled only those known to be against Dr. Schweitzer, influenced the people in advance, or distorted the poll.

The paper claimed that none of the natives polled had anything favorable to say about Dr. Schweitzer and that all were skeptical about his work at Lambarene.

Dr. Schweitzer, the poll-takers claimed, has become a symbol of the day when the white man came to Africa to do good for the natives as an adult would for children. His name is associated with a reputed statement that "Africa would be beautiful without its savages," and natives associate him with the colonial past.

Visitors to Dr. Schweitzer's hospital also have been critical. They contend his methods are outdated and that, "like the white missionaries who never bothered to train a native clergy because they doubted the African's ability, Dr. Schweitzer has trained no African natives."

In a way, some of these statements are probably true, but they have been distorted to make it look as if Dr. Schweitzer were to blame.

When Dr. Schweitzer first went to Africa the natives were indeed "children," as far as education and medical knowledge were concerned. At that time, anyone with any kind of medical training, whether a doctor or not, could bring untold relief to the Africans by simple medication. The doctor found such squalor and ignorance in his early ministrations that it was little wonder if he sometimes thought how beautiful Africa could be if the natives could be brought to match the United States and the more advanced European countries in educational and economic advances. If the doctor's hospital and his methods are now outmoded, accordinig to American standards, there is little wonder. How could a detached physician, in a far off country, working constantly among almost entirely uneducated people find time to keep up with modern medical methods, or where would he get the needed money?

Communists may besmirch the name of Dr. Schweitzer but none can wipe out the countless thousands of medical and spiritual ministrations he has performed in all those years in which he has buried himself in Africa, instead of practicing in ease and comfort in the United States, as he might have done.

Punishing Donors

There are a number of ways in which good or beneficent deeds and qualities are punished and some in which rewards are paid for lack of those virtues. Right now Representatives Willie P. Arceneaux of Arcadia parish is trying to correct one of these injustices. He doesn't want people who donate land for highway use to continue to have to pay taxes on that land.

In the whole United States, the more energetic and efficient a person is and the more money he earns, the more he has to contribute to the support of others in the way of taxes. Some states won't pay relief money to any aged people who have children who are capable of taking care of them. This is really a reward for indigence, because relief money is provided for aged people whose children won't or can't work enough to support them. Women who don't marry and have children are rewarded for not marrying be receiving government contributions, sometimes this happens even when the father of the children lives with the mother and has a good position. Such a couple may get $100 or more a month from the government for not marrying.

Louisiana is not one of the states which rewards indigence in the children of aged people. In needy cases, it pays relief money, even though the aged person's children are self-supporting. Louisiana also attempted to remove the reward for illegitimacy and did pass such a law but was forced, by federal threat of withdrawal of funds, to go back largely to the old system.

Since collection of state taxes on land donated for highways does not affect the federal government, it seems reasonable to think that legislation exempting this land from taxation can be enacted.

The highway department has two ways to acquire rights of way as it builds hundreds of miles of new highways and roads throughout the state. The department may purchase land outright or it may get authority from a landowner, without payment, for perpetual use of land for highway purposes. Naturally, those who sell the land pay no taxes on it."

Arceneaux cited one case in which a woman turned over about 80 acres of her land for highway use, and it remained on the assessment rolls. There were other instances of lesser donations. It does not seem reasonable that people should be taxed for land which they do not, in fact, own and which they cannot recover under the contract. There is no reason to make these people pay taxes simply because they do not charge the highway department for the land which it must acquire.

After establishing a world speed record of 47.6 miles an hour at the first International Air Meet at Rheims, France, in August 1909, Glenn H. Curtiss made the statement that with improvements on the motor he felt he could safely predict that the "aeroplane would some day make 100 miles per hour."

N. S. Savannah, the world's first nuclear - powered merchant ship, could cruise 14 times around the earth at speeds up to 23 knots without refueling.

UNICEF Is Defended

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Your recent editorial seeks to discredit the United Nations Children's Fund on the basis that an emergency allocation of supplies has been sent to the children of Algeria to alleviate their suffering after seven yerrs of terrible war. (Incidentally, I discovered that your editorial is actually a byline article by Thurman Sensing which has been sent to hundred of newspapers.)

You, or Mr. Sensing, are entitled to your views in denying emergency aid to needy children wherever they are. To me they show very clearly that so-called worldly wisdom is not the test of true Christian charity. Our Lord's injunction "If your enemy hunger, feed him," means simply that. Christian feed the hungry because they are hungry and because our Lord commands us to do so. Indeed, to express a sharing of human aspirations is the basic spirit of all the Judeo-Christian teachings.

Further, in the words of Lloyd Bailey of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF: "The suggestion that children should be abandoned to hunger and disease in order that their country's government may be led to "collapse" is saddening and revolting, besides being impractical. It should be clear even to Mr. Sensing that no government derives new power from the fact that needy children receive what he himself acknowledges to be 'soap, vitamin capsules, whole milk powder and emergency medical supplies."

I invite you to better inform yourself about UNICEF by reading the speech of Hon. Walter Judd of Minnesota in the House of Representatives on Tuesday, August 14, 1962, entitled "The Facts About the United Nations Children's Fund" in which he, one of the original sponsers, says: "I take pride in UNICEF's accomplishments, as can all Americans and those in other countries that have supported it, and I feel a deep concern that the American people know the facts as I know them."

Tonight when you and I leave the table with full stomachs, perhaps half of the world's children will go to bed hungry. In the words of Joseph Wechsberg in the December 2, 1961 issue of the New Yorker: "There are estimated to be a billion or more children on earth, and about six hundred million of them live in areas where the average individual income is less than a hundred dollars a year, where most babies in the vulnerable period after weaning receive only protein-deficient, starch foods, and where malaria, tuberculosis, yaws, trachoma, and leprosy — any of them or all of them — are widespread. Next year, a hundred million babies will be born, and in the economically underdeveloped countries three out of ten will die before they reach the age of six. Some of the rest — no one knows exactly how many — will be disabled for life by disease and malnutrition. Although the whole problem is a very old one — as old as mankind, in fact — only during the past fifteen years has something been done about it on a worldwide scale, and what has been done is largely the work of UNICEF."

Kennedy Holds Back

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Recent statements from President Kennedy and highly placed members of the Administration contrast strongly with the following quotations:

"Mr. Nixon hasn't mentioned Cuba very prominently in this campaign. He talks about standing firm in Berlin, standing firm in the Far East, standing up to Khrushchev, but he never mentions standing firm in Cuba — and if you can't stand up to Castro, how can you be expected to stand up to Khrushchev?" — Candidate JFK, Johnstown, Pa., October 15, 1960.

". . .We must let Mr. Castro know that we do not intend to be pushed around any longer and in particular do not intend to be pushed out of our naval base at Guantanamo or denied fair compensation for American property he has seized." — Candidate JFK, Johnstown, Pa., October 15, 1960.

". . .we must let Mr. Khrushchev know that we are permitting no expansion of his foothold in our hemisphere." — Candidate JFK, Johnstown, Pa., October 15, 1960.

"I am not satisfied to have the hand of the Communists move 3,000 miles from East Berlin to our former good neighbor in Cuba, only 90 miles from the coast of Florida, only eight minutes by jet." — Candidate JFK, Washington, D.C., September 20, 1960.

It would seem that the American Public agreed wholeheartedly with the Candidate Kennedy, but that few, other than the self-proclaimed intellectuals of the "Palace Guard," find themselves in agreement with President Kennedy on the Cuban matter.

CHARLES E. BROWN

God And His Children

There are several things we should love and appreciate in life, one of which is God, our Heavenly Father, who loves us and helps us and being his children, we should keep the Ten Commandments, to love your God with all of your heart, all of your soul and with all of your might. Do unto others as you want them to do unto you.

The second thing we should do, being the children of God is to be kind to your neighbors and friends, especially when they have sickness or troubles and doing all you can, will be a blessing upon you from God.

The third thing to remember is to show loving kindness to your dear ones, as you know we have them for a little while, then the hand of God takes them away to another world, more richer and beautiful that God has prepared in his magnificent way to reunite your dear ones with him "Who art in Heaven." By being loving and devoted to your dear ones, will be a crown of glory bestowed upon you.

The fourth thing to lead a good life is to have devotion in your belief in God, who has love and mercy, by going to your house of worship and to praise his name.

The fifth thing to be blessed by God, is to be true and obliging in all your business dealings and you will be rewarded by his gifts of peace and love.

The sixth and last thing is that the trouble with people is the worship of money and how to make more. It is true we can't do without money to live, but we must have time for other things that are as important as money, such as good friends, your Bible and God, loving kindness, devotion and by having these things, we could have peace instead of war and a torn world.

Woman Probation Officer

To the Editor:

You may not be completely aware of the recent changes in our juvenile probation officers.

The purpose of this letter is to inform you of the struggle of the League of Women Voters and the police jury to keep a lady probation officer to handle our girls.

The judges said they alone could appoint the juvenile probation officer and they were going to appoint a man. Then the judges are responsible for hiring a man, instead of a lady to handle our delinquent girls. A great part of that responsibility falls on each voter. May we remember this in the future.

After our lady candidate had been turned down, and the salary had been cut, one judge met her in the hall of the court house, and asked her if she was still interested in the job. Her answer was "No" — she said she felt that she would need the support of the judges to do a good job — and that she had been clearly shown that she didn't have that.

I am enclosing my report to the local and state league. Our board has voted to have our efforts reported to the public, and ask the public to help us in our attempts to secure a lady juvenile probation officer. Our national parole and probation organization says that we must not use a police woman to handle girls — unless she is a nationally qualified person.

The reason for not appointing a lady could not be because she might have to make a night or a questionable investigation alone. A man policeman is never sent out alone on such a trip, and she would never be alone She, too, would have a policeman or a man probation officer with her.

The writer has spent at least 25 years handling girls in one of your own high schools and 20 years in your YMCA camp where you handle them night and day.

Experience is a great teacher. My convictions are that a grave error has been made in appointing a man to handle girls. How would we feel if we knew that a girl, only one or many, had been so mishandled by officials that society would not accept them.

Girls are not always to blame for their delinquency. Consider their environments. Negligent parents—unchaperoned activities, excessive drinking, lack of discipline and all sorts of unhealthy activities in the home — and broken homes. There are no words that could express the effects a broken home has on a child. They are food for delinquent children. So much of our delinquency is the outcome of the activities and neglect of parents.

I am praying that in the near future our good men who are judges will reconsider and give us a good qualified Christian woman to handle our girls.

Writes To President

To the Editor:

The enclosed letter is a copy of one I have sent to President Kennedy. Will you please print it?

Vidalia, La.

John F. Kennedy, President
United States of America
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Kennedy:

It must be a great honor to receive the compliments of Castro and the Communist for your handling of the Mississippi crisis. I am sure the job was handled in a real communist - like manner and naturally you would receive praises from them. A true American should regret any action that merits praise from any anti-Christ and anti-American groups such as these.

To have marched your army of armed men into Mississippi and conquer Mississippians must be a proud moment for you. These people who are fighting a dictatorship form of government have fought overseas for freedom and should not be degraded for fighting for the same thing in their own country. You were very brave and stern in the Mississippi crisis. Why don't you show this same courage in the Cuban situation?

The suggestion by the Communist party that you declare Mississippi under martial law to protect the Negroes should meet with your approval since our government is of the Judges, by the Kennedys and for the NAACP.

Since the laws are made day by day, the people are confused. They do not know whether to obey yesterdays, todays or tomorrows laws. There was a document at one time which prevented this confusion because the people knew that the law remained the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. I believe this document was called the Constitution of the United States.

The federal officers in the University of Mississippi at Oxford forced the students to remain in the room with Meredith when they started to leave the class. Meredith was free to leave, he was not forced to stay with the students against his will. If this is not discrimination against the white man, then the NAACP and justice department have changed the meaning of the word. When our highest officials, whom we should respect, discriminate and assist in discriminating against any man, whether white or colored, then they, and not the people of the state, are guilty of the worse crime that could be committed against the people. And yet, you ask us to obey the laws whether distasteful or not. The laws of the Communists are very distasteful and it appears that you think the people of the Communist-dominated countries should obey them without any resistance.

The American people are not ready to accept such injustice, and it is very sad that our own President objects to our fighting for our freedom.

Mississippi Right

Editor Of New Hampshire Paper Defends Governor Barnett

William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester Union Leader in Manchester, N. H., has written and published a lengthy editorial in which he asserted that Governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi correct in the intregration squabble at the University of Mississippi and that the use of troops to force integration was contrary to the United States principle of individual rights.

The editorial by Loeb follows:

The writer of this editorial has Negro friends. He and this paper believe that the Negroes should have just as good schools, hospitals and other facilities as white people. This newspaper deplores racial prejudice. Nevertheless this newspaper considers that Gov. Ross Barnett and the State of Mississippi are completely correct and completely right in the position they have taken because what is at stake here is the right of the majority, be they white or black, to determine with whom they want to associate.

If a group of Negroes, be they in a school, a university or a social club, do not want a white person to enter that school, college or club, the white person has no business attempting to use compulsion to force himself upon the Negroes.

In reverse, no Negro has the righ to force himself on any group of white people, any school, college or club, who do not WANT him. To decide otherwise is to destroy freedom in the United States.

You cannot teach tolerance or remove prejudice at the end of a bayonet. Some Democratic and some Republican Northern politicians may think that they are playing clever politics in favor of the Negro vote by trying to force a Negro student into the previously all - white University of Mississippi, but they are not improving race relations or race friendships by such an act.

Rather, they are creating hatred and resentment. It is doubtful whether the Northern hypocrites, who will not associate with the Negro in the North, especially the wealthier whites who send their children to carefully segregated private schools in the North, have any concept of the damage to racial relationships they are doing by their holier-than-thou attitude towards the South.

In addition, this constant pandering to the Negro vote and this everlasting emphasis on the rights of the Negro, with no mention of his obligations and his duties, are creating an attitude on the part of the Negro not conducive to his own best development and progress.

Unfortunately, many Negroes today, encouraged by the Northern politicians, disregard their personal obligations to self and race improvement. One has only to look at the crime records of our national capital, of Philadelphia, Chicago, New York City or any other large metropolitan area, to discover that crime rates among the Negroes are many times that of the crime rates among the whites in the same locations.

This writer's good friend, George Schuyler, New York editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, largest Negro weekly newspaper in the United States, whose articles so frequently appear in this newspaper, has often said that the road to salvation for the Negro in this country lies in personal self - improvement and in economic power gained by becoming efficient and prosperous small, middle - sized and large businessmen and by their rise in the professions, from which they should not be hindered by prejudice.

UNFORTUNATELY, THE POLITICIANS — AND THIS APPLIES ESPECIALLY TO THE KENNEDYS — IN THEIR FAWNING OVER THE NEGRO VOTE HAVE DONE TERRIBLE DAMAGE TO THE CAUSE OF BETTER RACE RELATIONS.

Among other things they have done is to confuse completely the issue by making forced association between the two races a necessary part of racial equality. Separation and equality have nothing to do with each other. It is perfectly possible to believe, and is supposed to be a fact, that yellow, brown, black and white men and women can be of completely equal ability and worth, yet for it to be undesirable for them to intermingle, intermix, intermarry or associate together on any intimate basis.

Friendship and mutual self-respect do not require racial mixing. Certain differences of race, religion and creed are not only not bad but are actually desirable and make for a brilliant diversity in our national and world society. Sociologists have found that marriages are happiest and best when made between individuals of the same religious and racial background. This does not mean that there is anything wrong or inferior in other groups. It simply means that like does best when it keeps to like. Certainly nature follows this rule. It is doubtful whether the lofty giraffe considers himself superior to the swift-running antelope or vice versa, but the two do not breed together. It is not a question of who is superior or who is inferior. It's a question of difference. Among domestic animals a man does not breed the magnificently powerful work horse with a magnificent race horse. Yet one could hardly call one inferior to the other. Again it is a matter of difference.

Why can't we in this nation advance to a position of mutual respect and confidence between the races, black and white and any other color? Why can't we permanently resolve that the Negroes in the United States be furnished with every facility just as good as those supplied to the white people? Why can't we say that every man should have every right to rise in his profession, his business or his calling, regardless of his religion, his race or his color? Why can't we, at the same time, say that the majority, be it white or black, has a right to determine with whom it wishes to associate socially; or conversely, that no member of any minority has a right to force himself, when he's not wanted, upon the majority?

Even more important, cannot we bring the minority, whether he be white or black, to realize that his presence being unwanted by the majority does not necessarily mean that the majority feels superior to him but merely that they have a right to choose their own associates, their own companions?

If we are to accept the high-handed and dictatorial doctrine advanced by the Eisenohwer and the Kennedy administrations, then eventually no private club in the United States would have any right to refuse membership to ANY individual whom they did not happen to like or for ANY reason, regardless of whether it was color, religion or just general objectionableness of character and habit.

THIS IS THE OBJECTIVE, OF COURSE, THAT THE COMMUNISTS SEEK. THEY WANT TO DESTROY ALL PRIVATE, PERSONAL FAMILY UNITS IN OUR SOCIETY, PLACING EVERYTHING UNDER THE DICTATORIAL CONTROL OF THE STATE.

What is at stake, therefore, in the present Mississippi situation and throughout the entire South is the fundamental question of the right of the majority to freely determine with whom they will associate.

IT IS BECAUSE OF THE FACT THAT THIS GREAT AMERICAN FREEDOM IS AT STAKE THAT THIS NEWSPAPER SUPPORTS THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI AND GOVERNOR ROSS BARNETT AND SAYS THAT THOSE NORTHERN NEWSPAPERS AND AND NORTHERN LEADERS WHO ARE VILIFYING GOVERNOR BARNETT AND THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI ARE NOT ONLY HYPROCRITES BUT THEY ARE SADLY MISTAKEN INDIVIDUALS.

Walter Judd of Minnesota in the House of Representatives on Tuesday, August 14, 1962, entitled "The Facts About the United Nations Children's Fund" in which he, one of the original sponsers, says: "I take pride in UNICEF's accomplishments, as can all Americans and those in other countries that have supported it, and I feel a deep concern that the American people know the facts as I know them."

Tonight when you and I leave the table with full stomachs, perhaps half of the world's children will go to bed hungry. In the words of Joseph Wechsberg in the December 2, 1961 issue of the New Yorker: "There are estimated to be a billion or more children on earth, and about six hundred million of them live in areas where the average individual income is less than a hundred dollars a year, where most babies in the vulnerable period after weaning receive only protein-deficient, starch foods, and where malaria, tuberculosis, yaws, trachoma, and leprosy — any of them or all of them — are widespread. Next year, a hundred million babies will be born, and in the economically underdeveloped countries three out of ten will die before they reach the age of six. Some of the rest — no one knows exactly how many — will be disabled for life by disease and malnutrition. Although the whole problem is a very old one — as old as mankind, in fact — only during the past fifteen years has something been done about it on a worldwide scale, and what has been done is largely the work of UNICEF."

Kennedy Holds Back

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Recent statements from President Kennedy and highly placed members of the Administration contrast strongly with the following quotations:

"Mr. Nixon hasn't mentioned Cuba very prominently in this campaign. He talks about standing firm in Berlin, standing firm in the Far East, standing up to Khrushchev, but he never mentions standing firm in Cuba — and if you can't stand up to Castro, how can you be expected to stand up to Khrushchev?" — Candidate JFK, Johnstown, Pa., October 15, 1960.

". . .We must let Mr. Castro know that we do not intend to be pushed around any longer and in particular do not intend to be pushed out of our naval base at Guantanamo or denied fair compensation for American property he has seized." — Candidate JFK, Johnstown, Pa., October 15, 1960.

". . .we must let Mr. Khrushchev know that we are permitting no expansion of his foothold in our hemisphere." — Candidate JFK, Johnstown, Pa., October 15, 1960.

"I am not satisfied to have the hand of the Communists move 3,000 miles from East Berlin to our former good neighbor in Cuba, only 90 miles from the coast of Florida, only eight minutes by jet." — Candidate JFK, Washington, D.C., September 20, 1960.

It would seem that the American Public agreed wholeheartedly with the Candidate Kennedy, but that few, other than the self-proclaimed intellectuals of the "Palace Guard," find themselves in agreement with President Kennedy on the Cuban matter.

CHARLES E. BROWN

God And His Children

There are several things we should love and appreciate in life, one of which is God, our Heavenly Father, who loves us and helps us and being his children, we should keep the Ten Commandments, to love your God with all of your heart, all of your soul and with all of your might. Do unto others as you want them to do unto you.

The second thing we should do, being the children of God is to be kind to your neighbors and friends, especially when they have sickness or troubles and doing all you can, will be a blessing upon you from God.

The third thing to remember is to show loving kindness to your dear ones, as you know we have them for a little while, then the hand of God takes them away to another world, more richer and beautiful that God has prepared in his magnificent way to reunite your dear ones with him "Who art in Heaven." By being loving and devoted to your dear ones, will be a crown of glory bestowed upon you.

The fourth thing to lead a good life is to have devotion in your belief in God, who has love and mercy, by going to your house of worship and to praise his name.

The fifth thing to be blessed by God, is to be true and obliging in all your business dealings and you will be rewarded by his gifts of peace and love.

The sixth and last thing is that the trouble with people is the worship of money and how to make more. It is true we can't do without money to live, but we must have time for other things that are as important as money, such as good friends, your Bible and God, loving kindness, devotion and by having these things, we could have peace instead of war and a torn world.

Woman Probation Officer

To the Editor:

You may not be completely aware of the recent changes in our juvenile probation officers.

The purpose of this letter is to inform you of the struggle of the League of Women Voters and the police jury to keep a lady probation officer to handle our girls.

The judges said they alone could appoint the juvenile probation officer and they were going to appoint a man. Then the judges are responsible for hiring a man instead of a lady to handle our delinquent girls. A great part of that responsibility falls on each voter. May we remember this in the future.

After our lady candidate had been turned down, and the salary had been cut, one judge met her in the hall of the court house, and asked her if she was still interested in the job. Her answer was "No" — she said she felt that she would need the support of the judges to do a good job — and that she had been clearly shown that she didn't have that.

I am enclosing my report to the local and state league. Our board has voted to have our efforts reported to the public, and ask the public to help us in our attempts to secure a lady juvenile probation officer. Our national parole and probation organization says that we must not use a police woman to handle girls — unless she is a nationally qualified person.

The reason for not appointing a lady could not be because she might have to make a night or a questionable investigation alone. A man policeman is never sent out alone on such a trip, and she would never be alone She, too, would have a policeman or a man probation officer with her.

The writer has spent at least 25 years handling girls in one of your own high schools and 20 years in your YMCA camp where you handle them night and day.

Experience is a great teacher. My convictions are that a grave error has been made in appointing a man to handle girls. How would we feel if we knew that a girl, only one or many, had been so mishandled by officials that society would not accept them.

Girls are not always to blame for their delinquency. Consider their environments. Negligent parents—unchaperoned activities, excessive drinking, lack of discipline and all sorts of unhealthy activities in the home — and broken homes. There are no words that could express the effects a broken home has on a child. They are food for delinquent children. So much of our delinquency is the outcome of the activities and neglect of parents.

I am praying that in the near future our good men who are judges will reconsider and give us a good qualified Christian woman to handle our girls.

Writes To President

To the Editor:

The enclosed letter is a copy of one I have sent to President Kennedy. Will you please print it?

Vidalia, La.

John F. Kennedy, President
United States of America
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Kennedy:

It must be a great honor to receive the compliments of Castro and the Communist for your handling of the Mississippi crisis. I am sure the job was handled in a real communist - like manner and naturally you would receive praises from them. A true American should regret any action that merits praise from any anti-Christ and anti-American groups such as these.

To have marched your army of armed men into Mississippi and conquer Mississippians must be a proud moment for you. These people who are fighting a dictatorship form of government have fought overseas for freedom and should not be degraded for fighting for the same thing in their own country. You were very brave and stern in the Mississippi crisis. Why don't you show this same courage in the Cuban situation?

The suggestion by the Communist party that you declare Mississippi under martial law to protect the Negroes should meet with your approval since our government is of the Judges, by the Kennedys and for the NAACP.

Since the laws are made day by day, the people are confused. They do not know whether to obey yesterdays, todays or tomorrows laws. There was a document at one time which prevented this confusion because the people knew that the law remained the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. I believe this document was called the Constitution of the United States.

The federal officers in the University of Mississippi at Oxford forced the students to remain in the room with Meredith when they started to leave the class. Meredith was free to leave, he was not forced to stay with the students against his will. If this is not discrimination against the white man, then the NAACP and justice department have changed the meaning of the word. When our highest officials, whom we should respect, discriminate and assist in discriminating against any man, whether white or colored, then they, and not the people of the state, are guilty of the worse crime that could be committed against the people. And yet, you ask us to obey the laws whether distasteful or not. The laws of the Communists are very distasteful and it appears that you think the people of the Communist-dominated countries should obey them without any resistance.

The American people are not ready to accept such injustice, and it is very sad that our own President objects to our fighting for our freedom.

Mississippi Right

Editor Of New Hampshire Paper Defends Governor Barnett

William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester Union Leader in Manchester, N. H., has written and published a lengthy editorial in which he asserted that Governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi correct in the intregration squabble at the University of Mississippi and that the use of troops to force integration was contrary to the United States principle of individual rights.

The editorial by Loeb follows:

The writer of this editorial has Negro friends. He and this paper believe that the Negroes should have just as good schools, hospitals and other facilities as white people. This newspaper deplores racial prejudice. Nevertheless this newspaper considers that Gov. Ross Barnett and the State of Mississippi are completely correct and completely right in the position they have taken because what is at stake here is the right of the majority, be they white or black, to determine with whom they want to associate.

If a group of Negroes, be they in a school, a university or a social club, do not want a white person to enter that school, college or club, the white person has no business attempting to use compulsion to force himself upon the Negroes.

In reverse, no Negro has the righ to force himself on any group of white people, any school, college or club, who do not WANT him. To decide otherwise is to destroy freedom in the United States.

You cannot teach tolerance or remove prejudice at the end of a bayonet. Some Democratic and some Republican Northern politicians may think that they are playing clever politics in favor of the Negro vote by trying to force a Negro student into the previously all - white University of Mississippi, but they are not improving race relations or race friendships by such an act.

Rather, they are creating hatred and resentment. It is doubtful whether the Northern hypocrites, who will not associate with the Negro in the North, especially the wealthier whites who send their children to carefully segregated private schools in the North, have any concept of the damage to racial relationships they are doing by their holier-than-thou attitude towards the South.

In addition, this constant pandering to the Negro vote and this everlasting emphasis on the rights of the Negro, with no mention of his obligations and his duties, are creating an attitude on the part of the Negro not conducive to his own best development and progress.

Unfortunately, many Negroes today, encouraged by the Northern politicians, disregard their personal obligations to self and race improvement. One has only to look at the crime records of our national capital, of Philadelphia, Chicago, New York City or any other large metropolitan area, to discover that crime rates among the Negroes are many times that of the crime rates among the whites in the same locations.

This writer's good friend, George Schuyler, New York editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, largest Negro weekly newspaper in the United States, whose articles so frequently appear in this newspaper, has often said that the road to salvation for the Negro in this country lies in personal self - improvement and in economic power gained by becoming efficient and prosperous small, middle - sized and large businessmen and by their rise in the professions, from which they should not be hindered by prejudice.

UNFORTUNATELY, THE POLITICIANS — AND THIS APPLIES ESPECIALLY TO THE KENNEDYS — IN THEIR FAWNING OVER THE NEGRO VOTE HAVE DONE TERRIBLE DAMAGE TO THE CAUSE OF BETTER RACE RELATIONS.

Among other things they have done is to confuse completely the issue by making forced association between the two races a necessary part of racial equality. Separation and equality have nothing to do with each other. It is perfectly possible to believe, and is supposed to be a fact, that yellow, brown, black and white men and women can be of completely equal ability and worth, yet for it to be undesirable for them to intermingle, intermix, intermarry or associate together on any intimate basis.

Friendship and mutual self-respect do not require racial mixing. Certain differences of race, religion and creed are not only not bad but are actually desirable and make for a brilliant diversity in our national and world society. Sociologists have found that marriages are happiest and best when made between individuals of the same religious and racial background. This does not mean that there is anything wrong or inferior in other groups. It simply means that like does best when it keeps to like. Certainly nature follows this rule. It is doubtful whether the lofty giraffe considers himself superior to the swift-running antelope or vice versa, but the two do not breed together. It is not a question of who is superior or who is inferior. It's a question of difference. Among domestic animals a man does not breed the magnificently powerful work horse with a magnificent race horse. Yet one could hardly call one inferior to the other. Again it is a matter of difference.

Why can't we in this nation advance to a position of mutual respect and confidence between the races, black and white and any other color? Why can't we permanently resolve that the Negroes in the United States be furnished with every facility just as good as those supplied to the white people? Why can't we say that every man should have every right to rise in his profession, his business or his calling, regardless of his religion, his race or his color? Why can't we, at the same time, say that the majority, be it white or black, has a right to determine with whom it wishes to associate socially; or conversely, that no member of any minority has a right to force himself, when he's not wanted, upon the majority?

Even more important, cannot we bring the minority, whether he be white or black, to realize that his presence being unwanted by the majority does not necessarily mean that the majority feels superior to him but merely that they have a right to choose their own associates, their own companions?

If we are to accept the high-handed and dictatorial doctrine advanced by the Eisenohwer and the Kennedy administrations, then eventually no private club in the United States would have any right to refuse membership to ANY individual whom they did not happen to like or for ANY reason, regardless of whether it was color, religion or just general objectionableness of character and habit.

THIS IS THE OBJECTIVE, OF COURSE, THAT THE COMMUNISTS SEEK. THEY WANT TO DESTROY ALL PRIVATE, PERSONAL FAMILY UNITS IN OUR SOCIETY, PLACING EVERYTHING UNDER THE DICTATORIAL CONTROL OF THE STATE.

What is at stake, therefore, in the present Mississippi situation and throughout the entire South is the fundamental question of the right of the majority to freely determine with whom they will associate.

IT IS BECAUSE OF THE FACT THAT THIS GREAT AMERICAN FREEDOM IS AT STAKE THAT THIS NEWSPAPER SUPPORTS THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI AND GOVERNOR ROSS BARNETT AND SAYS THAT THOSE NORTHERN NEWSPAPERS AND AND NORTHERN LEADERS WHO ARE VILIFYING GOVERNOR BARNETT AND THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI ARE NOT ONLY HYPROCRITES BUT THEY ARE SADLY MISTAKEN INDIVIDUALS.

A Look Behind the Headlines

West Germany Produces Different Type Soldiers

By JOHN WEYLAND

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany has produced a new type of soldier.

By the defense ministry's own definition, the teen-agers constituting the great mass of the West German Bundeswehr (armed forces) lack the mystic devotion to duty and blind obedience to authority that characterized the Prussian military tradition.

The discrediting of this tradition through defeat in two world wars is partly responsible. So are the production of democratic institutions and a strong American influence.

Today a questioning, critical attitude prevails among the 400,000 men in uniform. They insist on being treated like human beings, and the externals of discipline have been relaxed.

The defense ministry takes the view that, all things considered, the change is for the good. It feels that Hans, Franz and Wolfgang would fight as well as their fathers and grandfathers if another war broke out.

Col. Gerd Schmueckle, spokesman for the defense ministry, praises the new soldiers, most of whom are draftees serving 18 months, for initiative and adaptibility. He finds their type better suited to the technical armed forces of today than the former goose-stepping, heel-clicking automatons.

QUIET FEARS

To quiet fears about the military capability of the present generation, Schmueckle wrote a study based on experience since the bundeswehr was created in 1955.

"To serve is no ideal in itself of these young soldiers," Schmueckle said. "It is a disagreeable must.

"They find tradition something that belongs to the older generation. Their national feeling has what I might call a low temperature. The state for them is, in their own words, 'far away,' and for some even a hostile thing.

"Feelings of hate against other peoples—even the peoples of the East—are foreign to them.

"They sweat no more from fear of rank when a superior draws near. Even to generals they show an attitude that one could call lacking in respect.

"To real or imagined injustices by their superiors these young men react sharply. If they are bawled at, they show anger and opposition. Commands that are not readily understood, they want explained.

"They express criticisms of the service without hesitation in the presence of their officers."

Schmueckle says the new type of German in uniform is generally admired by Allied officers, who despised the old Prussian ways.

An inspector general has been provided to protect the men against abuses of authority by superiors. This office did not exist previously.

Any punishment that entails a deprivation of liberty must be confirmed by a civilian judge.

Information and discussion periods have replaced Nazi propaganda indoctrination.

Saluting, once required between all ranks, has been limited to immediate superiors within any given unit.

A troop commander said he found today's soldiers responsive and first-rate, provided they are handled right.

"The way to lead these young fellows," he explained, "is to treat your unit like a sports team. Then everything goes fine. The old ways just won't do any more."

Conditions In South Africa Described

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—If Helen Joseph gets in a traffic jam driving home from her downtown office she steps on the gas to get out of it fast.

Otherwise she may be in trouble with the South African government, because for the next five years she has to be home every day at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Joseph, a graying white woman, is under house arrest—the first such under new political control laws exercised by Minister of Justice Balthazar Vorster.

This means among other things she is confined to her home from 6:30 p.m. to 6:30 a.m. She is forbidden to have visitors there except a doctor — who must be considered nonsubversive. She cannot leave her home on public holidays or on weekends, cannot attend any political or social gatherings and must report to the police every day except Sundays and holidays. Furthermore, she is silenced here and cannot be quoted by word or in writing.

If she breaks any of the restrictions she could be jailed for up to three years.

The Johannesburg English-language Rand Daily Mail has headlined: "Mrs. Joseph's Home is Her Jail."

It's going to be a lonely Christmas.

However she has her Siamese cat Siti and she gets newspapers and still has a telephone that rings constantly. Well-wishers' calls mix with anonymous messages.

AID SOCIETY

She works in a downtown medical aid society doing welfare work for the African people.

Mrs. Joseph has been interviewed frequently since Vorster arrested her but the interviews cannot be quoted here or cabled abroad because she has been silenced as an alleged Red subversive.

(A brief interview with Mrs. Joseph that has become available outside South Africa quotes her as saying of her arrest: "It doesn't feel very nice. But I try to keep busy at my welfare work, and cheerful.")

Friends say Mrs. Joseph, who is a childless divorcee, is determined to carry on her welfare work, packing as much work in her daytime freedom hours as possible.

She spent four months in prison as one of the defendants in South Africa's marathon treason trial. All the defendants were acquitted because the court ruled the government had not proved they were guilty of Communist conspiracy. She is represented as a great admirer of Zulu ex-Chief Albert Luthuli, South Africa's only Nobel Peace Prize winner, who also has been politically banned and silenced. She also knows other outlawed African political leaders, among them Nelson Mandela and Walter Sisulu.

Mrs. Joseph was born in England, and likes gardening. On the first Sunday of her house arrest, neighbors came by to chat over her garden gate. Evenings she works on a new book that will describe South Africa's political laws. Her first book titled "If This Be Treason" is expected to be published next year but will not be for sale here.

Author Alan Paton told the Johannesburg Sunday Express that the conditions of Mrs. Joseph's house arrest are vicious and barbaric.

"No one can say that this is not an imitation of a Nazi country," he said. "This move by Vorster is one of the consequences of Mrs. Joseph's unequivocal opposition to apartheid racial segregation)."

Since Mrs. Joseph has a British passport, some people are amazed the South African government did not simply deport her. It did that in the case of the Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, Ambrose Reeves, for his criticism of the Sharpeville shootings. Some anti-government newspapers cannot understand this house arrest either but Vorster recently announced he is going to get even tougher with people he regards as subversives or dangerous liberals and be even more zealous "in the defense of our republic."

Mrs. Joseph was a leader in the multiracial South African Congress of Democrats which Vorster recently outlawed as subversive. He acted under his powers from the new antisabotage act and an older law for suppression of communism and other alleged subversive movements.

Independent Nations Located On The Nile

By LYNN HEINZERLING

JINJA, Uganda (AP)—For the first time in this century, the stately Nile flows 3,800 miles from Lake Victoria to the Mediterranean without washing against colonial territory.

The bluish waters that tumble from the lake here at Jinja sweep through a free and independent Uganda before they pick up the mud and silt of Sudan and Egypt and enter the Mediterranean.

Jinja, at the southernmost source of the Nile, is an important railway and industrial center of the new nation. It is the site of the Owen Falls hydroelectric power station. Tourists stand on a platform and watch fish soar above the turbulent water after being expelled from Lake Victoria through the dam's great sluices.

Jinja is even more important as the place where Apollo Milton Obote, the son of a Lango chief, took his first job as a laborer and felt the first political stirrings. Obote, then 26, was helping to build silos at $3 a month. He became active in the trade union movement.

UGANDA HEAD

Now 37, he is prime minister of Uganda, facing Africa's problems of disease, poverty, ignorance and tribalism plus special problems peculiar to Uganda.

This is a nation of 7 million without a national consciousness. National independence means nothing to nine out of 10 people.

Obote himself admits that when he was first elected to the colonial legislative council four years ago, he had difficulty deciding whether he represented his tribe, his party, the electorate of his constituency or the country at large.

Included in this nation of 94,000 square miles are 4 kingdoms, 1 territory and 11 administrative districts. The kingdoms and the territory of Busoga all have their own legislative bodies and administrations apart from the national parliament and administration.

Such traditional rulers as the Kyabazinga of Busoga, the Omukama of Bunyoro, the Omugabe of Ankole, the Omukama of Toro and the Kabaka of Buganda compete with the prime minister for prestige. On a lower level are dozens of chiefs among 28 tribes.

Except in Kampala, the ordinary man of Uganda never raises his sights above the local chief except for the Omukamas and the Kabaka.

The most important, the most sartorially gorgeous and probably the wisest of these state rulers is the Kabaka Mutesa II of Buganda, who was known as Freddie when he studied at Cambridge. He is 38.

The Kabaka has all the fancy uniforms of an honorary captain in Britain's Grenadier Guards plus ceremonial garments of scarlet and gold and fancy hats of tradition. He drives about Kampala in a Rolls-Royce and lives in a palace with 110 servants.

The Kabaka's state of Buganda is the most populous, richest and most important politically. One of the most disruptive disputes in the new nation involves differences between Buganda and the state of Bunyoro over the counties of Buyaga and Bugangazzi, claimed by both states.

COALITION

Obote is prime minister by virtue of a coalition with the Kabaka's party, Kabaka Yekka (Kabaka Only). Obote's United People's Congress holds 38 seats, Kabaka Yekka 12 and the Democratic Party 24.

The Kabaka is ambitious. With his people growing three-fourths of the coffee and one-third of the cotton, the two main export items, he can exert great pressure.

Obote, impressed but not subdued by the Kabaka's stature, is a plain man with a ready smile.

An unpretentious man, he refused to move into the prime minister's luxurious office, preferring the cramped office he knew when he was leader of the opposition.

The prime minister is outstanding among African leaders for one thing: He does not orate at length about neo - colonialism whenever foreign investment is mentioned.

At his first news conference after independence, he said:

"For nearly 70 years we have been under British protection. The British administration has done a wonderful job in education, health, water resources and economic affairs and has founded quite a lot on the materialistic side and also in the cultural sense."

Ohioan Lynn Heinzerland, an Associated Press specialist in African affairs, won a Pulitzer prize for his reporting of the aftermath of Congo independence.

Historic Days Occurring At The Eternal City

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—These are historic days for the Eternal City—these days of The Ecumenical Council, Vatican II.

There never has been such a gathering of prelates in the annals of the church of Rome. Assembled here are the spiritual leaders of 500 million people—possibly five times more than lived in Rome's whole ancient empire at its height.

How are modern Romans taking the council?

Some with excitement: School children and government employes had a day off when the council opened. Up to 150,000 Romans and tourists flocked to St. Peter's Square to see an inaugural procession of white-robed prelates.

Some with curiosity: All Italian newspapers, including the Communist dailies, have used their biggest type for banner headlines, vying for customers curious to read all about the council.

Some with calm: Italians go on enjoying their biggest economic boom in history, buying cars and refrigerators and other items that once were luxuries. Alert businessmen cash in on every opportunity, including the chance to sell Ecumenical Council souvenirs.

The council may last a year, and Romans are preparing to live with it.

Walk down the Via Veneto, the city's fashionable boulevard of sidewalk cafes and expensive shops. The customers sip espresso coffee and watch the parade of Roman high life and low life. The city's movie studios are booming. The actresses and attriciette (Italian for starlets) don't miss a chance to be seen, and the busy free lance photographers don't miss a starlet.

Yet there's a difference these days. There are more young priests in the sidewalk crowds. They are here for the council from America and elsewhere. Like other visitors to Rome, they find their way to the Via Veneto for a pleasant evening stroll.

In cafes and markets, Romans talk about progressive prelates and conservative prelates in the same way they debate Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani's government.

There's also a food scandal. Every day government investigators are finding adulterated meat, phoney wine, bogus cheese. Housewives have little time for the council or other subjects, as they gossip about spoiled spaghetti, nagging neighbors and a servant scarcity.

Among the newspapers the Communist L'Unita has avoided direct attacks on the council while indirectly needling some participants. It commented that U.S. prelates were living in much more expensive Roman quarters than the prelates from Africa.

The pro-Communist Paese-Sera had a cartoon showing prelates and Pilgrims in St. Peter's Square. The devil slumped in a corner of the square—ignored.

Question Is How Long Is A Second

EDITOR'S NOTE — As time marches on so does man hurrying to keep up. The best he has done so far is a timepiece that doesn't lose or gain more than a second every 160,000 years. But unless you want to spend $100,000, don't count on it to get you up in time for the 7:21.

By STEPHEN M. AUG

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — How long is a second:

This is one of the questions scientists at the National Bureau of Standards laboratory here are trying to answer.

And what's more, they feel they are closer to the answer than ever before.

The importance of this instant of time, says Dr. John Richardson, chief of the radio standards laboratory, is manifold.

First, there is the need for accurate tracking of missiles and satellites through space.

Second, accurate time is invaluable in very long-range communication. And, since time is used to measure radio frequencies, it has assumed greater importance as the demand grows for more space on already congested wave lengths.

Frequency is useful also for those scientists who need to measure the properties of the earth's atmosphere, ionosphere, and magnetosphere by radio and electronics.

Richardson believes, however, that a major breakthrough is about to occur—probably by the end of the year. The big news is a new kind of atomic clock.

Atomic clocks, claimed by scientists to be more accurate timepieces than the age-old method of celestial timekeeping, are nothing new. The first such instrument was placed in service in 1948.

The cesium atomic clock was developed for the United States here by Dr. R. C. Mockler and physicist Roger Beehler, based on earlier work in England by Dr. L. Essen.

The clock worked on the constant vibration of an atom of cesium — 9,192,631,770 times per second. Since 1959 this clock has provided the United States with a standard frequency and time interval with an accuracy equivalent to a loss or gain of one second in 3,000 years.

Mockler and Beehler now say that with refinements, the cesium clock can be ready with an accuracy of one second in 160,000 years, although they say it hasn't operated long enough to prove it long-range stability to that degree.

Exciting News About Mysteries

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

Exciting news for readers of mystery stories is the fact that this week, new titles by two of the most popular writers in this field were received at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Gambit" is the title of the new Nero Wolfe Novel by Rex Stout. This is the exciting story of a expert chess player, who was murdered while engaged in playing twelve simultaneous games. This is one of the most difficult mysteries which Nero Wolfe and his right hand man Archie Goodwin have ever tackled. One does not have to be a chess player to enjoy the story, which is first rate all the way through. The second one is a new Erle Stanley Gardner book, "The Case of the Ice - Cold Hands." Perry Mason, as usual wins his case and for those who like the Gardner novels, this one makes good reading. "The Commissioner" by Richard Dougherty is an exciting story built around the Police Department of a large City. In this book we meet a variety of people, some good, some bad. It is a fast paced story of action and intrigue and will especiallly appeal to men.

"The Thin Read Line" is the story of the new novel by James Jones. This is a combat novel of World War II and deals with life on the island of Guadalcanal. There are no heroes in "The Thin Read Line," instead James Jones has put vividly in front of the reader several dozen men, who change, and suffer, and make essential discoveries about themselves. This book searches into the human condition without illusions and without bitterness, gathering its great power from its truth. It is a novel that will stand like a rock in American literature. "The Demoniacs" is the title of the latest journey into the past written by John Dickson Carr. It is set in London and Parish in the year 1757. Mr. Carr has written a vivid, exciting story of a period and a fascinating cast of characters.

An interesting new book in the world of finance is "The Watchdogs of Wall Street" by Hillel Black. It is concerned with the activities of the New York Stock Exchange, and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. Lewis Mumford is the author of "The City in History." This is a very scholarly book which discusses the origin of the cities how they have changed and the prospects for the future. Frederick Rudolph is the author of "The American College and University, a History." This is an excellent history of the development of the University movement in the United States.

A beautiful little book is "Flowers of the Holy Land" by Bertha S. Vester. It contains illustrations in color and is quite different. The American Heritage Magazine is putting out some lovely books. The latest one is "A History of Flight." It is profusely illustrated and is a book which any man or boy will enjoy.

Ever since "The Agony and the Ecstasy" was published, people have been wanting to read more about the work of Michelangelo. James Ackerman has just published a lovely book called "The Architecture of Michelangelo." It is a worthwhile contribution to the library collection. Another book in the field of fine arts is "The Spirit of the Letter in Painting" by Jean Leymarie. This book was published by Hallmark cards and is most beautiful.

Voices Present Pageant Of Life

THE VOICES OF GLORY. By Davis Grubb. Scribner's $5.95.

The reading of this book is an experience that can leave a permanent mark within the reader's mind and heart. It is a forceful, vivid and moving pageant of all the miserable frailties and decent hopes of the human spirit.

It is about a host of people in a far - size town named Glory, in the mine and mill section on the West Virginia side of the Ohio River, in the year 1928. And especially it is about an unusual woman Marcy Cresap.

Her life had been touched by tragedy, and she devoted the remainder of it to a self sacrificing ministration to the public race. Her job was that of public health nurse in Apple County. Primarily she was concerned with communicable diseases, sanitation, immunization and such problems, particularly among the poor whites of Angel Swamp, Misery Hollow and the remote hill cabins.

But she went much further than that. She cared too for the human scraps from the state penitentiary and the families of men who died in mine and mill accidents.

Of course she could not avoid making a lot of enemies, among the feeminded physicians, the property - loving business men, the pious hypocrites and the small minded. The framework of the story is that she was accused of practicing medicine without a license.

Grubb tells it in 28 chapters, each one the voice of an individual, and the range is tremendous. From wealthy landowner and stiff- necked preacher to hillbilly and tired schoolteacher; from prison guard and barber to intellectual and shy young schoolgirl; there are a young Negro man, a warm - blooded Serbian woman, a faithful housekeeper and a convicted bank president.

Their lives intertwine; they open doors into the lives of other people. But all of the narrators know — or hate, or love — Marcy Cresap.

Some of these voices tell you things that make your flesh creep. Others bring you the sweet serenity of peace. Many of these voices come from the cemetery atop Glory Hill. Some speak in gentle poetry, some with the drawl and country folklore of the hills. Each of the 28 narratives stands marvelously alone as a gripping revelation.

Grubb has written "The Night of the Hunter," "A Deam of Kings" and "The Watchman." He possesses a tremendous sense of the world's evils and cruelties, tinged with a feeling of the supernatural.

In this book he protrays corruption, greed, sex, fear prejudice and selfishness in terrifyingly black tones; but in contrast he gives you the pure white glow of faith and mercy. There are passages that make you think of a Goya drawing.

You can hear the voices that speak out from these pages. The author is a master of words — sometimes slashing, seomtimes subtle—that weave together the sounds and images of human life and death.

"The Voices of Glory" will be heard when many other books have been forgotten.

Novelist Writes On A Scandal

WHERE LOVE HAS GONE. By Harold Robbins. Simon & Schuster. $4.95.

Robbins has written five novels since 1948 and each has sold over two million copies. His sixth and latest shouldn't lower his batting average.

His last book, "The Carpetbaggers," a smash best seller, seemed to many readers to be based on the life of one of America's wealthiest men.

This time, readers undoubtedly will detect in the basic theme of "Where Love Has Gone" parallels with some big Hollywood scandals of recent years.

The book opens with the stabbing to death of a virile but worthless young man, Rick, in the home of a nationally known San Francisco sculptress, Nora Hayden, a nymphomaniac who has been his mistress. Present in the room and accused as Rick's slayer is Nora's teen-age daughter, Dani, a precocious sexual disciple of her mother.

Narrator of the story is Luke Carey, wartime hero, father of Dani and divorced husband of the sculptress.

West Germany Produces Different Type Soldiers

By JOHN WEYLAND

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany has produced a new type of soldier.

By the defense ministry's own definition, the teen-agers constituting the great mass of the West German Bundeswehr (armed forces) lack the mystic devotion to duty and blind obedience to authority that characterized the Prussian military tradition.

The discrediting of this tradition through defeat in two world wars is partly responsible. So are the production of democratic institutions and a strong American influence.

Today a questioning, critical attitude prevails among the 400,000 men in uniform. They insist on being treated like human beings, and the externals of discipline have been relaxed.

The defense ministry takes the view that, all things considered, the change is for the good. It feels that Hans, Franz and Wolfgang would fight as well as their fathers and grandfathers if another war broke out.

Col. Gerd Schmueckle, spokesman for the defense ministry, praises the new soldiers, most of whom are draftees serving 18 months, for initiative and adaptibility. He finds their type better suited to the technical armed forces of today than the former goose-stepping, heel-clicking automatons.

QUIET FEARS

To quiet fears about the military capability of the present generation, Schmueckle wrote a study based on experience since the bundeswehr was created in 1955.

"To serve is no ideal in itself of these young soldiers," Schmueckle said. "It is a disagreeable must.

"They find tradition something that belongs to the older generation. Their national feeling has what I might call a low temperature. The state for them is, in their own words, 'far away,' and for some even a hostile thing.

"Feelings of hate against other peoples—even the peoples of the East—are foreign to them.

"They sweat no more from fear of rank when a superior draws near. Even to generals they show an attitude that one could call lacking in respect.

"To real or imagined injustices by their superiors these young men react sharply. If they are bawled at, they show anger and opposition. Commands that are not readily understood, they want explained.

"They express criticisms of the service without hesitation in the presence of their officers."

Schmueckle says the new type of German in uniform is generally admired by Allied officers, who despised the old Prussian ways.

An inspector general has been provided to protect the men against abuses of authority by superiors. This office did not exist previously.

Any punishment that entails a deprivation of liberty must be confirmed by a civilian judge.

Information and discussion periods have replaced Nazi propaganda indoctrination.

Saluting, once required between all ranks, has been limited to immediate superiors within any given unit.

A troop commander said he found today's soldiers responsive and first-rate, provided they are handled right.

"The way to lead these young fellows," he explained, "is to treat your unit like a sports team. Then everything goes fine. The old ways just won't do any more."

John Weyland was a political science instructor with the U.S. Army in Korea in the '40s. A native of Fresno, Calif., he has been an Associated Press correspondent in Germany since 1960.

Conditions In South Africa Described

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—If Helen Joseph gets in a traffic jam driving home from her downtown office she steps on the gas to get out of it fast.

Otherwise she may be in trouble with the South African government, because for the next five years she has to be home every day at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Joseph, a graying white woman, is under house arrest—the first such under new political control laws exercised by Minister of Justice Balthazar Vorster.

This means among other things she is confined to her home from 6:30 p.m. to 6:30 a.m. She is forbidden to have visitors there except a doctor — who must be considered nonsubversive. She cannot leave her home on public holidays or on weekends, cannot attend any political or social gatherings and must report to the police every day except Sundays and holidays. Furthermore, she is silenced here and cannot be quoted by word or in writing.

If she breaks any of the restrictions she could be jailed for up to three years.

The Johannesburg English-language Rand Daily Mail has headlined: "Mrs. Joseph's Home is Her Jail."

It's going to be a lonely Christmas.

However she has her Siamese cat Siti and she gets newspapers and still has a telephone that rings constantly. Well-wishers' calls mix with anonymous messages.

AID SOCIETY

She works in a downtown medical aid society doing welfare work for the African people.

Mrs. Joseph has been interviewed frequently since Vorster arrested her but the interviews cannot be quoted here or cabled abroad because she has been silenced as an alleged Red subversive.

(A brief interview with Mrs. Joseph that has become available outside South Africa quotes her as saying of her arrest: "It doesn't feel very nice. But I try to keep busy at my welfare work, and cheerful.")

Friends say Mrs. Joseph, who is a childless divorcee, is determined to carry on her welfare work, packing as much work in her daytime freedom hours as possible.

She spent four months in prison as one of the defendants in South Africa's marathon treason trial. All the defendants were acquitted because the court ruled the government had not proved they were guilty of Communist conspiracy. She is represented as a great admirer of Zulu ex-Chief Albert Luthuli, South Africa's only Nobel Peace Prize winner, who also has been politically banned and silenced. She also knows other outlawed African political leaders, among them Nelson Mandela and Walter Sisulu.

Mrs. Joseph was born in England, and likes gardening. On the first Sunday of her house arrest, neighbors came by to chat over her garden gate. Evenings she works on a new book that will describe South Africa's political laws. Her first book titled "If This Be Treason" is expected to be published next year but will not be for sale here.

Author Alan Paton told the Johannesburg Sunday Express that the conditions of Mrs. Joseph's house arrest are vicious and barbaric.

"No one can say that this is not an imitation of a Nazi country," he said. "This move by Vorster is one of the consequences of Mrs. Joseph's unequivocal opposition to apartheid racial segregation)."

Since Mrs. Joseph has a British passport, some people are amazed the South African government did not simply deport her. It did that in the case of the Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, Ambrose Reeves, for his criticism of the Sharpeville shootings. Some anti-government newspapers cannot understand this house arrest either but Vorster recently announced he is going to get even tougher with people he regards as subversives or dangerous liberals and be even more zealous "in the defense of our republic."

Mrs. Joseph was a leader in the multiracial South African Congress of Democrats which Vorster recently outlawed as subversive. He acted under his powers from the new antisabotage act and an older law for suppression of communism and other alleged subversive movements.

Independent Nations Located On The Nile

By LYNN HEINZERLING

JINJA, Uganda (AP)—For the first time in this century, the stately Nile flows 3,800 miles from Lake Victoria to the Mediterranean without washing against colonial territory.

The bluish waters that tumble from the lake here at Jinja sweep through a free and independent Uganda before they pick up the mud and silt of Sudan and Egypt and enter the Mediterranean.

Jinja, at the southernmost source of the Nile, is an important railway and industrial center of the new nation. It is the site of the Owen Falls hydroelectric power station. Tourists stand on a platform and watch fish soar above the turbulent water after being expelled from Lake Victoria through the dam's great sluices.

Jinja is even more important as the place where Apollo Milton Obote, the son of a Lango chief, took his first job as a laborer and felt the first political stirrings. Obote, then 26, was helping to build silos at $3 a month. He became active in the trade union movement.

UGANDA HEAD

Now 37, he is prime minister of Uganda, facing Africa's problems of disease, poverty, ignorance and tribalism plus special problems peculiar to Uganda.

This is a nation of 7 million without a national consciousness. National independence means nothing to nine out of 10 people.

Obote himself admits that when he was first elected to the colonial legislative council four years ago, he had difficulty deciding whether he represented his tribe, his party, the electorate of his constituency or the country at large.

Included in this nation of 94,000 square miles are 4 kingdoms, 1 territory and 11 administrative districts. The kingdoms and the territory of Busoga all have their own legislative bodies and administrations apart from the national parliament and administration.

Such traditional rulers as the Kyabazinga of Busoga, the Omukama of Bunyoro, the Omugabe of Ankole, the Omukama of Toro and the Kabaka of Buganda compete with the prime minister for prestige. On a lower level are dozens of chiefs among 28 tribes.

Except in Kampala, the ordinary man of Uganda never raises his sights above the local chief except for the Omukamas and the Kabaka.

The most important, the most sartorially gorgeous and probably the wisest of these state rulers is the Kabaka Mutesa II of Buganda, who was known as Freddie when he studied at Cambridge. He is 38.

The Kabaka has all the fancy uniforms of an honorary captain in Britain's Grenadier Guards plus ceremonial garments of scarlet and gold and fancy hats of tradition. He drives about Kampala in a Rolls-Royce and lives in a palace with 110 servants.

The Kabaka's state of Buganda is the most populous, richest and most important politically. One of the most disruptive disputes in the new nation involves differences between Buganda and the state of Bunyoro over the counties of Buyaga and Bugangazzi, claimed by both states.

COALITION

Obote is prime minister by virtue of a coalition with the Kabaka's party, Kabaka Yekka (Kabaka Only). Obote's United People's Congress holds 38 seats, Kabaka Yekka 12 and the Democratic Party 24.

The Kabaka is ambitious. With his people growing three-fourths of the coffee and one-third of the cotton, the two main export items, he can exert great pressure.

Obote, impressed but not subdued by the Kabaka's stature, is a plain man with a ready smile.

An unpretentious man, he refused to move into the prime minister's luxurious office, preferring the cramped office he knew when he was leader of the opposition.

The prime minister is outstanding among African leaders for one thing: He does not orate at length about neo - colonialism whenever foreign investment is mentioned.

At his first news conference after independence, he said:

"For nearly 70 years we have been under British protection. The British administration has done a wonderful job in education, health, water resources and economic affairs and has founded quite a lot on the materialistic side and also in the cultural sense."

Ohioan Lynn Heinzerland, an Associated Press specialist in African affairs, won a Pulitzer prize for his reporting of the aftermath of Congo independence.

Historic Days Occurring At The Eternal City

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—These are historic days for the Eternal City—these days of The Ecumenical Council, Vatican II.

There never has been such a gathering of prelates in the annals of the church of Rome. Assembled here are the spiritual leaders of 500 million people—possibly five times more than lived in Rome's whole ancient empire at its height.

How are modern Romans taking the council?

Some with excitement: School children and government employes had a day off when the council opened. Up to 150,000 Romans and tourists flocked to St. Peter's Square to see an inaugural procession of white-robed prelates.

Some with curiosity: All Italian newspapers, including the Communist dailies, have used their biggest type for banner headlines, vying for customers curious to read all about the council.

Some with calm: Italians go on enjoying their biggest economic boom in history, buying cars and refrigerators and other items that once were luxuries. Alert businessmen cash in on every opportunity, including the chance to sell Ecumenical Council souvenirs.

The council may last a year, and Romans are preparing to live with it.

Walk down the Via Veneto, the city's fashionable boulevard of sidewalk cafes and expensive shops. The customers sip espresso coffee and watch the parade of Roman high life and low life. The city's movie studios are booming. The actresses and attriciette (Italian for starlets) don't miss a chance to be seen, and the busy free lance photographers don't miss a starlet.

Yet there's a difference these days. There are more young priests in the sidewalk crowds. They are here for the council from America and elsewhere. Like other visitors to Rome, they find their way to the Via Veneto for a pleasant evening stroll.

In cafes and markets, Romans talk about progressive prelates and conservative prelates in the same way they debate Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani's government.

There's also a food scandal. Every day government investigators are finding adulterated meat, phoney wine, bogus cheese. Housewives have little time for the council or other subjects, as they gossip about spoiled spaghetti, nagging neighbors and a servant scarcity.

Among the newspapers the Communist L'Unita has avoided direct attacks on the council while indirectly needling some participants. It commented that U.S. prelates were living in much more expensive Roman quarters than the prelates from Africa.

The pro-Communist Paese-Sera had a cartoon showing prelates and Pilgrims in St. Peter's Square. The devil slumped in a corner of the square—ignored.

Question Is How Long Is A Second

EDITOR'S NOTE — As time marches on so does man hurrying to keep up. The best he has done so far is a timepiece that doesn't lose or gain more than a second every 160,000 years. But unless you want to spend $100,000, don't count on it to get you up in time for the 7:21.

By STEPHEN M. AUG

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — How long is a second:

This is one of the questions scientists at the National Bureau of Standards laboratory here are trying to answer.

And what's more, they feel they are closer to the answer than ever before.

The importance of this instant of time, says Dr. John Richardson, chief of the radio standards laboratory, is manifold.

First, there is the need for accurate tracking of missiles and satellites through space.

Second, accurate time is invaluable in very long-range communication. And, since time is used to measure radio frequencies, it has assumed greater importance as the demand grows for more space on already congested wave lengths.

Frequency is useful also for those scientists who need to measure the properties of the earth's atmosphere, ionosphere, and magnetosphere by radio and electronics.

Richardson believes, however, that a major breakthrough is about to occur—probably by the end of the year. The big news is a new kind of atomic clock.

Atomic clocks, claimed by scientists to be more accurate timepieces than the age-old method of celestial timekeeping, are nothing new. The first such instrument was placed in service in 1948.

The cesium atomic clock was developed for the United States here by Dr. R. C. Mockler and physicist Roger Beehler, based on earlier work in England by Dr. L. Essen.

The clock worked on the constant vibration of an atom of cesium — 9,192,631,770 times per second. Since 1959 this clock has provided the United States with a standard frequency and time interval with an accuracy equivalent to a loss or gain of one second in 3,000 years.

Mockler and Beehler now say that with refinements, the cesium clock can be ready with an accuracy of one second in 160,000 years, although they say it hasn't operated long enough to prove its long-range stability to that degree.

The big breakthrough, however, is in the use of a new element —thallium.

DURING LAST WEEK

Drop Registered In Completions Of Area Wells

Completions in the Monroe Oil & Gas District fell by more than half last week, but still left drilling in the 14 parish area at unseasonably high rates. Drillers reported a total of nine finals at week's end to District Manager Duncan S. Cook. There were two recompletions.

Of new locations over the area, there was 30, three of them in Ouachita Parish in the Monroe Gas Field. At least 32 rigs were actively drilling or testing, with three of them again in Ouachita Parish.

Completions during the week came in LaSalle Parish, where there were three ranging from 1320 feet in depth to 3421 feet, two in Union Parish, the Monroe Field, and one each in Tensas, Rapides, Catahoula and Concordia Parishes.

The total on new locations also included nine staked in Catahoula Parish, five in Union and others in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Concordia, Franklin, LaSalle, Rapides and Tensas Parishes.

Of the active rigs in Ouachita Parish, two were drilling in the Monroe Field, one of them at 1900 feet on Police Jury property at the G. B. Cooley Hospital, and one well was testing in the Chenniere Field. Drilling or testing were six rigs in Catahoula Parish, six in LaSalle and five in Tensas to make up the bulk of activity. Others were in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Richland, Rapides, Madison and Concordia Parishes.

Recompletions included, both in the Monroe Field, United Carbon Co's Williams No. 1 (section 10-19-5E) in Ouachita Parish, and the same firm's E. Nichols No. 4 (section 31-21-3E) in Union Parish.

Elsewhere in the week's activity, 15 wells were abandoned, moving the total on inactive sites to 128, and locations numbered 64, of which 44 were drilling.

Following is a closer look at Cook's breakdown on the area's completions, new locations and active rigs, as released through State Conservation Commission offices here Saturday:

Wildcat Test Drilled Below 10,000 Feet

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Cities Service Petroleum Co. drilled below 10,000 feet today in its closely-watched Greene County wildcat, the Robinson Land Co. No. 1, sec. 15-4n-8w, located near the abandoned Sand Hill oil field.

The test is scheduled to be drilled to 13,000 feet, and recovered approximately 705 feet on 26 gravity oil on drill stem test run in open hole at 7,876-97 feet.

The Sand Hill field was discovered in 1949, and was abandoned in 1961 with only one producing well in the area. The well produced a total of 50,582 barrels of oil in a sand at 7,804-12 feet before it was abandoned.

Larco Drilling Co., Best & Launius are preparing to erect a pumping unit at their Amite County discovery, the Whittington No. 1, sec. 4-2n-1e, located about two miles southwest of the East Fork field. The wildcat has been under test for the past two weeks from perforations in the lower Tuscaloosa formation at 11,295-303 feet, with the well flowing at the rate of 50 barrels of oil per day with low flowing pressure.

A new wildcat test is underway in Hancock County with Marshall R. Young drilling below 2,100 feet in his O'Toole No. 1, sec. 7-7s-14w, about 11 miles northwest of Bay St. Louis. The venture is scheduled to be drilled 10,800 feet. Hancock County has only two producing fields, the Ansley Field and the Kiln Field, with the new test located four miles north of the Kiln Field.

In Jefferson Davis County, Sun Oil Co. is drilling below 12,000 feet in its wildcat, the Dyess No. 1, sec. 29-6n-17w, a 14,500 feet try.

Sun Oil Co. is clearing location for its wildcat test in Clarke County to explore the possibility of smackover lime production. The new test is the Long Bell Petroleum Co. No. 1, sec. 34-4n-16e, and will be drilled to contract depth of 11,500 feet. The only smackover lime production to date in Mississippi is in the Loring field of Madison County which is productive of sour gas.

In the Hardrock Country of northeast Mississippi, Blanco Oil Co., and Fairchild Oil Co. are below 3,700 feet and nearing contract depty in their Chickasaw County wildcat, the unit 33-1 sec. 33-13s-4e, with the well scheduled to be drilled to 3,800 feet.

Triad Oil & Gas Co.'s drilling below 8,100 feet in its interesting Covington County wildcat, the Rawls No. 1, sec. 20-9n-16w, located near Mt. Olive. The test has contract depth of 13,800 feet.

Field drilling during the past week saw one oil well and one gas well completed. In the Junction City field of Clarke County, Socony Mobil finaled its Broadhead No. 1, sec. 14-2n-16e, as a duel producer. A sand at 2,840 feet pumped 144 barrels of oil per day, and the second zone at 3,694 feet pumped 10 barrels of oil daily.

At Knoxo in Walthall County, Texaco, Inc., completed its Fernwood Lbr. Co. No. C-1, sec 5-2n-12e, flowing 5,820,000 cubic feet of gas per day from perforations at 12,922-32 feet and 12,576-96 feet.

In the Summerland Field on the Covington County side, Triad Oil & Gas Co. completed its Gambrell No. 4, sec. 4-9n-14w, flowing at the rate of 194 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 9,404-18 feet.

Heavy Loss Suffered By Stock Mart

Volume Boost Adds Emphasis To Sharp Drop

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market took its worst loss in three weeks as Wall Street's pessimism deepened last week amid uninspiring news.

Volume also swelled to the largest total in three weeks, emphasizing the conviction in the decline.

By week's end, the Dow Jones industrial average was down 13.8 to 573.29. This put it close to the level of 571, which served as a support July 18 and Oct. 1. Rallies followed from that point.

The question for the week ahead is: Will the list rally again from the same level or will it break through to a deeper "floor" — possibly to the year's low of 535.76 reached last June 26.

In the week just ended, however, the market answered a question which bothered the financial community for the previous two weeks of indecision: Is the market headed upward or downward? The answer was, conclusively, "downward" this week.

The worst decline was Friday, when the news background might have entitled traders to hopes of a rally, if general sentiment had not been so bearish. The Federal Reserve Board cut reserve requirements of member banks to 4 per cent from 5 per cent, apparently to insure business an ample supply of lendable funds. This action, while stimulating in the long run, seemed to signify to Wall Street that the economy was not in very good shape and needed some kind of medication.

The result was that tickers ran late in the wake of the news Friday, when more than four million shares were piled up and traders rushed to unload.

The market's fall was accompanied by a rise in bearish sentiment as reflected by an increase in the short position on the New York Stock Exchange to near-record levels. This is the total of borrowed stock sold with the intention of repaying the stock with shares bought at lower prices in the future.

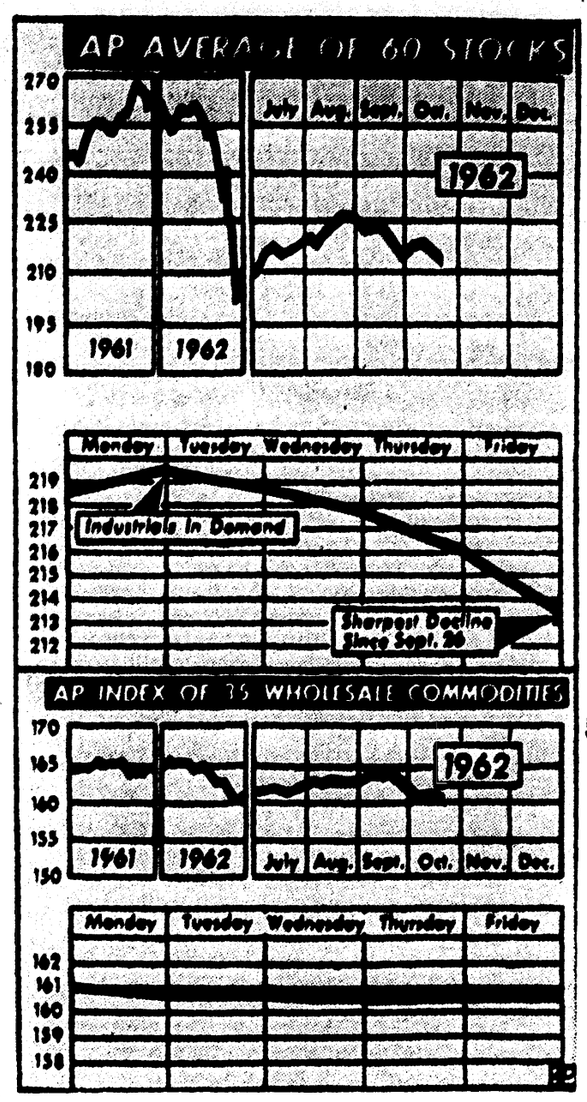
Because short sale contracts represent commitments to buy stock in the future — or acquire it somehow to repay the loans — the total "short interest" is supposed to be technically bullish. But it didn't work out that way this time.

Analysts said the general market tone was so weak that few "shorts" were scared into covering their contracts.

Volume was 16,682,390 shares compared with 11,822,758 the previous, semi-holiday week, highest since 18,564,370 in the week ended Sept. 29.

The associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 4.9 to 213.6, the sharpest decline since the week ended Sept. 29, when the average fell 5.0 points.

U.S. Government bonds reached their highest levels of 1962 during the week and corporates inched ahead to their ninth gain the past 10 weeks. Corporate volume rose to $20,257,000 par value on the Exchange from $16,280,000 for the previous, semi holiday week, which was the lowest in six years.



THE ASSOCIATED Press average of 60 stocks declined this week, closing at 213.6 Friday, down from 218.5 a week ago. This was the sharpest weekly drop since Sept. 28. The commodity index eased, closing at 160.6, down from 161.0 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

SESSION THIS YEAR

Congress Takes Little Oil Action

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The 87th Congress took little action on major issues involving oil and gas.

Extension of the 4-cent federal tax on gasoline through 1972 was the only significant defeat suffered by the industry.

This was a bitter pill but it was offset by the defeat of two Senate floor amendments that would have cut the industry's controversial 27½ per cent depletion tax allowance.

Independent producers, assisted by some major firms, fought vigorously for stronger oil imports controls. They lost in both House and Senate but the new foreign trade bill retained the national defense clause which led to mandatory controls on foreign oil.

There was no action on legislation to clarify the Federal Power Commission's (FPC) authority to control wellhead prices of natural gas sold into interstate commerce for resale.

Neither Congress nor the industry pressed for action on gas price controls. There was indication of some impatience toward the end of the session but both sides, for the most part, appeared content to let the FPC have a fair chance to develop the area pricing formula adopted in 1960.

A special study group appointed by the Senate interior committee probably gave oilmen their biggest victory of the 87th session.

The group was assigned the job of studying the coal industry's contention Congress should adopt a national fuels policy. The group recommended no legislation and supported oil's position the nation has a sound fuels policy based on free and open competition among fuels.

The issue is not dead but oilmen believe they have scored a discouraging blow to anyone who might propose end use controls over oil and gas.

While oil and gas, in general, had a relatively quiet 1961-1962 in Washington, the 88th Congress of 1963-1964 may be a sharp contrast. There is some indication the showdown on depletion allowances will get under way next year.

President Kennedy's tax message could get the showdown into motion.

The Treasury Department has been studying the overall tax program nor some while and administration leaders have indicated there will be specific recommendations on depleaion allowances.

President Kennedy's tax message last year contained no recommendations on percentage depletion.

There have been eight unsuccessful efforts since 1951 to cut oil's 27½ per cent allowance. All eight resulted from amendments offered from the floor of the Senate.

An administration backed proposal, however, undoubtedly would lead to full scale committee hearings and the first overall review of percentage depletion since it was enacted in 1926.

Oil's top spokesman in Washington indicated last week the industry will be ready for such a review.

Frank N. Ikard, executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute (API), said the industry, in some ways, welcomes constant examination of percentage depletion.

"We don't seem to be able to avoid it, anyway," said Ikard, who was a member of the House Ways and Means Committee when he resigned as a Texas congressman last year to accept the API appointment.

"But each time the provision is examined carefully and objectively, a few more people begin to appreciate the importance and necessity of this provision in the tax law," Ikard said.

Cotton Futures Are Up Despite Final-Day Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — Futures prices on the New York Cotton Exchange moved steadily upward most of the week and closed ahead despite some final - day weakness.

Prices closed the week up 40 cents to $2.95. When trading expired Monday on the October, 1962 delivery, its price was $1.55 higher than its previous close.

Market strength came chiefly from price fixing in near months and short covering in distant months. Counter forces were limited hedge selling and some profit taking. Final-day weakness was laid to slower demand rather than heavier selling agriculture.

The market was little affected by a Department of Agriculture statement on upland cotton allotments because the department said this might well be changed with new legislation.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated at 22,000 bales against 58,000 the previous week and 40,000 the same week a year earlier. For the season so far, exports have totaled 366,000 bales against 1,085,000 in the same period in 1961.

Federal Move On Credit Is Week's High

Lag In Economy Still Unchanged; Spurts Are Few

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Action by the Federal Reserve Board to loosen credit and thereby perk up the national economy was a highlight of a week in which the economy badly needed a lift.

Business continued to move sluggishly, with only a tiny spurt here and a little sputter there to relieve the week-to-week sameness.

The reserve action, reducing from 5 to 4 per cent the amount banks must keep on reserve to back time and savings deposits, could free $4.6 billion for business expansion.

But the financial community commented that making money available doesn't automatically mean a businessman will borrow it, not unless he's convinced he can make a profit by doing so.

The way things have been going lately, profits don't seem a sure thing.

The Business Council, embracing 100 top corporate chiefs, spoke of doldrums lasting deep into the next year. Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, while insisting he expects things to get better next year, said business "is going to be a little slow for a few months."

Steel production during the week again refused to break away from depressed levels.

Price reductions have generally balanced off any rises. New cars are selling for about the same prices as last year.

The Federal Reserve announced that industrial production in September was almost exactly the same as the previous two months. Department store sales are unchanged from a year ago.

The stock market spent most of the week within a tight range in slow trading.

Talk of a recession in the United States is being joined by international speculation that Europe may be in for deflation and its own kind of economic problems.

On the cheerier side, auto sales continue to boom, one prominent economist foresees an econmic upsurge next year, airline traffic is setting records and tax revision legislation to perk up business was signed into law.

Steel production was announced as $746,000 tons of ingots, exactly the same as the previous week and therefore disappointing to those who were hoping for a seasonal upturn.

Steel magazine said, however, that most producers foresee a gain in shipments of about 5 to 10 per cent for the month, and a similar gain again in November.

The current dullness in the steel market fits in with the general picture drawn by the Federal Reserve Board of the economy last month.

It listed the output of mines, factories and utilities at an index of 119, the same as the July and August levels. That was 19 per cent higher than the 1957 average used as a base.

This plateau-likce conomy is being interpreted by many economists as meaning there's a downhill slide not far away.

Swedish economist Per Jaiobsson, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, warned meanwhile that world overcapacity in some major industries could lead to worldwide business-stalling deflation. He said Western nations should apply economic stimulants next year to prevent this.

A quite different analysis comes, however, from the chief economist of F. W. Dodge Corp., the firm that publishes statistics and magazines for the construction trade.

The economist, Dr. Gordon W. McKinley, predicted that tax reform will come next year and that it will revitalize the nation's economy. He said the effect could well be striking.

In other developments on the business scene:

Dorsey Richardson, a long-time leader of the mutual fund industry, was selected as the first full-time paid head of the Investment Company Institute, and George A. Strichman of International Telephone & Telegraph was selected president of Fairbanks Whitney Corp . . . The Soviet Union said its industrial production jumped 9.5 per cent in the first nine months of the year—but didn't say what it meant in dollars or rubles.

The Du Pont Co. and Dow Chemical Co. each reported record sales, Du Pont for the last nine months and Dow for the last quarter.

The Tech president is under contract to write a biography of Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

CONCERT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The aim of the newest recording of Bach's St. Matthew Passion was to make it sound the way the composer would have liked to hear it sound. That was a row hard to hoe because no one can have much idea of Bach's performance preferences and it's a high compliment to say the enterprise produced a projection that is both moving to moderns and an honor to Bach (Angel-3599).

You would have expected such an outcome, of course. The conductor was Otto Klemperer whose interpretative intuitions invariably have both substance and sense. Poor Bach, who had miserable singers to work with, would have been delighted with Klemperer's array, one may be sure. They comprised Dietrich Fischer - Dieskau, Peter Pears, Elisabeth Schwarzkof, Christa Ludwig, Nicolai Gedda and Walter Berry.

The orchestra and chorus were the Philharmonia of London, both beautifully drilled and minutely responsive to the conductor's feeling for Passion in both the religious and the dramatic meanings. There is respect for Bach's limited concepts of performing forces — one is overwhelmed neither by orchestra and chorus. The stereo recording gets over the Bachian placement of the forces, that is orchestra backed by chorus on the left and another orchestra and chorus to the right, with the soloists between them.

Another stereo record of Bach, with the same expansive reality is of the eminent organist, Carl Weinrich, playing representative Bach organ music on the noble-sounding organ at the General Theological Seminary in New York. Weinrich's musicality is so keenly attuned to the composer there is no trace of pedantry in it. The pieces played include the Prelude and Fugue called "St. Anne's" and the Toccata and Fugue called "Dorian" (RCA Victor-2557).

Ernest Ansermet, conducting his "L'Orchestre de la Suisse Romande," performs Bach with unabashed modernity and if anything the music is glorified by such familiar handling. He recorded the 2nd and 3rd orchestra suites, the sonata from the 31st cantata and the sonfonia from the 12th cantata (London-6243.)

Diana Chesney of the CBS Television Network's "Fair Exchange" comes of a British Army family dating back four generations in the service.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Irving Berlin came out of retirement at the age of 74 to write a new musical and Enoch Light gave him a grandiose "Welcome Home."

Berlin's new musical, "The President," should be a hit and so should "Enoch Light and His Orchestra at Carnegie Hall Play Irving Berlin" (Command RS840SE).

Light has put together in one LP some of Berlin's finest songs in excellent arrangements. Again Light uses his Stereo 35 mm process, the transferring of sound from 35 millimeter magnetic film to the phonograph record. Here is a great achievement in sound.

"The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm" by David Rose and His Orchestra (MGM E-4077) is another noteworthy recording. Rose exercises his imagination to add more tonal color to the happy score which Bob Merrill wrote for the new Cinerama movie. The second side contains numbers from other film favorites, among them "Till There Was You" from "The Music Man" and "Around the World in 80 Days."

For Teen - Agers: "All the Hits" by Bobby Rydell (Cameo C 1019). Bobby reprises a dozen songs which have made him one of the most talked - about young singers of the year. This selection ranges from "I'll Never Dance Again" to "The One Who Really Loves You."

Selected Singles — "Fly Ezekiel" by the Smothers Brothers (Mercury 72027), "Tell It to The Birds" by Dore Alpert (Dot 45-16396), "The Defenders Theme" by Nelson Riddle (Captitol 4843), "Song for Belly Dancer" from Irving Berlin's "Mr. President" by Ralph Burns and his Orchestra (Epic 5-9535).

This Week's Special — "La Dolce Henke" by Mel Hinke (Warner Bros. W1471). WB became so excited about Henke's musical magic and O. Henrish endings that it rushed copies with mimeographed labels to reviewers and radio stations. Henke is relatively an oldtimer in show business and this is his best effort.

LP's of the Week — Mono. "Merman . . . her Greatest! (Reprise R-6032). Almost all of Ethel Merman's recordings have been in Broadway shows. This is one of her rare offstage LP's and includes all the famous songs associated with her. Stereo: "Fiddle Faddle" by The Boston Pops Orch. (RCA Victor LSC - 2638). Arthur Fiedler conducts 12 Leroy Anderson favorites, including "Blue Tango" and "Sleigh Ride."

HOWARD S. LEES, marketing manager of Reily Chemical Co. in New Orleans, will be the speaker at the Sales Executive club Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Paragon club. Subject of his discussion will be "Schooling the Salesman".

Corn Futures Show Decline During Week

CHICAGO (AP) —Corn futures suffered a dismal week on the Board of Trade last week, moving down in four of the five sessions and ending at or below the year's previous lows.

The performance of soybeans wasn't much stronger. The August delivery contract ended the week at the low mark for the year and all other futures except November finished at their lows for the week.

Wheat futures were generally strong throughout the week. The bread cereal opened higher Monday on an unconfirmed report that the government was taking a new look at its program for subsidizing the exports of surplus grain and might include soft red winter wheat.

Prices dropped back Tuesday because there was no confirmation until after the market close, but continued the rally Wednesday until halted by profit taking.

Wheat futures didn't make much headway again until near the market's close Friday, when short covering pushed most contracts into the plus column.

Corn hasn't been able to generate any appreciable steam since the Commodity Credit Corporation announced the previous week that it would sell surplus grain at market prices.

So far, there hasn't been any real heavy government domestic selling.

DURING LAST WEEK

Drop Registered In Completions Of Area Wells

Completions in the Monroe Oil & Gas District fell by more than half last week, but still left drilling in the 14 parish area at unseasonably high rates. Drillers reported a total of nine finals at week's end to District Manager Duncan S. Cook. There were two recompletions.

Of new locations over the area, there was 30, three of them in Ouachita Parish in the Monroe Gas Field. At least 32 rigs were actively drilling or testing, with three of them again in Ouachita Parish.

Completions during the week came in LaSalle Parish, where there were three ranging from 1320 feet in depth to 3421 feet, two in Union Parish, the Monroe Field, and one each in Tensas, Rapides, Catahoula and Concordia Parishes.

The total on new locations also included nine staked in Catahoula Parish, five in Union and others in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Concordia, Franklin, LaSalle, Rapides and Tensas Parishes.

Of the active rigs in Ouachita Parish, two were drilling in the Monroe Field, one of them at 1900 feet on Police Jury property at the G. B. Cooley Hospital, and one well was testing in the Chenniere Field. Drilling or testing were six rigs in Catahoula Parish, six in LaSalle and five in Tensas to make up the bulk of activity. Others were in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Richland, Rapides, Madison and Concordia Parishes.

Recompletions included, both in the Monroe Field, United Carbon Co's Williams No. 1 (section 10-19-5E) in Ouachita Parish, and the same firm's E. Nichols No. 4 (section 31-21-3E) in Union Parish.

Elsewhere in the week's activity, 15 wells were abandoned, moving the total on inactive sites to 128, and locations numbered 64, of which 44 were drilling.

Following is a closer look at Cook's breakdown on the area's completions, new locations and active rigs, as released through State Conservation Commission offices here Saturday:

Wildcat Test Drilled Below 10,000 Feet

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Cities Service Petroleum Co. drilled below 10,000 feet today in its closely-watched Greene County wildcat, the Robinson Land Co. No. 1, sec. 15-4n-8w, located near the abandoned Sand Hill oil field.

The test is scheduled to be drilled to 13,000 feet, and recovered approximately 705 feet on 26 gravity oil on drill stem test run in open hole at 7,876-97 feet.

The Sand Hill field was discovered in 1949, and was abandoned in 1961 with only one producing well in the area. The well produced a total of 50,582 barrels of oil in a sand at 7,804-12 feet before it was abandoned.

Larco Drilling Co., Best & Launius are preparing to erect a pumping unit at their Amite County discovery, the Whittington No 1, sec. 4-2n-te, located about two miles southwest of the East Fork field. The wildcat has been under test for the past two weeks from perforations in the lower Tuscaloosa formation at 11,295-303 feet, with the well flowing at the rate of 50 barrels of oil per day with low flowing pressure.

A new wildcat test is underway in Hancock County with Marshall R. Young drilling below 2,100 feet in his O'Toole No. 1, sec. 7-7s-14w, about 11 miles northwest of Bay St. Louis. The venture is scheduled to be drilled 10,800 feet. Hancock County has only two producing fields, the Ansley Field and the Kiln Field, with the new test located four miles north of the Kiln Field.

In Jefferson Davis County, Sun Oil Co. is drilling below 12,000 feet in its wildcat, the Dyess No. 1, sec. 29-6n-17w, a 14,500 feet try.

Sun Oil Co. is clearing location for its wildcat test in Clarke County to explore the possibility of smackover lime production. The new test is the Long Bell Petroleum Co. No. 1, sec. 34-4n-16e, and will be drilled to contract depth of 11,500 feet. The only smackover lime production to date in Mississippi is in the Loring field of Madison County which is productive of sour gas.

In the Hardrock Country of northeast Mississippi, Blanco Oil Co., and Fairchild Oil Co. are below 3,700 feet and nearing contract depty in their Chickasaw County wildcat, the unit 33-1 sec. 33-13s-4e, with the well scheduled to be drilled to 3,800 feet.

Triad Oil & Gas Co.'s drilling below 8,100 feet in its interesting Covington County wildcat, the Rawls No. 1, sec. 20-9n-16w, located near Mt. Olive. The test has contract depth of 13,800 feet.

Field drilling during the past week saw one oil well and one gas well completed. In the Junction City field of Clarke County, Socony Mobil finaled its Broadhead No. 1, sec. 14-2n-16e, as a duel producer. A sand at 2,840 feet pumped 144 barrels of oil per day, and the second zone at 3,694 feet pumped 10 barrels of oil daily.

At Knoxo in Walthall County, Texaco, Inc., completed its Fernwood Lbr. Co. No. C-1, sec 5-2n-12e, flowing 5,820,000 cubic feet of gas per day from perforations at 12,922-32 feet and 12,576-86 feet.

In the Summerland Field on the Covington County side, Triad Oil & Gas Co. completed its Gambrell No. 4, sec. 4-9n-14w, flowing at the rate of 194 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 9,404-18 feet.

Heavy Loss Suffered By Stock Mart

Volume Boost Adds Emphasis To Sharp Drop

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market took its worst loss in three weeks as Wall Street's pessimism deepened last week amid uninspiring news.

Volume also swelled to the largest total in three weeks, emphasizing the conviction in the decline.

By week's end, the Dow Jones industrial average was down 13.8 to 573.29. This put it close to the level of 571, which served as a support July 18 and Oct. 1. Rallies followed from that point.

The question for the week ahead is: Will the list rally again from the same level or will it break through to a deeper "floor" — possibly to the year's low of 535.76 reached last June 26.

In the week just ended, however, the market answered a question which bothered the financial community for the previous two weeks of indecision: Is the market headed upward or downward? The answer was, conclusively, "downward" this week.

The worst decline was Friday, when the news background might have entitled traders to hopes of a rally, if general sentiment had not been so bearish. The Federal Reserve Board cut reserve requirements of member banks to 4 per cent from 5 per cent, apparently to insure business an ample supply of lendable funds. This action, while stimulating in the long run, seemed to signify to Wall Street that the economy was not in very good shape and needed some kind of medication.

The result was that tickers ran late in the wake of the news Friday, when more than four million shares were piled up and traders rushed to unload.

The market's fall was accompanied by a rise in bearish sentiment as reflected by an increase in the short position on the New York Stock Exchange to near-record levels. This is the total of borrowed stock sold with the intention of repaying the stock with shares bought at lower prices in the future.

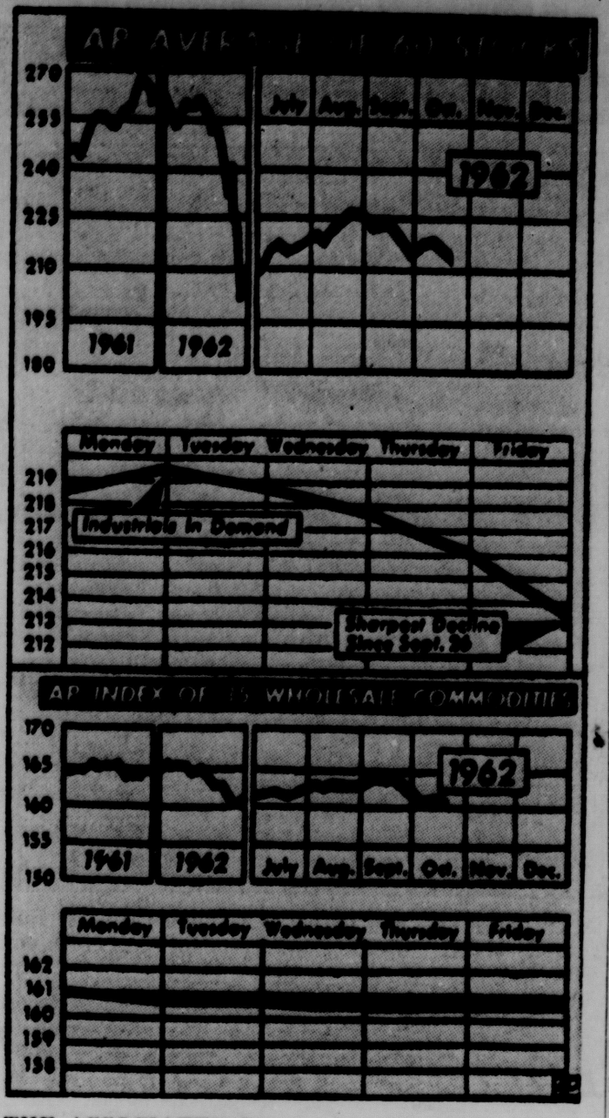
Because short sale contracts represent commitments to buy stock in the future — or acquire it somehow to repay the loans — the total "short interest" is supposed to be technically bullish. But it didn't work out that way this time.

Analysts said the general market tone was so weak that few "shorts" were scared into covering their contracts.

Volume was 16,682,390 shares compared with 11,822,758 the previous, semi-holiday week, highest since 18,564,370 in the week ended Sept. 29.

The associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 4.9 to 213.6, the sharpest decline since the week ended Sept. 29, when the average fell 5.0 points.

U.S. Government bonds reached their highest levels of 1962 during the week and corporates inched ahead to their ninth gain the past 10 weeks. Corporate volume rose to $20,257,000 par value on the Exchange from $16,280,000 for the previous, semi holiday week, which was the lowest in six years.



THE ASSOCIATED Press average of 60 stocks declined this week, closing at 213.6 Friday, down from 218.5 a week ago. This was the sharpest weekly drop since Sept. 28. The commodity index eased, closing at 160.6, down from 161.0 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

SESSION THIS YEAR

Congress Takes Little Oil Action

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The 87th Congress took little action on major issues involving oil and gas.

Extension of the 4-cent federal tax on gasoline through 1972 was the only significant defeat suffered by the industry.

This was a bitter pill but it was offset by the defeat of two Senate floor amendments that would have cut the industry's controversial 27½ per cent depletion tax allowance.

Independent producers, assisted by some major firms, fought vigorously for stronger oil imports controls. They lost in both House and Senate but the new foreign trade bill retained the national defense clause which led to mandatory controls on foreign oil.

There was no action on legislation to clarify the Federal Power Commission's (FPC) authority to control wellhead prices of natural gas sold into interstate commerce for resale.

Neither Congress nor the industry pressed for action on gas price controls. There was indication of some impatience toward the end of the session but both sides, for the most part, appeared content to let the FPC have a fair chance to develop the area pricing formula adopted in 1960.

A special study group appointed by the Senate interior committee probably gave oilmen their biggest victory of the 87th session.

The group was assigned the job of studying the coal industry's contention Congress should adopt a national fuels policy. The group recommended no legislation and supported oil's position the nation has a sound fuels policy based on free and open competition among fuels.

The issue is not dead but oilmen believe they have scored a discouraging blow to anyone who might propose end use controls over oil and gas.

While oil and gas, in general, had a relatively quiet 1961-1962 in Washington, the 88th Congress of 1963-1964 may be a sharp contrast. There is some indication the showdown on depletion allowances will get under way next year.

President Kennedy's tax message could get the showdown into motion.

The Treasury Department has been studying the overall tax program nor some while and administration leaders have indicated there will be specific recommendations on depleaion allowances.

President Kennedy's tax message last year contained no recommendations on percentage depletion.

There have been eight unsuccessful efforts since 1951 to cut oil's 27½ per cent allowance. All eight resulted from amendments offered from the floor of the Senate.

An administration backed proposal, however, undoubtedly would lead to full scale committee hearings and the first overall review of percentage depletion since it was enacted in 1926.

Oil's top spokesman in Washington indicated last week the industry will be ready for such a review.

Frank N. Ikard, executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute (API), said the industry, in some ways, welcomes constant examination of percentage depletion.

"We don't seem to be able to avoid it, anyway," said Ikard, who was a member of the House Ways and Means Committee when he resigned as a Texas congressman last year to accept the API appointment.

"But each time the provision is examined carefully and objectively, a few more people begin to appreciate the importance and necessity of this provision in the tax law," Ikard said.

Cotton Futures Are Up Despite Final-Day Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — Futures prices on the New York Cotton Exchange moved steadily upward most of the week and closed ahead despite some final - day weakness.

Prices closed the week up 40 cents to $2.95. When trading expired Monday on the October, 1962 delivery, its price was $1.55 higher than its previous close.

Market strength came chiefly from price fixing in near months and short covering in distant months. Counter forces were limited hedge selling and some profit taking. Final-day weakness was laid to slower demand rather than heavier selling agriculture.

The market was little affected by a Department of Agriculture statement on upland cotton allotments because the department said this might well be changed with new legislation.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated at 22,000 bales against 58,000 the previous week and 40,000 the same week a year earlier. For the season so far, exports have totaled 366,000 bales against 1,085,000 in the same period in 1961.

Federal Move On Credit Is Week's High

Lag In Economy Still Unchanged; Spurts Are Few

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Action by the Federal Reserve Board to loosen credit and thereby perk up the national economy was a highlight of a week in which the economy badly needed a lift.

Business continued to move sluggishly, with only a tiny spurt here and a little sputter there to relieve the week-to-week sameness.

The reserve action, reducing from 5 to 4 per cent the amount banks must keep on reserve to back time and savings deposits, could free $4.6 billion for business expansion.

But the financial community commented that making money available doesn't automatically mean a businessman will borrow it, not unless he's convinced he can make a profit by doing so.

The way things have been going lately, profits don't seem a sure thing.

The Business Council, embracing 100 top corporate chiefs, spoke of doldrums lasting deep into the next year. Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, while insisting he expects things to get better next year, said business "is going to be a little slow for a few months."

Steel production during the week again refused to break away from depressed levels.

Price reductions have generally balanced off any rises. New cars are selling for about the same prices as last year.

The Federal Reserve announced that industrial production in September was almost exactly the same as the previous two months. Department store sales are unchanged from a year ago.

The stock market spent most of the week within a tight range in slow trading.

Talk of a recession in the United States is being joined by international speculation that Europe may be in for deflation and its own kind of economic problems.

On the cheerier side, auto sales continue to boom, one prominent economist foresees an econmic upsurge next year, airline traffic is setting records and tax revision legislation to perk up business was signed into law.

Steel production was announced as $746,000 tons of ingots, exactly the same as the previous week and therefore disappointing to those who were hoping for a seasonal upturn.

Steel magazine said, however, that most producers foresee a gain in shipments of about 5 to 10 per cent for the month, and a similar gain again in November.

The current dullness in the steel market fits in with the general picture drawn by the Federal Reserve Board of the economy last month.

It listed the output of mines, factories and utilities at an index of 119, the same as the July and August levels. That was 19 per cent higher than the 1957 average used as a base.

This plateau-likee conomy is being interpreted by many economists as meaning there's a downhill slide not far away.

Swedish economist Per Jaiobsson, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, warned meanwhile that world overcapacity in some major industries could lead to worldwide business-stalling deflation. He said Western nations should apply economic stimulants next year to prevent this.

A quite different analysis comes, however, from the chief economist of F. W. Dodge Corp., the firm that publishes statistics and magazines for the construction trade.

The economist, Dr. Gordon W. McKinley, predicted that tax reform will come next year and that it will revitalize the nation's economy. He said the effect could well be striking.

In other developments on the business scene:

Dorsey Richardson, a long-time leader of the mutual fund industry, was selected as the first full-time paid head of the Investment Company Institute, and George A. Strichman of International Telephone & Telegraph was selected president of Fairbanks Whitney Corp . . . The Soviet Union said its industrial production jumped 9.5 per cent in the first nine months of the year—but didn't say what it meant in dollars or rubles.

The Du Pont Co. and Dow Chemical Co. each reported record sales, Du Pont for the last nine months and Dow for the last quarter.

He will give a review of one of his books, "Reluctant Rebel: The Secret Diary of Robert Patrick, 1861-65," published in 1959.

The Tech president is under contract to write a biography of Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

CONCERT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The aim of the newest recording of Bach's St. Matthew Passion was to make it sound the way the composer would have liked to hear it sound. That was a row hard to hoe because no one can have much idea of Bach's performance preferences and it's a high compliment to say the enterprise produced a projection that is both moving to moderns and an honor to Bach (Angel-3599).

You would have expected such an outcome, of course. The conductor was Otto Klemperer whose interpretative intuitions invariably have both substance and sense. Poor Bach, who had miserable singers to work with, would have been delighted with Klemperer's array, one may be sure. They comprised Dietrich Fischer - Dieskau, Peter Pears, Elisabeth Schwarzkof, Christa Ludwig, Nicolai Gedda and Walter Berry.

The orchestra and chorus were the Philharmonia of London, both beautifully drilled and minutely responsive to the conductor's feeling for Passion in both the religious and the dramatic meanings. There is respect for Bach's limited concepts of performing forces — one is overwhelmed reither by orchestra and chorus. The stereo recording gets over the Bachian placement of the forces, that is orchestra backed by chorus on the left and another orchestra and chorus to the right, with the soloists between them.

Another stereo record of Bach, with the same expansive reality is of the eminent organist, Carl Weinrich, playing representative Bach organ music on the noble-sounding organ at the General Theological Seminary in New York. Weinrich's musicality is so keenly attuned to the composer there is no trace of pedantry in it. The pieces played include the Prelude and Fugue called "St. Anne's" and the Toccata and Fugue called "Dorian" (RCA Victor-2557).

Ernest Ansermet, conducting his "L'Orchestre de la Suisse Romande," performs Bach with unabashed modernity and if anything the music is glorified by such familiar handling. He recorded the 2nd and 3rd orchestra suites, the sonata from the 31st cantata and the sonfonia from the 12th cantata (London-6243.)

Diana Chesney of the CBS Television Network's "Fair Exchange" comes of a British Army family dating back four generations in the service.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Irving Berlin came out of retirement at the age of 74 to write a new musical and Enoch Light gave him a grandiose "Welcome Home."

Berlin's new musical, "The President," should be a hit and so should "Enoch Light and His Orchestra at Carnegie Hall Play Irving Berlin" (Command RS840SE).

Light has put together in one LP some of Berlin's finest songs in excellent arrangements. Again Light uses his Stereo 35 mm process, the transferring of sound from 35 millimeter magnetic film to the phonograph record. Here is a great achievement in sound.

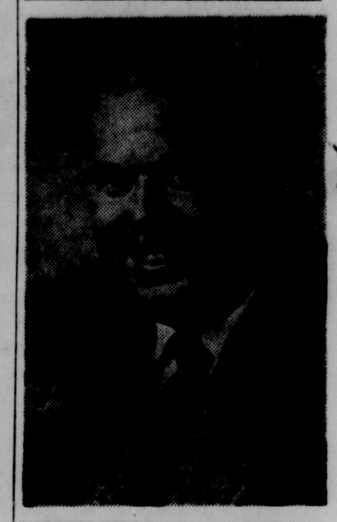
"The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm" by David Rose and His Orchestra (MGM E-4077) is another noteworthy recording. Rose exercises his imagination to add more tonal color to the happy score which Bob Merrill wrote for the new Cinerama movie. The second side contains numbers from other film favorites, among them "Till There Was You" from "The Music Man" and "Around the World in 80 Days."

For Teen - Agers: "All the Hits" by Bobby Rydell (Cameo C 1019). Bobby reprises a dozen songs which have made him one of the most talked - about young singers of the year. This selection ranges from "I'll Never Dance Again" to "The One Who Really Loves You."

Selected Singles — "Fly Ezekiel" by the Smothers Brothers (Mercury 72027), "Tell It to The Birds" by Dore Alpert (Dot 45-16396), "The Defenders Theme" by Nelson Riddle (Captitol 4843), "Song for Belly Dancer" from Irving Berlin's "Mr. President" by Ralph Burns and his Orchestra (Epic 5-9535).

This Week's Special — "La Dolce Henke" by Mel Hinke (Warner Bros. W1471). WB became so excited about Henke's musical magic and O. Henrish endings that it rushed copies with mimeographed labels to reviewers and radio stations. Henke is relatively an oldtimer in show business and this is his best effort.

LP's of the Week — Mono. "Merman . . . her Greatest! (Reprise R-6032). Almost all of Ethel Merman's recordings have been in Broadway shows. This is one of her rare offstage LP's and includes all the famous songs associated with her. Stereo: "Fiddle Faddle" by The Boston Pops Orch. (RCA Victor LSC - 2638). Arthur Fiedler conducts 12 Leroy Anderson favorites, including "Blue Tango" and "Sleigh Ride."



HOWARD S. LEES, marketing manager of Reily Chemical Co. in New Orleans, will be the speaker at the Sales Executive club Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Paragon club. Subject of his discussion will be "Schooling the Salesman".

Corn Futures Show Decline During Week

CHICAGO (AP) —Corn futures suffered a dismal week on the Board of Trade last week, moving down in four of the five sessions and ending at or below the year's previous lows.

The performance of soybeans wasn't much stronger. The August delivery contract ended the week at the low mark for the year and all other futures except November finished at their lows for the week.

Wheat futures were generally strong throughout the week. The bread cereal opened higher Monday on an unconfirmed report that the government was taking a new look at its program for subsidizing the exports of surplus grain and might include soft red winter wheat.

Prices dropped back Tuesday because there was no confirmation until after the market close, but continued the rally Wednesday until halted by profit taking.

Wheat futures didn't make much headway again until near the market's close Friday, when short covering pushed most contracts into the plus column.

Corn hasn't been able to generate any appreciable steam since the Commodity Credit Corporation announced the previous week that it would sell surplus grain at market prices.

So far, there hasn't been any real heavy government domestic selling.

Glittering Status Symbols Take Bows

By JOHN CALE

The lively arts livened up considerably on the local scene as of last Thursday. That was the day the pursurers of culture could have had a filmed opera, a popular ensemble or a "Solid Gold Cadillac" all at the same time if they possessed a flair for conflict.

The broken dose treatment was also possible, and it might be added Little Theatre's comedy, "Solid Gold Cadillac," has three nights remaining - - through Tuesday.

Those who were impressed by the guitar viruosity of Charlie Byrd in the Butterfield ensemble at Northeast last week will be interested to know that more of the same is in store on the La. Tech concert series opener.

The Romero family, consisting of a father and three sons, will perform flamenco and Spanish guitar numbers as that series gets underway in Ruston on October 30 and 31.

CONCERTS

The Northeast State Concert group has announced its 1962-63 season with a membership campaign slated to open in early November. Attractions will include the musical comedy, "Carnival," booked for December 10; the Vienna Choir Boys, January 29; the San Francisco Ballet, February 19, and the Dallas Symphony, March 6. There will also be several concerts by the Twin City Symphony and possibly one or more added professional bookings.

The schedule is notably free from conflicts with the La. Tech series of events, which is a point of interest to those who ride the I-20 route to high culture. The Dallas Symphony will perform here March 6, only one day after the Fred Waring program at Tech. But other attractions are spaced several days to more than a week apart.

BIG CITIES

News from the larger centers includes the acquisition of a symphony hall by the Shreveport symphony orchestra. The buildings not only gives the musical group a home station, but, according to cultural writer Weldon Jones of the Shreveport Times, the acoustics fit the "very good to excellent" category.

New Orleans cites a "sold out" performance for its Opera House Association's first performance, and will continue this week with Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro." Performances are scheduled for Thursday and Saturday and will star Lisa della Casa and Frances Bible.

BACK HOME

Allison Salley, organist and choirmaster at Grace Episcopal Church has announced a program for the fall series of Evensong programs beginning today at 4 p.m. Contemporary English and Canadian works will be featured today; A mass and rhapsody by Kodaly and Brahms are set for November 8 at 8 p.m.; the All Saints College girls' choir on December 2, and Haydn's "Mass in D" on December 16, with both December programs slated for 4 p.m.

STATUS SYMBOL

The glitter and gold of the "Solid Gold Cadillac" was well taken by the other status vehicles. For their good sportsmanship we deem it only fair to line them up for a curtain call. There are such 18-carat names as Imperial and Lincoln on the domestic list, and foreign prima - donnas as Jaguar, Mercedes - Benz, Rolls - Royce and Daimler. They're all "solid gold" even though all that glitters is not, and they have a price tag that shows it. So take a bow, girls, and consider yourselves in the top status among precious metals.

AT PARAMOUNT

'Chapman Report' Is Bold Picture

Ripping aside a wealthy suburban community's facade of smug-respectability, a team of psychologists conducting a sex survey dramatically reshape the lives of four women in "The Chapman Report," the provocative Warner Bros. Technicolor motion picture opening today at the Paramount Theatre.

Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., Shelley Winters, Jane Fonda, Claire Bloom, Glynis Johns, Ray Danton and Ty Hardin top the cast of the Darryl F. Zanuck Production which is based on the controversial best - selling novel by Irving Wallace. Because of the controversial subject matter Producer Richard Zanuck and Director George Cukor closed the film's set during much of the shooting.

"The picture is based on the premise that love and tenderness are the true meaning of sex and that sex without these is mere animality," said Zanuck when the film went before the cameras. "We intend to make an honest picture which will be highly interesting, and we intend to do it without becoming a dealer in pornography."

PROTAGONIST

Zimbalist is the film's major protagonist as the survey team's chief interviewer. He unwittingly becomes personally involved with the young widow played by Jane Fonda when he returns the wallet she dropped after her initial interview. Her hero - husband's cruelly cavalier treatment of her before his death has resulted in a sex phobia and she is convinced she is "a woman of ice."

Shelley Winters, Claire Bloom and Glynis Johns are the other three 'survey subjects on whom the film focuses. Protraying the wife of a prosperous businessman and the mother of two, Miss Winters finds herself caught up in a clandestine affair with a smalltime director at the local little theatre. During her interview she comes to the realization that she must eventually choose between her placid husband and the dashing young director.

MISS BLOOM

Miss Bloom stars as a sensuous divorcee whose alcoholism and nymphomania send her plunging toward her own destruction as she seeks to escape from herself in the arms of an unending array of strangers.

As the wife of a well-meaning but smug art collector, Glynis Johns is convinced that their marriage is marvelously compatible if somewhat dispassionate. However, she finds herself attracted to a handsome football player on the beach and rendezvous with him at his beach shack where his loutish, bull-like behavior disgusts her. Ty Hardin stars as the athlete.

To weave these four stories into a single film fabric, the man who is regarded as the screen's finest "woman's" director was selected. Cukor, whose distinguished screen accomplishments include the great Garbo films and the outstanding performances of many of the screen's finest actresses, skillfully blended the talents and tales.

OPENS THURSDAY

'Pigeon That Took Rome' At The Jim

The funny side of wartime spying is explored in Paramount's new romantic comedy, "The Pigeon That Took Rome," which opens Thursday at the Jim Theatre, with Charlton Heston and Elsa Martinelli in the starring roles and Harry Guardino, Baccaloni, Gabriella Pallotta, Brian Donlevy and Marietto co-starred.

The Melville Shavelson Panavision production, which was written for the screen and directed by Shavelson, is based on the best-selling novel, "The Easter Dinner" by Donald Downes. All the exterior shots of the picture were filmed in Rome to guarantee authenticity of background (if not of fact) in the telling of the misadventures of two American soldiers, totally untrained as spies, who are sent into the German-occupied city shortly before its liberation in 1944. Their mission: to send information back to their commander regarding the Nazi defenses. Before they accomplish this they become involved with the two lovely daughters of the leader of the Resistance organization with whom they are billeted and with whom they plot some mighty peculiar espionage endeavors.

MODERN ROLL

Heston, in his first modern role in years, and his first real romantic comedy characterization, pertrays the rugged, tough infantry captain who has no experience — or interest — in spying. He shows none of those attributes, however, in his romantic encounter with the attractive Miss Martinelli, who keeps house for her father and his hungry brood. As the firey Antonella, she resents having to feed two extra mouths when there is already a scarcity of food, until she sees in one of the Americans a possible husband for her pregnant, unmarried sister. The role of the sister is played by the voluptuous Italian beauty, Gabriella Pallotta, who was cast in the film because she radiates a quality which producer Shavelson describes as "innocent sex."

TO SPY

Harry Guardino will be seen as Heston's equally ignorant co-spy who also makes up romantically for what he lacks in espionage know how.

STATUS SYMBOL

The glitter and gold of the "Solid Gold Cadillac" was well taken by the other status vehicles. For their good sportsmanship we deem it only fair to line them up for a curtain call. There are such 18-carat names as Imperial and Lincoln on the domestic list, and foreign prima - donnas as Jaguar, Mercedes - Benz, Rolls - Royce and Daimler. They're all "solid gold" even though all that glitters is not, and they have a price tag that shows it. So take a bow, girls, and consider yourselves in the top status among precious metals.

AT PARAMOUNT

'Chapman Report' Is Bold Picture

Ripping aside a wealthy suburban community's facade of smug-respectability, a team of psychologists conducting a sex survey dramatically reshape the lives of four women in "The Chapman Report," the provocative Warner Bros. Technicolor motion picture opening today at the Paramount Theatre.

Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., Shelley Winters, Jane Fonda, Claire Bloom, Glynis Johns, Ray Danton and Ty Hardin top the cast of the Darryl F. Zanuck Production which is based on the controversial best - selling novel by Irving Wallace. Because of the controversial subject matter Producer Richard Zanuck and Director George Cukor closed the film's set during much of the shooting.

"The picture is based on the premise that love and tenderness are the true meaning of sex and that sex without these is mere animality," said Zanuck when the film went before the cameras. "We intend to make an honest picture which will be highly interesting, and we intend to do it without becoming a dealer in pornography."

PROTAGONIST

Zimbalist is the film's major protagonist as the survey team's chief interviewer. He unwittingly becomes personally involved with the young widow played by Jane Fonda when he returns the wallet she dropped after her initial interview. Her hero - husband's cruelly cavalier treatment of her before his death has resulted in a sex phobia and she is convinced she is "a woman of ice."

Shelley Winters, Claire Bloom and Glynis Johns are the other three survey subjects on whom the film focuses. Protraying the wife of a prosperous businessman and the mother of two, Miss Winters finds herself caught up in a clandestine affair with a smalltime director at the local little theatre. During her interview she comes to the realization that she must eventually choose between her placid husband and the dashing young director.

MISS BLOOM

Miss Bloom stars as a sensuous divorcee whose alcoholism and nymphomania send her plunging toward her own destruction as she seeks to escape from herself in the arms of an unending array of strangers.

As the wife of a well-meaning but smug art collector, Glynis Johns is convinced that their marriage is marvelously compatible if somewhat dispassionate. However, she finds herself attracted to a handsome footbail player on the beach and rendezvous with him at his beach shack where his loutish, bull-like behavior disgusts her. Ty Hardin stars as the athlete.

To weave these four stories into a single film fabric, the man who is regarded as the screen's finest "woman's" director was selected. Cukor, whose distinguished screen accomplishments include the great Garbo films and the outstanding performances of many of the screen's finest actresses, skillfully blended the talents and tales.

OPENS THURSDAY

'Pigeon That Took Rome' At The Jim

The funny side of wartime spying is explored in Paramount's new romantic comedy, "The Pegeon That Took Rome," which opens Thursday at the Jim Theatre, with Charlton Heston and Elsa Martinelli in the starring roles and Harry Guardino, Baccaloni, Gabriella Pallotta, Brian Donlevy and Marietto co-starred.

The Melville Shavelson Panavision production, which was written for the screen and directed by Shavelson, is based on the best-selling novel, "The Easter Dinner" by Donald Downes. All the exterior shots of the picture were filmed in Rome to guarantee authenticity of background (if not of fact) in the telling of the misadventures of two American soldiers, totally untrained as spies, who are sent into the German-occupied city shortly before its liberation in 1944. Their mission: to send information back to their commander regarding the Nazi defenses. Before they accomplish this they become involved with the two lovely daughters of the leader of the Resistance organization with whom they are billeted and with whom they plot some mighty peculiar espionage endeavors.

MODERN ROLL

Heston, in his first modern role in years, and his first real romantic comedy characterization, pertrays the rugged, tough infantry captain who has no experience — or interest — in spying. He shows none of those attributes, however, in his romantic encounter with the attractive Miss Martinelli, who keeps house for her father and his hungry brood. As the firey Antonella, she resents having to feed two extra mouths when there is already a scarcity of food, until she sees in one of the Americans a possible husband for her pregnant, unmarried sister. The role of the sister is played by the voluptuous Italian beauty, Gabriella Pallotta, who was cast in the film because she radiates a quality which producer Shavelson describes as "innocent sex."

TO SPY

Harry Guardino will be seen as Heston's equally ignorant co-spy who also makes up romantically for what he lacks in espionage know how.

IN TOUGH BATTLE

Texas Wins 7-3 In Last Minute

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)— Duke Carlisle and Johnny Genung led Texas on an 85-yard touchdown march in the closing minutes Saturday night that brought the nationally top ranked Longhorns a 7-3 victory over Arkansas, ranked seventh nationally.

Texas rolled on undefeated and untied through five games.

Arkansas took a 3-0 lead in the second period when sophomore Tom McKnelly kicked his first field goal in college football — a 41-yard effort.

The Razorbacks, with Billy Moore passing and Jesse Branch running, had Texas backed up in its territory except twice during the game. And the Razorbacks missed a touchdown when Danny Brabham smashed to the one-yard line only to fumble the ball into the end zone.

But with 7 minutes left to play Texas launched that glittering drive that swept 85 yards in 20 plays on the passing of Carlisle and Genung and with Tommy Ford cracking over from the three-yard line for the touchdown that brought a great roar from the biggest crowd ever to see a football game in Austin—64,530.

But with only 36 seconds left Arkansas started a drive of its own, halted when Carlisle intercepted a pass on the Texas 44.

As the game ended a fan rushed onto the field and took a punch at Referee Curly Hays. The two exchanged punches before the crowd spilled onto the field and they were blotted out of vision of the press box.

Texas, through its victory, went into undisputed first place in the Southwest Conference race with a 2-0 record. Southern Methodist is the only other unbeaten team in the conference.

Arkansas was seeking its fourth championship or tie in four years and could still get it. In the two years that Arkansas tied for it, Texas beat the Razorbacks. In the one Arkansas won it outright, Arkansas beat Texas.

Horned Frogs Take Victory From Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.(AP) Texas Christian University's Horned Frogs came from behind twice Saturday and pushed over a last quarter touchdown to squeeze past a fired up Texas A&M football team 20-14.

The Frogs, minus bruising fullback Tommy Crutcher during the last half, held off three long Aggie drives and then pushed across their own scores to take their second Southwest Conference victory against one loss. The loss evened the Aggie conference record at 1-1.

With quarterbacks Jim Keller and Jim Willenborg leading the way on some brilliant option plays, the Aggies marched 67 yards to the TCU 2 as the first quarter ended.

On the first play of the second quarter, Keller dived over the Frog defensive linemen for the game's first score. End Mike Clark's extra point kick made it 7-0.

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Florida State combined a ball - hawking defense with a slashing offense Saturday to defeat Georgia for the second straight year, 18-0, and ruin the Bulldogs' first home appearance of the season.

The Seminoles enhanced their status as a major independent by throttling the Bulldogs before 31,500 fans. Alert defensive plays paid off for the Flordians.

A 27-yard field goal by specialist Doug Messer, the man who beat Georgia last year in Florida State's 3-0 upset, was set up by a 38-yard punt return by safetyman Ken Russom. The final Seminole touchdown came on a 15-yard pass interception return

Kentucky Is Stubborn Foe For Bengals

By KELSO STURGEON

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Louisiana State's nationally fourth - ranked team scored a touchdown in the final quarter to defeat Kentucky 7-0 in a Southeastern Conference game.

LSU, which fumbled away chances for two touchdowns earlier in the game, scored with 9:51 left on the clock when powerful halfback Jerry Stovall blasted over from the 1.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Statistics of the Louisiana State-Kentucky football game:	LSU	Ky.
First downs	23	4
Rushing yardage	319	40
Passing yardage	44	68
Passes	3-14	4-8
Passes intercepted by	0	0
Punts	3-40	8-41
Fumbles lost	3	0
Yards penalized	23	20

The touchdown drive began on the Kentucky 32 and it took LSU only seven plays to march to paydirt.

In the first play of the scoring series, Stovall carried to the Kentucky 19; halfback Danny LeBlanc picked up two yards; Stovall carried for seven more. Then Stovall went to the 5, fumbled when tackled, but fullback Steve Ward recovered to save the day. Two plays later Stovall scored.

The Tigers looked well on their way to a touchdown after the opening kickoff. But this drive was stopped on the Kentucky 5 when quarterback Jimmy Field fumbled as he was tackled. Kentucky tackle Herschel Turner recovered the ball and the Wildcats began a march that took them to the Bengals' 44 before they were forced to kick.

In the third quarter, the Tigers had their offense moving again and saw a touchdown threat stopped when Ward fumbled on the Kentucky 16 and Wildcat end Tom Hutchinson recovered.

After Turner recovered Field's fumble, Kentucky showed surprising offensive strength under the leadership of junior quarterback Elmer Jackson.

On the first play of the series, Jackson handed to fullback Howard Dunnebacke who blasted through the left side of the LSU line for 11 yards.

Two plays later, Jackson handed off to halfback Darrell Cox who fired a 35-yard pass to Hutchinson, putting the ball on the Tigers' 45. Kentucky was unsuccessful as it tried to move the ball against the massive LSU forward wall and was forced to punt.

LSU took over on its own 9-yard line. Stovall carried and lost a yard. On the next play Ward fumbled again when tackled and Kentucky got the ball on the LSU 18. Halfback Bobby Kosid recovered.

Kentucky again was unable to move the ball and was forced to go for a field goal. The attempt by Clarkie Mayfield fell short when Tiger center Dennis Gaubatz broke through the middle of the Wildcat line and got a hand on the ball.

LSU, in four plays, moved the ball out to its own 33 as the clock ran out and the quarter ended 0-0.

The teams battled on even terms in the second period, although LSU came close to scoring on two different occasions when quarterback Lynn Amedee just missed his ends, who were deep and behind the Kentucky defense.

The Tigers made a serious scoring threat late in the third quarter when they moved the ball to the Kentucky 4. On the next play, Amedee just missed end Danny Neumann on the Kentucky 1. Amedee tried again to pass for the touchdown but Kentucky fullback Perky Bryant knocked the ball down.

In this same series of downs, on the first play of the fourth quarter, Kentucky stopped LSU when end Jim Komara blocked an Amedee field goal attempt.

LSU had a big margin in statistics, with 23 first downs to Kentucky's four. The Tigers outrushed the Wildcats, 319-40, but Kentucky led in passing, 88-44.

Stovall, a leading candidate for All-America honors, carried the ball 17 times for a net gain of 74 yards. LeBlanc edged Stovall in the rushing department, picking up 75 yards in 11 carries.

Bo Campbell, senior halfback, was a key man in picking up yardage when LSU needed it most. He carried the ball 14 times for 57 yards.

LOUISIANA STATE University's Jerry Stovall (21) took a pitch-out and headed around his right end but was grabbed by Kentucky's Bob Kosid (25) and Perky Bryant (43). Also hidden in the play but hanging onto Stovall is Kentucky's Herschel Turner. LSU lost two-yards on the play, but won the Southeastern Conference game, 7-0. (AP Wirephoto)

Ole Miss Rebels Topple Tulane Green Wave, 21-0

By JAMES SAGGUS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Mississippi capitalized on two pass interference penalties and superior depth Saturday night and sloshed to a 21-0 Southeastern Conference victory over winless Tulane.

The game was played in a steady rain and the crowd of 23,000 dwindled throughout the contest.

The fired-up Green Wave outplayed Ole Miss in the first quarter and it was not until late in the second period that the vaunted Rebel offense began clicking.

Shortly before intermission quarterback Glynn Griffing capped a 52-yard march with a 10-yard pass to end Woody Dabbs, diving into the end zone. Shortly after the half, Griffing climaxed a 49-yard drive with a 21-yard touchdown pass to Dabbs.

Both drives stalled momentarily, only to get new life when officials ruled Tulane defenders interfered with Ole Miss pass receivers. On the first march a penalty against Tulane's Jerry Graves accounted for 41 yards. On the second, the penalty against Tulane fullback George Cortez produced nine yards. Such penalties bring automatic first downs.

Ole Miss' final touchdown came in the third period with substitutes driving 74 yards. Quarterback Jim Weatherly passed 15 yards to end Billy Carl Irwin to score.

Halfback Chuck Morris ran the first conversion and end Wes Sullivan kicked the second.

SHREVEPORT (Special)— Northwestern State College struck swiftly and surely with a pair of early fourth quarter scores to break open a tight defensive battle for a 19-2 victory over arch - rival Louisiana Tech in the 23rd annual State Fair classic Saturday night.

A crowd estimated at 22,000 packed into State Fair Stadium to witness the crucial Gulf States Conference encounter. A heavy rain in Shreveport early Saturday afternoon left the stadium terf a quagmire of mud.

Halfback Kenney Thompson of Kilgore, Tex. scored two Demon touchdowns. The first one on a five yard pass from Natchitoches quarterback Don Beasley and the second on a four yard spurt outside end.

Demon halfback Glenn Talbert of Gillis got NSC's insurance marker when he sprinted behind the Bulldog defenses and pulled in a 44 yard TD pass from Beasley.

Freshman Ed Horton kicked the extra point after the first score but Tech's line broke through the beefy Demon linemen to block the last two tries.

Horton, a fleet - footed 177-pounder, set up Northwestern's first score that pulled the Demons from behind after Tech had gone ahead on the opening kickoff with a safety.

Horton cut loose on a 69 yard sprint on the Demons' second series of downs and sped to the Tech five before Dwayne Nettles managed to bounce him out of bounds. The Demon freshman also turned in some brilliant running in NSC's second scoring drive and was named the game's outstanding back by members of the press and radio working the game.

Tech jumped off to a 2-0 lead on the opening kickoff when the boot jumped off Jerry Buton's hands into the end zone. Thompson retreived it for the Demons and after seeming uncertain of whether to down it or run it out, took a few steps toward the goal line where Tech's John Robert Williamson, Pat Collins and Wayne Noland knocked him down for the two pointer.

The Bulldogs moved to the Demon 25 with the NSC kickoff, but frosh Claudie Patrick blew into spill Slaughter for an 11 yard loss at the Demon 36.

Northwestern struck quickly after an exchange of punts when speedy Horton broke loose on an end sweep and sped 69 - yards to Tech's five before Dwayne Nettles, an Istrouma product bounced him out of bounds.

SLC Pressed For Last Quarter Win

HAMMOND (Special)— Jerry Dunaway dashed 19-yards for a touchdown and Fred Runte kicked the extra point as Southeastern rallied in the fourth quarter and edged Northeast's hard-luck Indians 13-12 here Saturday night.

The loss was the third straight heart - breaker for Northeast which lost an 18-17 decision to Northwestern two weeks ago and a 13-8 game to McNeese last week, the winning points coming in the second half in all three games.

The final Southeastern touchdown came with 4:45 left in the game. Northeast ook over after a short kickoff on its own 45 and moved to the Southeastern 33 before the Lions put the rush on Pete Vincent on three plays. The game ended with the ball on the Southeastern 43.

The victory was the fifth straight for unbeaten Southeastern, Gulf States Conference co-leader and ranked fifth in United Press International small college poll.

Northeast's record is now one and four for the year and none and three in the conference.

Vincent ,the forgotten man of the Northeast quarterback corps, turned in a spectacular game for the Indians setting up both Indian touchdowns on long runs on the option play.

Devone Payne bulled three yard for the first Northeast score to cap a 60-yard drive in eight plays.

Vincent helped set up the score with a fine broken field run for 16 yards.

The extra point attempt by Vincent was under the uprights and no good.

Southeastern bounced right back after the kickoff and drove 48 yards in 10 plays. Dunaway slammed off tackle for six yards and a touchdown, but Brent Brousell's kick was off to the left and the score was still 6-6.

Northeast drove to the Southeastern 37 early in the second quarter before Monty Crook intercepted a Ronnie Myrick pass.

Later in the quarter the Indians marched to the Southeastern 28. On fourth down, Myrick passed to Willie Ragan after a fake field goal attempt, but the fullback was pulled down on the 23, short of the first down.

The Indians, who controlled the ball most of the first half drove to the Southeastern 10 just before the half ended, but Vincent's field goal attempt from the 17 was no good.

Early in the third period, Northeast took over after Southeastern's punt on its own 38 and drove 62-yards for its second touchdown.

Vincent sprinted 36 - yards on the second play of the drive and three plays later Myrick picked up 13 - yards on another option play to the one yard line. Myrick leaped over the line on the next play for the touchdown.

Northeast faked a kick on the extra - point try and Myrick passed into the end zone. The throw was batted around and hit the ground.

Northeast made several brilliant defensive stands in the last two quarters before Southeastern finally scored. The Indians stopped one threat on the 14 and then, after Maxie Williams recovered Devone Payne's fumble on the Northeast 34, they fought the Lions to a stand - still on the 30.

Early in the fourth period the Indians made their last fine defensive stand when they took over on their 34 as Wendell Drost recovered Crook's fumble.

Northeast ran three plays failed to pick up a first, and John Kelly punted. Brent Brussell returned to the Northeast 36 and the Lions were off on their winning drive.

Dunaway and Ellis Johnson helped run the ball to the 19 and Dunaway burst off tackle for 19 yards and the touchdown. Runte's kick was good and Southeastern led with 4:45 left in the game.

Don King downed a short kickoff on the Northeast 45 and Devone Payne picked up seven-yards on two carried before Vincent slipped away for a first down at the Southeastern 42.

Vincent went back to pass on the next play but ran instead to the Southeastern 41. He tried to pass again, was almost smothered, wiggled away and ran to the 33.

A Vincent pass to Mann lost three yards and then Vincent was rushed badly and pulled down on the 40. He got the rush act again on the next two plays and the ball game was over.

Vincent was the game's leading rusher with 74 yards on 12 carries while Newton picked up 40 on 13. Devone Payne had 35 on 10 as Northeast rolled to a big statistical edge.

Myrick was the game's top passer with four completions in six throws for 32 yards.

Drost, Ross Nolan, Jim LaCoste and Gordon Salsman were leaders in a great Northeast defense.

Northeast plays Southwestern in Shreveport next Saturday.

Maroons Pull From Behind For 9-3 Win

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Charlie Furlow, working in the rain and mud, engineered a 41-yard touchdown drive in the final two minutes Saturday night to pull Mississippi State from behind for a 9-3 victory over the University of Houston.

Furlow climaxed the drive by finding Ode Burrell in the end zone with a 24-yard scoring pass that overcame a 3-2 Houston lead that had loomed larger and larger as a heavy rain fell practically throughout the second half.

Until Furlow took command, it appeared Houston, a six-point underdog, would upset the Maroons on Bill McMillan's first period 25-yard field goal.

As the rain grew heavier and the field muddier, Bobby Brezina, the Houston fullback, intentionally grounded the ball in the end zone to give State a two-point safety.

Grambling Wins Over Panthers

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (AP) — Quick-striking Grambling College held off a desperate bid by Prairie View A&M and tripped the Panthers 23-15 Saturday in a Southwestern Conference battle.

Halfback Roy Shelling scored first for the Tigers with a six-yard drive over tackle and J. D. Garrett converted. Shelling led a drive to the Panthers' 30 where Garrett kicked a field goal at the close of the first period.

Richmond In Win

BOSTON (UPI)—Richmond exploded for two touchdowns within 45 seconds in the third period Saturday night to hand Boston University its fifth consecutive defeat, 14-7.

3 Florida Teams Hand Vanderbilt 42-7 Stomping

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three Florida teams overpowered injury-riddled Vanderbilt 42-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday and handed the Commodores their 13th consecutive defeat.

The Florida Gators were uninspired and beset by penalties in the early stages but their superior manpower ground out yardage in a methodical manner and won by far more than the expected 21-point margin to cap a happy homecoming for 41,000 spectators.

Florida's defense was its strongest point, bottling up Vanderbilt's running attack.

Although the Commodores moved occasionally through the air against Florida's porous pass defense, the Gators rushed Vanderbilt's passers off their feet in the second half.

Syracuse Wins Cage Tilt Over Lakers By Six

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Syracuse Nationals came from behind in the final period Saturday night and beat the Los Angeles Lakers 108-102 in the Nats opening game of the National Basketball Association season.

After trailing by 11 points early in the game, Syracuse went ahead for the first time two minutes deep in the last quarter 82-80 on a long set shot by Al Bianchi. The lead changed hands five times in the next few minutes before the Nats went ahead to stay,

IN TOUGH BATTLE

Texas Wins 7-3 In Last Minute

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)— Duke Carlisle and Johnny Genung led Texas on an 85-yard touchdown march in the closing minutes Saturday night that brought the nationally top ranked Longhorns a 7-3 victory over Arkansas, ranked seventh nationally.

Texas rolled on undefeated and untied through five games.

Arkansas took a 3-0 lead in the second period when sophomore Tom McKnelly kicked his first field goal in college football — a 41-yard effort.

The Razorbacks, with Billy Moore passing and Jesse Branch running, had Texas backed up in its territory except twice during the game. And the Razorbacks missed a touchdown when Danny Brabham smashed to the one-yard line only to fumble the ball into the end zone.

But with 7 minutes left to play Texas launched that glittering drive that swept 85 yards in 20 plays on the passing of Carlisle and Genung and with Tommy Ford cracking over from the three-yard line for the touchdown that brought a great roar from the biggest crowd ever to see a football game in Austin—64,530.

But with only 36 seconds left Arkansas started a drive of its own, halted when Carlisle intercepted a pass on the Texas 44.

As the game ended a fan rushed onto the field and took a punch at Referee Curly Hays. The two exchanged punches before the crowd spilled onto the field and they were blotted out of vision of the press box.

Texas, through its victory, went into undisputed first place in the Southwest Conference race with a 2-0 record. Southern Methodist is the only other unbeaten team in the conference.

Arkansas was seeking its fourth championship or tie in four years and could still get it. In the two years that Arkansas tied for it, Texas beat the Razorbacks. In the one Arkansas won it outright, Arkansas beat Texas.

Horned Frogs Take Victory From Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.(AP) Texas Christian University's Horned Frogs came from behind twice Saturday and pushed over a last quarter touchdown to squeeze past a fired up Texas A&M football team 20-14.

The Frogs, minus bruising fullback Tommy Crutcher during the last half, held off three long Aggie drives and then pushed across their own scores to take their second Southwest Conference victory against one loss. The loss evened the Aggie conference record at 1-1.

Virtually the entire game was one of long, bruising and often frustrating drive.

After some early game probing by both teams, the Aggies took over the ball on their own 23 after a 34-yard kick by the Frogs.

With quarterbacks Jim Keller and Jim Willenborg leading the way on some brilliant option plays, the Aggies marched 67 yards to the TCU 2 as the first quarter ended.

On the first play of the second quarter, Keller dived over the Frog defensive linemen for the game's first score. End Mike Clark's extra point kick made it 7-0.

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Florida State combined a ball - hawking defense with a slashing offense Saturday to defeat Georgia for the second straight year, 18-0, and ruin the Bulldogs' first home appearance of the season.

The Seminoles enhanced their status as a major independent by throttling the Bulldogs before 31,500 fans. Alert defensive plays paid off for the Flordians.

A 27-yard field goal by specialist Doug Messer, the man who beat Georgia last year in Florida State's 3-0 upset, was set up by a 38-yard punt return by safetyman Ken Russom. The final Seminole touchdown came on a 15-yard pass interception return

Kentucky Is Stubborn Foe For Bengals

By KELSO STURGEON

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Louisiana State's nationally fourth - ranked team scored a touchdown in the final quarter to defeat Kentucky 7-0 in a Southeastern Conference game.

LSU, which fumbled away chances for two touchdowns earlier in the game, scored with 9:51 left on the clock when powerful halfback Jerry Stovall blasted over from the 1.

The touchdown drive began on the Kentucky 32 and it took LSU only seven plays to march to paydirt.

In the first play of the scoring series, Stovall carried to the Kentucky 19; halfback Danny LeBlanc picked up two yards; Stovall carried for seven more. Then Stovall went to the 5, fumbled when tackled, but fullback Steve Ward recovered to save the day. Two plays later Stovall scored.

The Tigers looked well on their way to a touchdown after the opening kickoff. But this drive was stopped on the Kentucky 5 when quarterback Jimmy Field fumbled as he was tackled. Kentucky tackle Herschel Turner recovered the ball and the Wildcats began a march that took them to the Bengals' 44 before they were forced to kick.

In the third quarter, the Tigers had their offense moving again and saw a touchdown threat stopped when Ward fumbled on the Kentucky 16 and Wildcat end Tom Hutchinson recovered.

After Turner recovered Field's fumble, Kentucky showed surprising offensive strength under the leadership of junior quarterback Elmer Jackson.

On the first play of the series, Jackson handed to fullback Howard Dunnebacke who blasted through the left side of the LSU line for 11 yards.

Two plays later, Jackson handed off to halfback Darrell Cox who fired a 35-yard pass to Hutchinson, putting the ball on the Tigers' 45. Kentucky was unsuccessful as it tried to move the ball against the massive LSU forward wall and was forced to punt.

LSU took over on its own 9-yard line. Stovall carried and lost a yard. On the next play Ward fumbled again when tackled and Kentucky got the ball on the LSU 18. Halfback Bobby Kosid recovered.

Kentucky again was unable to move the ball and was forced to go for a field goal. The attempt by Clarkie Mayfield fell short when Tiger center Dennis Gaubatz broke through the middle of the Wildcat line and got a hand on the ball.

LSU, in four plays, moved the ball out to its own 33 as the clock ran out and the quarter ended 0-0.

The teams battled on even terms in the second period, although LSU came close to scoring on two different occasions when quarterback Lynn Amedee just missed his ends, who were deep and behind the Kentucky defense.

The Tigers made a serious scoring threat late in the third quarter when they moved the ball to the Kentucky 4. On the next play, Amedee just missed end Danny Neumann on the Kentucky 1. Amedee tried again to pass for the touchdown but Kentucky fullback Perky Bryant knocked the ball down.

In this same series of downs, on the first play of the fourth quarter, Kentucky stopped LSU when end Jim Komara blocked an Amedee field goal attempt.

LSU had a big margin in statistics, with 23 first downs to Kentucky's four. The Tigers outrushed the Wildcats, 319-40, but Kentucky led in passing, 88-44.

Stovall, a leading candidate for All-America honors, carried the ball 17 times for a net gain of 74 yards. LeBlanc edged Stovall in the rushing department, picking up 75 yards in 11 carries.

Bo Campbell, senior halfback, was a key man in picking up yardage when LSU needed it most. He carried the ball 14 times for 57 yards.

Ole Miss Rebels Topple Tulane Green Wave, 21-0

By JAMES SAGGUS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Mississippi capitalized on two pass interference penalties and superior depth Saturday night and sloshed to a 21-0 Southeastern Conference victory over winless Tulane.

The game was played in a steady rain and the crowd of 23,000 dwindled throughout the contest.

The fired-up Green Wave outplayed Ole Miss in the first quarter and it was not until late in the second period that the vaunted Rebel offense began clicking.

Shortly before intermission quarterback Glynn Griffing capped a 52-yard march with a 10-yard pass to end Woody Dabbs, diving into the end zone. Shortly after the half, Griffing climaxed a 49-yard drive with a 21-yard touchdown pass to Dabbs.

Both drives stalled momentarily, only to get new life when officials ruled Tulane defenders interfered with Ole Miss pass receivers. On the first march a penalty against Tulane's Jerry Graves accounted for 41 yards. On the second, the penalty against Tulane fullback George Cortez produced nine yards. Such penalties bring automatic first downs.

Ole Miss' final touchdown came in the third period with substitutes driving 74 yards. Quarterback Jim Weatherly passed 15 yards to end Billy Carl Irwin to score.

Halfback Chuck Morris ran the first conversion and end Wes Sullivan kicked the second.

Demons Defeat Bulldogs, 19-2

SHREVEPORT (Special)— Northwestern State College struck swiftly and surely with a pair of early fourth quarter scores to break open a tight defensive battle for a 19-2 victory over arch - rival Louisiana Tech in the 23rd annual State Fair classic Saturday night.

A crowd estimated at 22,000 packed into State Fair Stadium to witness the crucial Gulf States Conference encounter. A heavy rain in Shreveport early Saturday afternoon left the stadium terf a quagmire of mud.

Halfback Kenney Thompson of Kilgore, Tex. scored two Demon touchdowns. The first one on a five yard pass from Natchitoches quarterback Don Beasley and the second on a four yard spurt outside end.

Demon halfback Glenn Talbert of Gillis got NSC's insurance marker when he sprinted behind the Bulldog defenses and pulled in a 44 yard TD pass from Beasley.

Freshman Ed Horton kicked the extra point after the first score but Tech's line broke through the beefy Demon linemen to block the last two tries.

Horton, a fleet - footed 177-pounder, set up Northwestern's first score that pulled the Demons from behind after Tech had gone ahead on the opening kickoff with a safety.

Horton cut loose on a 69 yard sprint on the Demons' second series of downs and sped to the Tech five before Dwayne Nettles managed to bounce him out of bounds. The Demon freshman also turned in some brilliant running in NSC's second scoring drive and was named the game's outstanding back by members of the press and radio working the game.

Tech jumped off to a 2-0 lead on the opening kickoff when the boot jumped off Jerry Buton's hands into the end zone. Thompson retreived it for the Demons and after seeming uncertain of whether to down it or run it out, took a few steps toward the goal line where Tech's John Robert Williamson, Pat Collins and Wayne Noland knocked him down for the two pointer.

The Bulldogs moved to the Demon 25 with the NSC kickoff, but frosh Claudie Patrick blew into spill Slaughter for an 11 yard loss at the Demon 36.

Northwestern struck quickly after an exchange of punts when speedy Horton broke loose on an end sweep and sped 69 - yards to Tech's five before Dwayne Nettles, an Istrouma product bounced him out of bounds.

SLC Pressed For Last Quarter Win

HAMMOND (Special)— Jerry Dunaway dashed 19-yards for a touchdown and Fred Runte kicked the extra point as Southeastern rallied in the fourth quarter and edged Northeast's hard-luck Indians 13-12 here Saturday night.

The loss was the third straight heart - breaker for Northeast which lost an 18-17 decision to Northwestern two weeks ago and a 13-8 game to McNeese last week, the winning points coming in the second half in all three games.

The final Southeastern touchdown came with 4:45 left in the game. Northeast ook over after a short kickoff on its own 45 and moved to the Southeastern 33 before the Lions put the rush on Pete Vincent on three plays. The game ended with the ball on the Southeastern 43.

The victory was the fifth straight for unbeaten Southeastern, Gulf States Conference co-leader and ranked fifth in United Press International small college poll.

Northeast's record is now one and four for the year and none and three in the conference.

Vincent ,the forgotten man of the Northeast quarterback corps, turned in a spectacular game for the Indians setting up both Indian touchdowns on long runs on the option play.

Devone Payne bulled three yard for the first Northeast score to cap a 60-yard drive in eight plays.

Vincent helped set up the score with a fine broken field run for 16 yards.

The extra point attempt by Vincent was under the uprights and no good.

Southeastern bounced right back after the kickoff and drove 48 yards in 10 plays. Dunaway slammed off tackle for six yards and a touchdown, but Brent Brousell's kick was off to the left and the score was still 6-6.

Northeast drove to the Southeastern 37 early in the second quarter before Monty Crook intercepted a Ronnie Myrick pass.

Later in the quarter the Indians marched to the Southeastern 28. On fourth down, Myrick passed to Willie Ragan after a fake field goal attempt, but the fullback was pulled down on the 23, short of the first down.

The Indians, who controlled the ball most of the first half drove to the Southeastern 10 just before the half ended, but Vincent's field goal attempt from the 17 was no good.

Early in the third period, Northeast took over after Southeastern's punt on its own 38 and drove 62-yards for its second touchdown.

Vincent sprinted 36 - yards on the second play of the drive and three plays later Myrick picked up 13 - yards on another option play to the one yard line. Myrick leaped over the line on the next play for the touchdown.

Northeast faked a kick on the extra - point try and Myrick passed into the end zone. The throw was batted around and hit the ground.

Northeast made several brilliant defensive stands in the last two quarters before Southeastern finally scored. The Indians stopped one threat on the 14 and then, after Maxie Williams recovered Devone Payne's fumble on the Northeast 34, they fought the Lions to a stand - still on the 30.

Early in the fourth period the Indians made their last fine defensive stand when they took over on their 34 as Wendell Drost recovered Crook's fumble.

Northeast ran three plays failed to pick up a first, and John Kelly punted. Brent Brussell returned to the Northeast 36 and the Lions were off on their winning drive.

Dunaway and Ellis Johnson helped run the ball to the 19 and Dunaway burst off tackle for 19 yards and the touchdown. Runte's kick was good and Southeastern led with 4:45 left in the game.

Don King downed a short kickoff on the Northeast 45 and Devone Payne picked up seven-yards on two carried before Vincent slipped away for a first down at the Southeastern 42.

Vincent went back to pass on the next play but ran instead to the Southeastern 41. He tried to pass again, was almost smothered, wiggled away and ran to the 33.

A Vincent pass to Mann lost three yards and then Vincent was rushed badly and pulled down on the 40. He got the rush act again on the next two plays and the ball game was over.

Vincent was the game's leading rusher with 74 yards on 12 carries while Newton picked up 40 on 13. Devone Payne had 35 on 10 as Northeast rolled to a big statistical edge.

Myrick was the game's top passer with four completions in six throws for 32 yards.

Drost, Ross Nolan, Jim LaCoste and Gordon Salsman were leaders in a great Northeast defense.

Northeast plays Southwestern in Shreveport next Saturday.

Maroons Pull From Behind For 9-3 Win

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Charlie Furlow, working in the rain and mud, engineered a 41-yard touchdown drive in the final two minutes Saturday night to pull Mississippi State from behind for a 9-3 victory over the University of Houston.

Furlow climaxed the drive by finding Ode Burrell in the end zone with a 24-yard scoring pass that overcame a 3-2 Houston lead that had loomed larger and larger as a heavy rain fell practically throughout the second half.

Until Furlow took command, it appeared Houston, a six-point underdog, would upset the Maroons on Bill McMillan's first period 25-yard field goal.

As the rain grew heavier and the field muddier, Bobby Brezina, the Houston fullback, intentionally grounded the ball in the end zone to give State a two-point safety.

3 Florida Teams Hand Vanderbilt 42-7 Stomping

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three Florida teams overpowered injury-riddled Vanderbilt 42-7 in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday and handed the Commodores their 13th consecutive defeat.

The Florida Gators were uninspired and beset by penalties in the early stages but their superior manpower ground out yardage in a methodical manner and won by far more than the expected 21-point margin to cap a happy homecoming for 41,000 spectators.

Florida's defense was its strongest point, bottling up Vanderbilt's running attack.

Grambling Wins Over Panthers

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (AP) — Quick-striking Grambling College held off a desperate bid by Prairie View A&M and tripped the Panthers 23-15 Saturday in a Southwestern Conference battle.

Halfback Roy Shelling scored first for the Tigers with a six-yard drive over tackle and J. D. Garrett converted. Shelling led a drive to the Panthers' 30 where Garrett kicked a field goal at the close of the first period.

Richmond In Win

BOSTON (UPI)—Richmond exploded for two touchdowns within 45 seconds in the third period Saturday night to hand Boston University its fifth consecutive defeat, 14-7.

Upsetters Lose

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Miami of Ohio, conqueror of Purdue in an upset a week ago and winner of nine straight, fell 12-6 to unbeaten Ohio University Saturday.

Syracuse Wins Cage Tilt Over Lakers By Six

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Syracuse Nationals came from behind in the final period Saturday night and beat the Los Angeles Lakers 108-102 in the Nats opening game of the National Basketball Association season.

After trailing by 11 points early in the game, Syracuse went ahead for the first time two minutes deep in the last quarter 82-80 on a long set shot by Al Bianchi. The lead changed hands five times in the next few minutes before the Nats went ahead to stay.

Auburn Tigers Surprise Tech

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Amazing Auburn landed a 17-point knockout wallop on Georgia Tech in the first 18 minutes Saturday, then had to hang on desperately for a 17-14 upset football triumph when Tech staged a pulsating comeback in the second half.

The victory left Auburn undefeated after four games and thrust the darkhorse Tigers into contention for the Southeastern Conference championship with nationally ranked powers like Alabama, LSU and Mississippi. The loss was Tech's second in five games.

plays of Gale Sayers, fleet Kansas halfback, and kept Kansas pinned in its own territory on Looney's great kicking.

Auburn almost ran favored Tech out of Legion Field in the first quarter. Senior halfback Jimmy Burson ran 57 yards for a touchdown on Auburn's first offensive play. The next time Burson got his hands on the ball he hauled it 14 yards to the Tech 11 and set up a second touchdown, this one a 5-yard pass from quarterback Mailon Kent to end Howard Simpson.

Kent then directed an Auburn drive to the Tech 9, and Woody Woodall kicked a 26-yard field goal to put Auburn ahead 17-0. Auburn recovered a fumble at the Tech 6 in the second quarter and except for a great goal-line stand by the Yellow Jackets, the game might have become a complete rout.

Tech surged back after intermission, however, and scored hampered in the first two periods by a savage Auburn line, guided Tech on a 57-yard scoring drive in eight plays. He ran four times during the drive for 27 yards and scored on a 6-yard burst.

Sophomore halfback Gerry Bussell returned an Auburn punt 75 yards in the fourth quarter, a glittering individual effort that left the game's outcome in doubt until the last minute.

Looney Leads Oklahoma By Kansas 13-7

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Joe Don Looney's 61-yard scoring burst and booming punts and some great Oklahoma line play gave the Sooners a 13-7 football victory over Kansas Saturday.

The victory served notice Bud Wilkinson's club is on its way back to the top in Big Eight football.

Kansas, a slight favorite because of its talented backfield, dominated the first quarter but the Sooners were in control thereafter.

Looney, a speedy 207-pounder tied the game 7-7 with his 61 yarder in the third quarter. Then the Sooners wrapped it up with a 56-yard scoring drive early in the final period.

Monte Deere, a gritty 166-pound senior quarterback who didn't practice all week because of a pulled groin muscle, started the winning drive with a 29-yard pass to sophomore end John Flynn. Deere got the touchdown on a 3-yard sweep after Jim Grisham, 205-pound rookie fullback, had carried on six of the previous seven plays.

Rodger McFarland, Kansas quarterback, fired a 38-yard scoring pass to halfback Tony Leiker in the first period. But Kansas was stopped cold from then on as the Sooners bottled up the wide

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Johnny Roland rolled up 155 yards in 19 carries, scored two touchdowns and led unbeaten Missouri to a 23-6 Big Eight Conference football victory over Oklahoma State Saturday.

Roland ran 6 yards in the first period and 18 in the third for his two scores. Halfback Bill Tobin ran 5 yards for a touchdown and Bill Leistritz booted a 25-yard field goal in the second quarter. Tobin and Leistritz each booted a conversion to round out Missouri scoring.

Oklahoma State finally scored with 3:38 remaining in the game on a pass from quarterback Mike Miller to Wardell Hollis deep in the Tiger end zone. Hollis made a fine leaping catch over the defending Vince Turner as the play covered 14 yards.

Oklahoma State's only other threat of the day came when the Cowpokes marched 75 yards to the Missouri 1, only to lose the ball on Don Karns' fumble.

Smash Buffs

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Iowa State exploded out of a three-game losing slump by crushing Colorado 57-19 behind the running of Dave Hoppmann and Ozzie Clay in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

Nebraska Lets Kansas Score; But Takes Tilt

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Undefeated Nebraska allowed Kansas State its first touchdown of the season Saturday before roaring back to overpower the Big Eight Conference football rival 26-6.

Winless and scoreless in four previous starts, Kansas scored on an 86-yard pass play, Larry Corrigan to Ralph McFillen, the first time it got the ball, and clung to a 6-0 first quarter lead.

But Nebraska asserted itself in the second quarter on the passing and clutch running of quarterback Dennis Claridge and led 14-6 at the intermission.

Oregon Scores 35-20 Victory Over Air Force

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Swift striking Oregon snapped a 14-14 halftime tie with two third period touchdowns that sent the Webfoots sailing past Air Force 35-20 Saturday.

The defeat ruined the Falcons' dedication of their $3.5 million stadium and disappointed the 33,343 spectators.

Oregon's tough defense forced Air Force to punt for the first time in the early minutes of the third quarter. That turned the tide.

Washington Wins

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Southern Methodist scored twice in the final 4½ minutes Saturday and upset favored Rice 15-7, snapping a winless streak that stretched back to mid-season of 1961.

The gambling Mustangs, who had gone eight games without victory, overcame a 7-0 deficit with 4:27 remaining in the opening Southwest Conference clash for both teams.

Gophers Defeat Illinois Eleven

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Surprising Illinois, riding the aerial thrusts of quarterback Mike Taliaferro, kept the pressure on listless Minnesota most of the way but the Gophers had enough offensive punch to grind out a 17-0 Big Ten football victory Saturday.

The Gophers marched 51 yards in the first half for a touchdown, then added a 27-yard field goal by transfer student Colin Versich and a last second touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Huskies Win

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Washington halfback Mat Whitmyer, starting his first 1962 game, raced 10 yards for one touchdown and set up the other with a 35-yard burst Saturday as the Huskies whipped Stanford 14-0 in their Big Six football battle.

OVER NOTRE DAME

Saimes Scores 3 To Lead Spartans

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Michigan State's fiery fullback, George Saimes, scored on slashing runs of 54, 49 and 15 yards as the Spartans whipped Notre Dame 31-7 before 60,116 rain-splattered football fans Saturday.

It was Michigan State's seventh successive triumph over Notre Dame and the second straight year the explosive 187-pound Saimes personally wrecked the Irish.

A 13-point favorite, Michigan State led at halftime only 12-7, but broke the game wide open with 19 points in the third quarter.

Saimes, who streaked 54 yards to score on the fifth play of the game, iced the contest early in the third period. He intercepted an Irish pass on Notre Dame's 21 and, four plays later on a fourth-and-4 situation, broke loose from a scrimmage line jam and raced 15 yards for an 18-7 Spartan lead.

In the third period, on fourth-and-8, quarterback Pete Smith tossed an 11-yard touchdown pass to soph end Dick Smith. Just before the third quarter ended, the inspired Saimes broke through Notre Dame's middle and rambled 49 yards, making it 31-7 for Michigan State.

Notre Dame's only score came in the first quarter, after Sherman Lewis circled the Irish left end and bolted 72 yards for a touchdown to give Michigan State a 12-0 lead and themakingsof a 12-0 lead and the makings of an apparent rout.

Purdue Rolls To Win Over Wolverines

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Quarterback Ron DiGravio threw three touchdown passes and scored once himself Saturday in a 37-0 Purdue football victory over Michigan, its first over the Wolverines in 33 years.

Purdue rebounded furiously from its upset by Miami of Ohio last week and piled up 412 yards from scrimmage to Michigan's 9.

The best Michigan could do was a drive that died on the Purdue 22 in the second quarter.

Purdue scored on its first play, a pass from DiGravio to Tom Fugate, fleet sophomore halfback from Springfield, Ohio, who was in the starting line-up for the first time. Fugate was all alone on the Michigan 20 when DiGravio threw from the Purdue 46. The conversion failed on a bad pass from center.

Baby Bengals Blank Rebel Frosh By 13-0

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State freshmen Saturday used two of the five passes they intercepted to start touchdown drives for a 13-0 victory over the Mississippi freshmen.

The Baby Bengals scored first in the second quarter after end Doug Moreau snagged a Jerry Stubblefield toss at the LSU 12. The Bengals drove 75 yards in 15 plays with Ray Loup scoring from the 2. Moreau converted.

Baker Passes Oregon State Past Pacific

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Quarterback Terry Baker fired four touchdown passes in the first 24 minutes, including three to Vern Burke, as Oregon State smothered University of Pacific 40-6 Saturday.

Baker, challenging for the nation's total offense leadership, amassed 186 yards rushing and passing in less than two full periods of action. Burke, a 6-foot-4 inch, 188-pound junior with deceptive speed, speared five passes for 112 yards, plus a two-point conversion pass. He leads the nation's pass catchers.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

Unbeaten Badgers Rip Iowa Hawkeyes, 42-14

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Undefeated Wisconsin, the nation's 10th-ranked football power, rolled to its fourth straight victory by crushing Big Ten rival Iowa 42-14 Saturday with the help of a 28-point second period outburst.

The surprising young Badgers survived an aerial blitz by Iowa's Matt Szykowny and exploded with an awesome attack engineered by quarterback Ron Vander Kelen.

The slick Wisconsin signal-caller, a senior who had seen only a minute and a half of varsity action before this season, passed for three touchdowns and set up the others for his fleet of swift, hard-hitting backs.

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Statistics of the Iowa-Wisconsin football game:

	IOWA	WISCONSIN
First downs	14	23
Rushing yardage	58	186
Passing yardage	259	238
Passes	16-30	22-34

Fumbles lost	3	0
Yards penalized	65	30

Sophomore Ron (Pinto) Smith led the scoring parade with three touchdowns. He caught a 10-yard scoring toss from Vander Kelen and ran for two other touchdowns from 9 and 4 yards out.

Iowa jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the first period as Szykowny connected with Floyd Webb on a 56-yard overhead maneuver. The Badgers tied the count in the second period as Vander Kelen and end Elmars Ezerins combined on a 35-yard pass play and then went in front on Smith's 9-yard dash.

However, Wisconsin quickly scored twice more on Vander Kelen's pass to Smith and a 2-yard dive into the end zone by sophomore Cal Silvestri.

The Badgers added two more touchdowns in the third period as Smith cracked the line from the right and Vander Kelen passed 4 yards to All America candidate end Pat Richter in the end zone. It marked the eighth straight game since 1961 that Richter has hauled down at least one scoring pass.

The Badgers' attack made a shambles of Iowa's highly touted defense, which had surrendered a mere 195 yards by rushing while the Hawkeyes won two of their first three starts.

Wisconsin piled up a net total of 424 yards — 186 on the ground and 238 in the air. Iowa netted only 58 by rushing, but collected 259 by passing, mostly before the Badgers went into a 4-4-3 umbrella defense in the second quarter.

The Badgers took the field in a vengeful mood, still smarting from a 47-15 defeat at Iowa City last year when the Hawkeyes called time out with two seconds remaining to try for a field goal and boost the margin.

FLUTTERING SINGLE WING

Alabama Punches Out Win Over Volunteers

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Unbeaten Alabama pulled the pinfeathers from Tennessee's fluttering single wing Saturday and punched out a ground, air and toe attack for a 27-7 Southeastern Conference victory.

Tennessee swallowed its fourth consecutive loss before a crowd of 44,501 in its newly renovated Newland Stadium and uncounted others on a regional television audience.

The Volunteers managed to stifle the power running of 'Bama fullback Eddie Versprille but had no weapon in the locker to handle quarterback Joe Namath's whistling passes.

Bobby Morton, an erratic passer who throws into the ground as often as into the hands of a receiver, gave the Vols their only punch. The junior tailback hit wingback Jerry Ensley with a Knee-high pass in the end zone for Tennessee's only score.

It was a bad loss for Tennessee Coach Bowden Wyatt. Enraged fans have been flooding the newspaper with letters demanding that Tennessee start winning. Even the Tennessee students left the stands Saturday when the outcome was certain.

Alabama halfback Cotton Clark, a rangy senior, roamed the Crimson Tide secondary with arms like butterfly nets. He knocked down or intercepted just about everything Morton and Tennessee tailback Mallon Faircloth dared to throw.

Namath's passes riddled the Tennessee secondary. Twice in the first period he threw Alabama down the field to paydirt and stepped back to let Tim Davis kick two field goals. He started the second period with a 35-yard pass in the end zone to halfback Benny Nelson for another score and opened the final period with a 45-yard pass to Dick Williamson that paved the way for Clark to punch over from three yards out.

Quarterback Jack Hurlbut took over to rifle a 20-yard scoring pass to Nelson toward the end of the game.

Curtis Sparks Duke's Victory Over Clemson

CLEMSON, S. C. (UPI)—Mike Curtis, a ball-hawking sophomore, pulled himself from the goat's role Saturday by setting up two touchdowns and scoring one of them to spark Duke to a 16-0 Atlantic Coast Conference win over Clemson.

In the opening minutes of the game the big fullback from Rockville, Md., fumbled on the Clemson one to spoil a long, well-executed Duke drive.

But midway in the second period he began making up for his bobble by batting an enemy pass into the air, catching it on the Clemson 35 and returning it to the 15. Three plays later he cracked over from the one for a touchdown.

He began icing the win in the third period by intercepting a Clemson pass on his 20 and returning to his 30. Ten plays and 70 yards later quarterback Walt Rappold rolled out for a four-yard touchdown.

Bill Reynolds, after making one extra point and missing another, sent a 30-yard kick through the uprights for a fourth period Duke field goal to wrap up the scoring.

WIN 17-14

Auburn Tigers Surprise Tech

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Amazing Auburn landed a 17-point knockout wallop on Georgia Tech in the first 18 minutes Saturday, then had to hang on desperately for a 17-14 upset football triumph when Tech staged a pulsating comeback in the second half.

The victory left Auburn undefeated after four games and thrust the darkhorse Tigers into contention for the Southeastern Conference championship with nationally ranked powers like Alabama, LSU and Mississippi. The loss was Tech's second in five games.

plays of Gale Sayers, fleet Kansas halfback, and kept Kansas pinned in its own territory on Looney's great kicking.

Auburn almost ran favored Tech out of Legion Field in the first quarter. Senior halfback Jimmy Burson ran 57 yards for a touchdown on Auburn's first offensive play. The next time Burson got his hands on the ball he hauled it 14 yards to the Tech 11 and set up a second touchdown, this one a 5-yard pass from quarterback Mailon Kent to end Howard Simpson.

Kent then directed an Auburn drive to the Tech 9, and Woody Woodall kicked a 26-yard field goal to put Auburn ahead 17-0. Auburn recovered a fumble at the Tech 6 in the second quarter and except for a great goal-line stand by the Yellow Jackets, the game might have become a complete rout.

Tech surged back after intermission, however, and scored hampered in the first two periods by a savage Auburn line, guided Tech on a 57-yard scoring drive in eight plays. He ran four times during the drive for 27 yards and scored on a 6-yard burst.

Sophomore halfback Gerry Bussell returned an Auburn punt 75 yards in the fourth quarter, a glittering individual effort that left the game's outcome in doubt until the last minute.

FLUTTERING SINGLE WING

Alabama Punches Out Win Over Volunteers

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Unbeaten Alabama pulled the pinfeathers from Tennessee's fluttering single wing Saturday and punched out a ground, air and toe attack for a 27-7 Southeastern Conference victory.

Tennessee swallowed its fourth consecutive loss before a crowd of 44,501 in its newly renovated Newland Stadium and uncounted others on a regional television audience.

The Volunteers managed to stifle the power running of 'Bama fullback Eddie Versprille but had no weapon in the locker to handle quarterback Joe Namath's whistling passes.

Bobby Morton, an erratic passer who throws into the ground as often as into the hands of a receiver, gave the Vols their only punch. The junior tailback hit wingback Jerry Ensley with a Knee-high pass in the end zone for Tennessee's only score.

Looney Leads Oklahoma By Kansas 13-7

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Joe Don Looney's 61-yard scoring burst and booming punts and some great Oklahoma line play gave the Sooners a 13-7 football victory over Kansas Saturday.

The victory served notice Bud Wilkinson's club is on its way back to the top in Big Eight football.

Kansas, a slight favorite because of its talented backfield, dominated the first quarter but the Sooners were in control thereafter.

Looney, a speedy 207-pounder tied the game 7-7 with his 61 yarder in the third quarter. Then the Sooners wrapped it up with a 56-yard scoring drive early in the final period.

Monte Deere, a gritty 166-pound senior quarterback who didn't practice all week because of a pulled groin muscle, started the winning drive with a 29-yard pass to sophomore end John Flynn. Deere got the touchdown on a 3-yard sweep after Jim Grisham, 205-pound rookie fullback, had carried on six of the previous seven plays.

Rodger McFarland, Kansas quarterback, fired a 38-yard scoring pass to halfback Tony Leiker in the first period. But Kansas was stopped cold from then on as the Sooners bottled up the wide

Nebraska Lets Kansas Score; But Takes Tilt

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Undefeated Nebraska allowed Kansas State its first touchdown of the season Saturday before roaring back to overpower the Big Eight Conference football rival 26-6.

Winless and scoreless in four previous starts, Kansas scored on an 86-yard pass play, Larry Corrigan to Ralph McFillen, the first time it got the ball, and clung to a 6-0 first quarter lead.

But Nebraska asserted itself in the second quarter on the passing and clutch running of quarterback Dennis Claridge and led 14-6 at the intermission.

Oregon Scores 35-20 Victory Over Air Force

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Swift striking Oregon snapped a 14-14 halftime tie with two third period touchdowns that sent the Webfoots sailing past Air Force 35-20 Saturday.

The defeat ruined the Falcons' dedication of their $3.5 million stadium and disappointed the 33,343 spectators.

Oregon's tough defense forced Air Force to punt for the first time in the early minutes of the third quarter. That turned the tide.

Mustangs Top Rice By 15-7 In Shocker

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Southern Methodist scored twice in the final 4½ minutes Saturday and upset favored Rice 15-7, snapping a winless streak that stretched back to mid-season of 1961.

The gambling Mustangs, who had gone eight games without victory, overcame a 7-0 deficit with 4:27 remaining in the opening Southwest Conference clash for both teams.

End Bill Harlan pounced on a fumble by Rice quarterback Walter McReynolds at the Owl 10 and three plays later quarterback Don Campbell sneaked in from the 1. Max Derden gambled on a pass for two points and hit Tommy Brennan to put SMU into an 8-7 lead.

Moments later linebacker John Hughes intercepted his fourth enemy pass of the afternoon and the Mustangs were en route to their clinching touchdown.

Purdue Rolls To Win Over Wolverines

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Quarterback Ron DiGravio threw three touchdown passes and scored once himself Saturday in a 37-0 Purdue football victory over Michigan, its first over the Wolverines in 33 years.

Purdue rebounded furiously from its upset by Miami of Ohio last week and piled up 412 yards from scrimmage to Michigan's 9.

The best Michigan could do was a drive that died on the Purdue 22 in the second quarter.

Purdue scored on its first play, a pass from DiGravio to Tom Fugate, fleet sophomore halfback from Springfield, Ohio, who was in the starting line-up for the first time. Fugate was all alone on the Michigan 20 when DiGravio threw from the Purdue 46. The conversion failed on a bad pass from center.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

Unbeaten Badgers Rip Iowa Hawkeyes, 42-14

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Undefeated Wisconsin, the nation's 10th-ranked football power, rolled to its fourth straight victory by crushing Big Ten rival Iowa 42-14 Saturday with the help of a 28-point second period outburst.

The surprising young Badgers survived an aerial blitz by Iowa's Matt Szykowny and exploded with an awesome attack engineered by quarterback Ron Vander Kelen.

The slick Wisconsin signal-caller, a senior who had seen only a minute and a half of varsity action before this season, passed for three touchdowns and set up the others for his fleet of swift, hard-hitting backs.

Sophomore Ron (Pinto) Smith led the scoring parade with three touchdowns. He caught a 10-yard scoring toss from Vander Kelen and ran for two other touchdowns from 9 and 4 yards out.

Iowa jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the first period as Szykowny connected with Floyd Webb on a 56-yard overhead maneuver. The Badgers tied the count in the second period as Vander Kelen and end Elmars Ezerins combined on a 35-yard pass play and then went in front on Smith's 9-yard dash.

However, Wisconsin quickly scored twice more on Vander Kelen's pass to Smith and a 2-yard dive into the end zone by sophomore Cal Silvestri.

The Badgers added two more touchdowns in the third period as Smith cracked the line from the right and Vander Kelen passed 4 yards to All America candidate end Pat Richter in the end zone. It marked the eighth straight game since 1961 that Richter has hauled down at least one scoring pass.

The Badgers' attack made a shambles of Iowa's highly touted defense, which had surrendered a mere 195 yards by rushing while the Hawkeyes won two of their first three starts.

Wisconsin piled up a net total of 424 yards — 186 on the ground and 238 in the air. Iowa netted only 58 by rushing, but collected 259 by passing, mostly before the Badgers went into a 4-4-3 umbrella defense in the second quarter.

The Badgers took the field in a vengeful mood, still smarting from a 47-15 defeat at Iowa City last year when the Hawkeyes called time out with two seconds remaining to try for a field goal and boost the margin.

Dry Marsh Country

It's dry in the marsh country of Louisiana.

That's the Cajun forecast as the first vanguard of ducks and geese head south in a thirsty October, quacking a signal that says winter is on its way.

If you've glanced skyward these nippy mornings and crisp afternoons, more than likely you've seen it too — that familiar V-shape of wild geese on the run.

Those are blue geese — the first of the big flight that normally comes between October 23rd and November 1st. So far about 2,000 of their kind have arrived in the Louisiana marshes.

Richard Yancey, assistant director of the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, flew the marsh country Friday in preparation of a tour of waterfowl improvements made this weekend by representatives of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

Dick says he saw about a quarter of a million ducks, but only a handful of mallards. It's too early for the greenheads although their smaller kinsmen — teal and the like — are coming south already.

But the big flight of ducks from Canada will come between November 1-10th.

However, most of the ducks and geese that have arrived probably will move on to Mexico and South America, because the Louisiana marches are dry.

Dick Yancey says it's dryer than it's been since 1951, but this in his opinion will not have any affect on the waterfowl conditions of North Louisiana.

A look at the marsh conditions and improvements that the commission have done was to be made this weekend by federation leaders, including Lloyd Voorhees of Monroe and Hollis Ervin of Tallulah.

They'll get an eye full, but so will you if you start watching the sky. It's fall in Louisiana.

Apes, Giant Snakes

A good look at wildlife from foreign lands will be afforded the public within the next several days when the City of Monroe completes its expansion program at the Monroe zoo.

Cages are now being built in a combination reptile and apehouse to house a wide variety of new animals and giant snakes at the local zoo, which is fast becoming a popular attraction in Monroe.

This new ape - house will be opened to the public next Sunday, October 28th, when the Monroe Optimist Club sponsors "A Day at the Zoo with Arthur Jones," featuring big game hunter Arthur Jones who furnished the city with its new attractions.

Jones will conduct exhibitions at various times during the special "zoo day" while the Optimists handle the concessions to finance the construction of a $500 tiger cage at the Bernstein Park zoo. A 10 cent contribution per person will be asked for at the gate.

The city's new animals and reptiles will include four pythons, one measuring over 30 feet long, a 1300 - pound crocodile, cobras, boa constrictors, a pair of panthers, chimpanzes, Himalayan Bear and a number of other new attractions.

Make plans to attend. It'll be an education.

Honor A Veteran

One of Louisiana's veteran game enforcement agents, Hartwell Love of Ferriday, has been honored for his many years of service to the state's conservation program by the Ferriday Kiwanis Club.

Capt. Love, a former Concordia Parish sheriff, has been a law man for years. In honoring his services, Director L. D. Young presented the captain with a plaque containing the original conservation agent badge issued to him in 1935.

Young said Capt. Love was one of the most conscientious wildlife agents ever to wear the badge.

Several representatives of the commission were present at the recent banquet, but probably the happiest people there were Mrs. Love and the captain's sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Love and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Love.

It was a well - deserved honor for Capt. Love.

Wildlife Tidbits

For those who are interested, the Wild Life & Fisheries Commission will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday at 10 a.m. in New Orleans at 400 Royal Street. You can attend if you like.

Meantime, state surveys show that Bussey Brake, built by International Paper Co. at Bastrop, is paying off. Within a two - year period between April 30, 1960 and April 30, 1962, slightly over 115,000 anglers caught nearly one million fish that weighed approximately 430,000 pounds in Bussey.

The reservoir covers 2200 acres, which means that during the two years there was an average of 29.6 fishermen per acre of water in Bussey.

Still on fishing, the commission announces that resident fishing licenses purchased in Louisiana have reached the highest mark in the state's history.

The 1961-62 total was 202,297 resident fishing licenses issued for the period. This was an increase over the 1954 high when 187,832 licenses were issued.

Total fishing licenses issued, including resident and non - resident reached a high of 224,601.

Hunting licenses purchased showed a decrease of four per cent over the 1960-61 season, with 247,227, as compared with a total of 257,438 for the 1960-61 season.

Little Man's Corner

The ducks were flying and the time was right for the little men to make news afield.

Iley Garr of Newellton bagged the biggest one as he dropped a spike buck with a bow and arrow. Shooting a 53 - pound bow, Iley's arrow went clean through the deer. It was a close shot.

But squirrel hunting continues to capture the most interest. Two youngsters in Franklin Parish bagged their squirrels. John Krik Graney, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Graney, of Swampers killed two squirrels and a rabbit on his very first hunt.

And 8-year-old Pat Hollis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hollis, of Winnsboro bagged a squirrel on his first hunt with a .410 shotgun.

From Monroe, little Todd Cagle killed a squirrel, but this was not his first one. His ole papa, Ira Cagle, killed eight.

Another group of local sports killed 15 squirrels in Lafourche Swamp — Gary Burford, Gordon Surguine and Art DeLoach. DeLoach got one and for some reason we suspect that Burford got the limit.

From Lake Providence, Jimmy Baur has been having good luck, getting the limit most of the times out. But on a recent hunt he only got five, which is pretty good for some.

Another Lake Providence hunter, T. C. Hall, has killed a total of 37 squirrels so far. Bill Ragland Sr. and his son, Marvin Ragland, hunt early most every day, averaging five or six squirrels each.

Fishing also pays off for some sportsmen around Lake Providence. Mrs. Sam Foutz has had good luck with the catfish and white perch in the River Chute. Mrs. Morris Coleman got the limit of white perch there while Claude Rinnicker got eight specs and a string of catfish.

From Winnsboro, Jack Miller, H. W. Armstrong Sr. and H. W. Armstrong Jr. got the limit of large white perch at Mean's Lake with shiner. They were fishing six feet deep at the edge of the bushes.

And for a late report, word comes from Tensas Parish that two more Tensas archers bagged their bucks during the special archery season that ended October 15th.

J. M. Stanton writes in to report that Byron Pearson killed a large 7 - point buck with three shots, two going completely through the deer. His brother, Stanton, killed a doe with one shot.

VETERAN AGENT Capt. Hartwell Love (center) receives a plaque from Director L. D. Young, sponsored by the Ferriday Kiwanis Club, for his many years of service. Mrs. Love looks on. Capt. Love, a former Concordia Parish sheriff, was presented with his original agent's badge from 1935.

Pitt Whips UCLA With Extra Points

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An improvised two-point conversion pass from Jim Traficant to Rick Leeson provided Pitt with an 8-6 football victory Saturday over previous unbeaten UCLA.

The two-pointer followed Paul Martha's 6-yard sweep around left end on a pitch out midway through the third period.

Fullback Leeson lined up to kick the conversion with Traficant holding. The snap from center was high. Traficant dropped back looking for a receiver. Leeson dashed into the right corner of the end zone and snared Traficant's toss in between two UCLA defeners.

Engineered by sophomore quarterback Larry Zeno, the star of the 9-7 upset of mighty Ohio State, the Bruins marched back minutes later for a touchdown on Kermit Alexander's 1-yard sweep.

But Zeno's pass on a two-point conversion attempt failed when Alexander pulled in the pass but was tackled near the 10-yard line by end Joe Kuzneski.

Zeno tried to bring the Bruins back in the fourth quarter as they reached the Panther 21. However, the attack stalled and Zeno, whose field goal two weeks ago beat Ohio State, attempted a three-pointer from the 29. It sailed wide to the right.

The Bruins stormed back again in the final minutes of the game but sophomore Marty Schottenheimer of Pitt intercepted Zeno's pass on the Pitt 28.

Pitt scored first in the third quarter after the teams played a scoreless tie through a punt-dominated first half. Concentrating on a ground attack, the Panthers steadily ripped apart the UCLA line for short, but sufficient, gains.

Before scoring, Martha ran for 22 yards in five plays and caught a 10-yard pass from Traficant. His 6-yard touchdown jaunt climaxed the 12-play, 58-yard drive.

Nittany Lions Top Syracuse In 20-19 Tilt

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —Penn State guard Harrison Rosdahl blocked a 34-yard field goal attempt by Tom Mingo on the last play of the game Saturday, spoiling a gallant bid by Syracuse for an upset as the Nittany Lions won 20-19.

The blocked kick bounced high in the air and was grabbed by State end Dave Robinson as the gun sounded.

The Lions scored the winning touchdown 10 minutes earlier on Dave Hayes' 1-yard plunge, capping a 58-yard march sparked by the revived passing of quarterback Pete Liske.

Liske completed three key passes in the march, one of 15 yards to halfback Roger Kochman and two of 6 and 4 yards to Robinson. Hayes scored on the next play.

Kochman scored two quick first quarter touchdowns on a 32-yard run and a 32-yard pass from Liske.

Jitterbugging quarterback Wally Malley and hard-running Don King spearheaded the Syracuse attack.

Mahle passed 11 yards to end Walt Sweeney for one TD and scored another on an 8-yard run. King scampered 35 yards off tackle for the Orange's second six-pointer.

Wildcats Defeat Ohio; Keep Big 10 Top Spot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Northwestern spotted highly favored Ohio State a 14-point first period edged Saturday and then roared back for an 18-14 victory over the Buckeyes to retain first place in the Big Ten football conference.

Thus the Ohioans, rated No. 1 in the pre-season poll, were entirely deflated after their prestige had been punctured two weeks ago by UCLA in a similar upset.

Halfback Bob Klein returned Northwestern's opening kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown, and late in the period the Bucks marched 71 yards in 14 plays to send fullback Dave Francis over from the 9 for a second score. At that point it looked like a route for Ohio State.

Then Northwestern uncovered its vaunted air arm in Tommy Myers, sophomore from Troy, Ohio, and the Wildcats moved on to victory. In the second quarter, after Chuck Logan had hit quarterback Joe Sparma behind the line, shaking the ball loose for a recovery by Jack Cvercko, Northwestern moved 42 yards in 10 plays with Myers hitting Paul Flatley with a 9-yard scoring pass.

Late in the period, Roland Wahl intercepted a Sparma pass and 11 plays and 53 yards later fullback Bill Swingle was in Ohio State's end zone on a 1-foot plunge. Both attempts for two-point conversions failed, and Ohio State clung to a narrow 14-12 edge.

The payoff came with about five minutes to go in the final period as the 'Cats stole Ohio State's ground-eating thunder and rushed 42 yards in six plays with Steve Murphy scoring from the 1.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—A 49-yard touchdown pass play from quarterback Junior Edge to end Bob Lacey in the closing minutes gave victory-hungry North Carolina a 19-14 triumph over South Carolina Saturday in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game.

Navy Converts Boston Mistakes Into 26-6 Win

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Navy alertly converted Boston College mistakes into a 26-6 football victory Saturday with the Middies' sophomore 1-2 punch of Frank Staubach and Pat Donnelly delivering the knockout blows.

The teams were locked in a 6-6 duel and BC was driving toward an apparent go - ahead touchdown when stubby junior guard A Krekich intercepted a wide angle sideline pass at his 14 and ran it back 39 yards.

Donnelly finished off the drive by hurdling over his left tackle to cover the final 6 yards. He later caught the second of Staubach's two scoring passes.

Fumble recoveries by halfback Ray Snyder and end Dave Sjuggerud ignited two more Navy drives as the Middies began ripping through the discouraged Eagle ranks.

Dry Marsh Country

It's dry in the marsh country of Louisiana.

That's the Cajun forecast as the first vanguard of ducks and geese head south in a thirsty October, quacking a signal that says winter is on its way.

If you've glanced skyward these nippy mornings and crisp afternoons, more than likely you've seen it too — that familiar V-shape of wild geese on the run.

Those are blue geese — the first of the big flight that normally comes between October 23rd and November 1st. So far about 2,000 of their kind have arrived in the Louisiana marshes.

Richard Yancey, assistant director of the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, flew the marsh country Friday in preparation of a tour of waterfowl improvements made this weekend by representatives of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

Dick says he saw about a quarter of a million ducks, but only a handful of mallards. It's too early for the greenheads although their smaller kinsmen — teal and the like — are coming south already.

But the big flight of ducks from Canada will come between November 1-10th.

However, most of the ducks and geese that have arrived probably will move on to Mexico and South America, because the Louisiana marches are dry.

Dick Yancey says it's dryer than it's been since 1951, but this in his opinion will not have any affect on the waterfowl conditions of North Louisiana.

A look at the marsh conditions and improvements that the commission have done was to be made this weekend by federation leaders, including Lloyd Voorhees of Monroe and Hollis Ervin of Tallulah.

They'll get an eye full, but so will you if you start watching the sky. It's fall in Louisiana.

Apes, Giant Snakes

A good look at wildlife from foreign lands will be afforded the public within the next several days when the City of Monroe completes its expansion program at the Monroe zoo.

Cages are now being built in a combination reptile and ape-house to house a wide variety of new animals and giant snakes at the local zoo, which is fast becoming a popular attraction in Monroe.

This new ape - house will be opened to the public next Sunday, October 28th, when the Monroe Optimist Club sponsors "A Day at the Zoo with Arthur Jones," featuring big game hunter Arthur Jones who furnished the city with its new attractions.

Jones will conduct exhibitions at various times during the special "zoo day" while the Optimists handle the concessions to finance the construction of a $500 tiger cage at the Bernstein Park zoo. A 10 cent contribution per person will be asked for at the gate.

The city's new animals and reptiles will include four pythons, one measuring over 30 feet long, a 1300 - pound crocodile, cobras, boa constrictors, a pair of panthers, chimpanzes, Himalayan Bear and a number of other new attractions.

Make plans to attend. It'll be an education.

Honor A Veteran

One of Louisiana's veteran game enforcement agents, Hartwell Love of Ferriday, has been honored for his many years of service to the state's conservation program by the Ferriday Kiwanis Club.

Capt. Love, a former Concordia Parish sheriff, has been a law man for years. In honoring his services, Director L. D. Young presented the captain with a plaque containing the original conservation agent badge issued to him in 1935.

Young said Capt. Love was one of the most conscientious wildlife agents ever to wear the badge.

Several representatives of the commission were present at the recent banquet, but probably the happiest people there were Mrs. Love and the captain's sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Love and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Love.

It was a well - deserved honor for Capt. Love.

Wildcats Defeat Ohio; Keep Big 10 Top Spot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Northwestern spotted highly favored Ohio State a 14-point first period edged Saturday and then roared back for an 18-14 victory over the Buckeyes to retain first place in the Big Ten football conference.

Thus the Ohioans, rated No. 1 in the pre-season poll, were entirely deflated after their prestige had been punctured two weeks ago by UCLA in a similar upset.

Halfback Bob Klein returned Northwestern's opening kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown, and late in the period the Bucks marched 71 yards in 14 plays to send fullback Dave Francis over from the 9 for a second score. At that point it looked like a route for Ohio State.

Then Northwestern uncovered its vaunted air arm in Tommy Myers, sophomore from Troy, Ohio, and the Wildcats moved on to victory. In the second quarter, after Chuck Logan had hit quarterback Joe Sparma behind the line, shaking the ball loose for a recovery by Jack Cvercko, Northwestern moved 42 yards in 10 plays with Myers hitting Paul Flatley with a 9-yard scoring pass.

Late in the period, Roland Wahl intercepted a Sparma pass and 11 plays and 53 yards later fullback Bill Swingle was in Ohio State's end zone on a 1-foot plunge. Both attempts for two-point conversions failed, and Ohio State clung to a narrow 14-12 edge.

The payoff came with about five minutes to go in the final period as the 'Cats stole Ohio State's ground-eating thunder and rushed 42 yards in six plays with Steve Murphy scoring from the 1.

Pass Play Gives North Carolina Win Over SC

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—A 49-yard touchdown pass play from quarterback Junior Edge to end Bob Lacey in the closing minutes gave victory-hungry North Carolina a 19-14 triumph over South Carolina Saturday in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game.

A crowd of 25,000, including 56 bands, saw South Carolina come back and reach the North Carolina 2-yard line on a 33-yard pass from quarterback Dan Reeves to halfback Sammy Anderson. But the game ended before the Gamecocks could get off another play.

A party atmosphere prevailed at Strauss Playhouse Wednesday night for the gala Preview attended by patrons, trustees, and members of the board of directors and their families. This was First Night for theatre-goers for 1962-63 with "The Solid Gold Cadillac" the years' first production.

Dressing up adds to the fun of any occasion. And with a theme like "Solid Gold," ladies may go all out. Among the golden outfits we noted TRUE RUDISILL in gold chiffon, worn with a white sweater, beaded in gold, and gold accessories ..... ANN BELL in gold silk with woven satin stripe ..... and LALLAGE FEAZEL in a stunning black and gold brocade theatre suit, collared in dark ranch mink . . . . . white and transparent Oriental silk, banded in gold, was used for JACKIE WOODS' dress and matching full-length coat ..... The MAC WARDS and FRED HUENEFELDS, JR., made a handsome foursome with the gentlemen in dinner jackets, most flattering of backgrounds for their ladies' elegance. Sue's outfit was gold brocade sheath topped with cropped jacket of the same material; while Jean chose gold lame, styled with cowl neckline and sheath skirt.

Other colors were also popular with the ladies, as witness MYRTLE CARTER's chiffon, clear jade green, worn with dyed to match shoes ..... and RACHEL OBER's brilliant turquoise chiffon ..... KARIN WHITE wore a theatre suit of white brocade, and RUTH HENRY, mauve pink silk ..... With a dress of shocking pink crepe, VIRGINIA HEARD chose shoes and bag printed in stained glass colors ..... CAROL LAYTON's costume suit was of brocade in shades of bronze and silver.....

Lobby decorations reflected the play's title, with tiny gold Cadillacs suspended from each light fixture and a large drawing dominating one wall. Mrs. Partridge's solid gold chauffeur opened the door for arriving theatre-goers. At intermission, refreshments were served at one end of the lobby. The table, covered with a cut-work linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement incorporating orchids, miniature mink stoles, diamond bracelets, and a solid gold Cadillac. Hostesses, all of whom wore corsages of gold orchids, included LILY HARRINGTON, ANNA GRAY NOE, HARRIET CALE, MILDRED EWING, and FRANCES M'HENRY.

A popular visitor in town this week has been MARIE BURDINE, former Monroyan now living in Waynesburg, Pennsylvania. Last Thursday, MARIE SMITH was hostess for luncheon at the Paragon club, honoring the guest. On Friday, FAY WINK invited five for luncheon at her home. A wooden bowl filled with polished apples and greenery centered the table.

After lunch, the group moved on to the home of DIBBLE PATE, where members of Marie's former bridge club were invited for dessert.

Wednesday, JEAN DIXON named Marie guest of honor at bridge-luncheon in her home. The buffet table, decorated with an arrangement of fall foliage, was set up in the den. Included on the Autumn menu were smoked ham, green beans with potatoes, stewed apples, and green salad, with Alabama biscuits. Lemon pie was served for dessert.

Three tables of players took part in bridge games after lunch, with prizes going to CHARLOTTE BRIGHT, high; LIBBY ATKINSON, second; and SARA MAYO, low.

This coming Thursday the Pink Ladies will entertain with their annual tea for St. Francis Hospital Guild. The affair is planned for 2:30 until 4:30 in the home of MAMIE SCOTT, 2752 Point Drive, according to GLADYS KULCKE, president. Others working on Thursday's affair are BILLIE ROOT, general chairman, and HELEN LEWIS, MARY LEE MILAN, and STELLA BERNHARDT.

A luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club honored JOAN BERKHALTER on her eleventh birthday last Saturday. Eleven little girls were seated at the table on the porch. A yellow cloth was used with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums in fall yellow and brown tones. Following lunch, games were played, with EMILY SEEGERS and DOTTY FREEMAN winning prizes.

For their sixth birthdays, TERESA EDWARDS and SUSAN BELL entertained with a Hallowe'en party in the young people's lounge at Bayou DeSiard country club. Black and orange crepe paper, accented with cut outs of witches and clusters of balloons, decorated the room. Little guests followed streamers to find their noisemaker favors in a witch's cauldron. Games included a dart game and pin - the - nose - on-the - pumpkin, with prizes going to ANN LEDBETTER, JOHN GIFFEN, and GREGORY WEBB.

Two jack - of - lanterns and two cakes iced as pumpkins with orange icing decorated the refreshment table. Chocolate bits for eyes and cherries for lips converted dips of ice cream into jack-o-lanterns. Fifty boys and girls attended the party.

When VICKY HILL entertained her bridge club Wednesday, 'twas really a "room-warming" for the new family room she and Shelby added to their house in the recently - completed re-modelling. Two rooms were added, and extensive changes made in the existing structure. The exterior of the house is now painted a restful shade of celadon green, with darker green shutters.

Inside, the former living room has been eliminated, with extra space used to enlarge the entrance and dining rooms. Italian microsaic wood flooring, consisting of tiny squares of various types of hardwood, covers the entrance hall floor. Walls are covered with a paper in shades of blues, green, and gold, hung above a pale leaf green wainscoting. In one corner stands an Oriental goddess, banked in greenery, before a wooden screen.

The former family room has been converted into the formal living room, done in shades of green and gold. Carpet of a velvety deep pile, walls, and draperies are the same soft grey-green. Flanking the fireplace stand a pair of barrel chairs, upholstered in green and gold. Furniture is fruitwood . . . In the dining room, light is provided by a skylight. An Oriental scenic paper hangs above green wainscoting. The oval fruitwood table is encircled with cane-back chairs with leather seats. The breakfront is lighted within, displaying to advantage choice pieces from Vicky's collection of antique china.

Two steps down from house level, the new family room extends across the back, with glass panels opening on the patio. This is a king-sized room with cypress panelling and a beamed ceiling. A long green sofa angles to face the open fireplace built into one corner of the room . The hearth, at sitting height, extends across one wall under open bookcases. Two other walls are filled with shelves behind cane doors which conceal shelves, storage, and stereo.

One steps up again to the breakfast area, which with the kitchen is part of the new construction. Flooring is corlon, and cabinets and panelling of walnut. White Formica is used on counter tops in the serving area, while in the cooking area, stainless steel is noted in counters and appliances. Cabinets conceal all types of carefully engineered storage.

MISS LINDA MARIE PRUITT

Miss Pruitt Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pruitt, route 1, Jones, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Linda Marie Pruitt to Willie E. Watson, 902 South Seventh, Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Viola Watson, Rayville, and the late Harvey W. Watson Sr.

The couple will exchange wedding vows on Sunday, November 18 in Holly Ridge Baptist Church at Jones. Rev. Nealy Shinn, will perform the ceremony at 3:30 p.m.

Miss Brenda Gambrell of Houma, has been chosen by the bride-elect as maid of honor. Donald M. Hill of Monroe, will attend Mr. Watson as best man and ushers will be Leland Levi Pruitt, of Jones, brother of the bride-elect, and Tom Watson, Rayville, brother of the future bridegroom.

Miss Pruitt is the granddaughter of Mrs. Lela Floyd Sr., of Jones. She is a graduate of Bonita high school and is presently a senior at Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe, where she will graduate with a degree in Business Education in January, 1963.

Mr. Watson is a graduate of Rayville high school and is employed by the City of Monroe with the police department.

For our poem today, here are lines from Childe Harold's Pilgrimage by Lord Byron:

I have not loved the world, nor the world me;
I have not flattered its rank breath, nor bowed
To its idolatries a patient knee,
Nor coined my cheek to smiles nor cried aloud
In worship of an echo; in the crowd
They could not deem me one of such; I stood
Amongst them, but not of them; in a shroud
Of thoughts which were not their thoughts, and still could,
Had I not filled my mind, which thus itself subdued.
I have not loved the world, nor the world me —
But let us part fair foes; I do believe,
Though I have found them not, that there may be
Words which are things, hopes which will not deceive,
And virtues which are merciful, nor weave
Snares for the failing; I would also deem
O'er others' griefs that some sincerely grieve;
That two, or one, are almost what they seem,
That goodness is no name, and happiness no dream.

Couple Plans Nuptial

Mr. and Mrs. James Howard Williams of Monroe announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna Gretchen Williams to Sergeant David Claude Wiggins, son of Mrs. David Marion Wiggins and the late Mr. Wiggins, also of Monroe.

A party atmosphere prevailed at Strauss Playhouse Wednesday night for the gala Preview attended by patrons, trustees, and members of the board of directors and their families. This was First Night for theatre-goers for 1962-63 with "The Solid Gold Cadillac" the years' first production.

Dressing up adds to the fun of any occasion. And with a theme like "Solid Gold," ladies may go all out. Among the golden outfits we noted TRUE RUDISILL in gold chiffon, worn with a white sweater, beaded in gold, and gold accessories ..... ANN BELL in gold silk with woven satin stripe ..... and LALLAGE FEAZEL in a stunning black and gold brocade theatre suit, collared in dark ranch mink ..... white and transparent Oriental silk, banded in gold, was used for JACKIE WOODS' dress and matching full-length coat ..... The MAC WARDS and FRED HUENEFELDS, JR., made a handsome foursome with the gentlemen in dinner jackets, most flattering of backgrounds for their ladies' elegance. Sue's outfit was gold brocade sheath topped with cropped jacket of the same material; while Jean chose gold lame, styled with cowl neckline and sheath skirt.

Other colors were also popular with the ladies, as witness MYRTLE CARTER's chiffon, clear jade green, worn with dyed to match shoes ..... and RACHEL OBER's brilliant turquoise chiffon ..... KARIN WHITE wore a theatre suit of white brocade, and RUTH HENRY, mauve pink silk ..... With a dress of shocking pink crepe, VIRGINIA HEARD chose shoes and bag printed in stained glass colors ..... CAROL LAYTON's costume suit was of brocade in shades of bronze and silver.....

Lobby decorations reflected the play's title, with tiny gold Cadillacs suspended from each light fixture and a large drawing dominating one wall. Mrs. Partridge's solid gold chauffeur opened the door for arriving theatre-goers. At intermission, refreshments were served at one end of the lobby. The table, covered with a cut-work linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement incorporating orchids, miniature mink stoles, diamond bracelets, and a solid gold Cadillac. Hostesses, all of whom wore corsages of gold orchids, included LILY HARRINGTON, ANNA GRAY NOE, HARRIET CALE, MILDRED EWING, and FRANCES M'HENRY.

A popular visitor in town this week has been MARIE BURDINE, former Monroyan now living in Waynesburg, Pennsylvania. Last Thursday, MARIE SMITH was hostess for luncheon at the Paragon club, honoring the guest. On Friday, FAY WINK invited five for luncheon at her home. A wooden bowl filled with polished apples and greenery centered the table.

After lunch, the group moved on to the home of DIBBLE PATE, where members of Marie's former bridge club were invited for dessert.

Wednesday, JEAN DIXON named Marie guest of honor at bridge-luncheon in her home. The buffet table, decorated with an arrangement of fall foliage, was set up in the den. Included on the Autumn menu were smoked ham, green beans with potatoes, stewed apples, and green salad, with Alabama biscuits. Lemon pie was served for dessert.

Three tables of players took part in bridge games after lunch, with prizes going to CHARLOTTE BRIGHT, high; LIBBY ATKINSON, second; and SARA MAYO, low.

This coming Thursday the Pink Ladies will entertain with their annual tea for St. Francis Hospital Guild. The affair is planned for 2:30 until 4:30 in the home of MAMIE SCOTT, 2752 Point Drive, according to GLADYS KULCKE, president. Others working on Thursday's affair are BILLIE ROOT, general chairman, and HELEN LEWIS, MARY LEE MILAN, and STELLA BERNHARDT.

A luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club honored JOAN BERKHALTER on her eleventh birthday last Saturday. Eleven little girls were seated at the table on the porch. A yellow cloth was used with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums in fall yellow and brown tones. Following lunch, games were played, with EMILY SEEGERS and DOTTY FREEMAN winning prizes.

For their sixth birthdays, TERESA EDWARDS and SUSAN BELL entertained with a Hallowe'en party in the young people's lounge at Bayou DeSiard country club. Black and orange crepe paper, accented with cut outs of witches and clusters of balloons, decorated the room. Little guests followed streamers to find their noisemaker favors in a witch's cauldron. Games included a dart game and pin - the - nose - on-the - pumpkin, with prizes going to ANN LEDBETTER, JOHN GIFFEN, and GREGORY WEBB.

Two jack - of - lanterns and two cakes iced as pumpkins with orange icing decorated the refreshment table. Chocolate bits for eyes and cherries for lips converted dips of ice cream into jack-o-lanterns. Fifty boys and girls attended the party.

When VICKY HILL entertained her bridge club Wednesday, 'twas really a "room-warming" for the new family room she and Shelby added to their house in the recently - completed re-modelling. Two rooms were added, and extensive changes made in the existing structure. The exterior of the house is now painted a restful shade of celadon green, with darker green shutters.

Inside, the former living room has been eliminated, with extra space used to enlarge the entrance and dining rooms. Italian microsaic wood flooring, consisting of tiny squares of various types of hardwood, covers the entrance hall floor. Walls are covered with a paper in shades of blues, green, and gold, hung above a pale leaf green wainscoting. In one corner stands an Oriental goddess, banked in greenery, before a wooden screen.

The former family room has been converted into the formal living room, done in shades of green and gold. Carpet of a velvety deep pile, walls, and draperies are the same soft grey-green. Flanking the fireplace stand a pair of barrel chairs, upholstered in green and gold. Furniture is fruitwood ..... In the dining room, light is provided by a skylight. An Oriental scenic paper hangs above green wainscoting. The oval fruitwood table is encircled with cane-back chairs with leather seats. The breakfront is lighted within, displaying to advantage choice pieces from Vicky's collection of antique china.

Two steps down from house level, the new family room extends across the back, with glass panels opening on the patio. This is a king-sized room with cypress panelling and a beamed ceiling. A long green sofa angles to face the open fireplace built into one corner of the room. The hearth, at sitting height, extends across one wall under open bookcases. Two other walls are filled with shelves behind cane doors which conceal shelves, storage, and stereo.

One steps up again to the breakfast area, which with the kitchen is part of the new construction. Flooring is corlon, and cabinets and panelling of walnut. White Formica is used on counter tops in the serving area, while in the cooking area, stainless steel is noted in counters and appliances. Cabinets conceal all types of carefully engineered storage.

MISS LINDA MARIE PRUITT

For our poem today, here are lines from Childe Harold's Pilgrimage by Lord Byron:

I have not loved the world, nor the world me;
I have not flattered its rank breath, nor bowed
To its idolatries a patient knee,
Nor coined my cheek to smiles nor cried aloud
In worship of an echo; in the crowd
They could not deem me one of such; I stood
Amongst them, but not of them; in a shroud
Of thoughts which were not their thoughts, and still could,
Had I not filled my mind, which thus itself subdued.
I have not loved the world, nor the world me —
But let us part fair foes; I do believe,
Though I have found them not, that there may be
Words which are things, hopes which will not deceive,
And virtues which are merciful, nor weave
Snares for the failing; I would also deem
O'er others' griefs that some sincerely grieve;
That two, or one, are almost what they seem,
That goodness is no name, and happiness no dream.

MRS. WILLIAM MACK HUNT

Penny Meredith Is Bride Of William Mack Hunt

Miss Penny Meredith, daughter of Ivy Dixon Meredith Jr., of Baton Rouge, and the late Mrs. Meredith, became the bride of William Mack Hunt of Luling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dunbar Hunt of West Monroe, on Saturday, October 13.

Dr. J. Norris Palmer performed the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Baton Rouge. Vows were exchanged against a background of Southern smilax and fern trees. Large fan shaped arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums in Grecian urns were placed on white columns draped with northern smilax and the altar was lighted by electric candles in candle trees.

Traditional nuptial music was provided by the organist, Drew Shaw, who also accompanied Mrs. Gordon Mitchell Jr., as she sang "Because, and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white bridal mist taffeta detailed with a scoop neckline etched with imported lace. The full skirt was caught up with hand-rolled roses and her veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of imported lace, adorned with hand-rolled roses. HEAD BAND FAD

The head band fad has hurt the hair dyeing business, New York beauty shop operators claim. Because they cover dark roots, women put off their touch-ups for longer lengths of time.

BETROTHAL of Miss Constance Avant Prevot to Paul Thomas Zimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferrier Zimmer of Lake Providence, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buvens Prevot Sr., of Mansura, La. The wedding will be solemnized at Nuptial Mass on Saturday, November 24 at 11 a.m. in St. Paul's Catholic Church in Mansura. Mr. Zimmer is the grandson of Mrs. C. F. Zimmer, 111 Linderman, West Monroe.

Women's Shoes Spell Sleek Flattery Afoot

You're going to look feminine this fall, say the fashion experts. So enjoy it from your simple neckline to your classically elegant shoes.

Bright, feminine colors highlight the simple silhouettes and delicately detailed styles of this year's new leather shoes, says Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America. Pumps, spectators, flats and slingbacks in polished, lightly grained, suede and patent leathers that put this season's lady - like look on a gentle yet firm fashion foundation.

The "one toe" look is gone. This is the year when shoe stylists have let themselves go and have produced numerous designs - in every leather and for every occasion, in each of the leading silhouettes.

Choose the toe that suits your taste and fits your feet best — be it the elongated point, the "finger" crescent or the smart square — for town or country, day or evening.

Daytime shoes have been opened up in a variety of ways: through lacy cut - outs on the vamps, large portholes along the sides of the shoes, cut - down sides and backless dress mules. The open toe, fading from the fashion scene for the past few seasons, has virtually disappeared. strap shoes are seen in many more varieties.

The open look in styling is matched by the use of lightweight leather uppers that bend, stretch and twist effortlessly resuming their foot - flattering shape when you light. Set on a slim leather sole artfully shaped to follow the trim contours of the upper, this season's leather dress shoes have a truly elegant air.

Dressy versions of the late day shoe are seen in a gleaming black patent leather and in nappy suedes. Many of the black and colored patent pumps and flats mix colors in wide bands. In suede and smooth and waxy leathers, small bows and rosettes add a frilly look. Dressmaker treatments are also popular.

Walking and suit shoes are at their most tailored this year. Spectator detailing is simple, leather soles slightly extended beyond the basic silhouette, the grain pattern on the leather is more substantial and the heels are lower and wider.

Combinations of two colors and two leathers are common in walking shoes.

Platform Success Tips Given Woman Speaker

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Unaccustomed as we are, somewhere along the line we all are called on to say a few well-chosen words.

Keep them few is the advice of one woman who's devoted a career to helping men and women feel at ease before an audience.

"Even the featured speaker shouldn't run more than 40 minutes in my opinion," said Dorothy Carnegie, widow of Dale Carnegie. "If the speech is impromptu, it certainly should be much shorter. . .and not rambling. Don't be pretentious. Say things succinctly, and sit down. Of course, it is up to the group lining up the speaker to tell her—or him—about how much time is allotted.

"But a speaker must remember that an audience span is short. . . if it's a woman's group, there are the deadlines on baby - sitters, parking meters. . ."

Mrs. Carnegie, red-haired, blue-eyed, tall and slim as a model, has carried on since 1955, when Dale Carnegie died, the business of the man who made "How To Win Friends etc." a household phrase. Dale Carnegie and Associates, Inc., of which the Tulsa-born Mrs. Carnegie is president, runs adult education programs in some 1,077 cities in the United States, Canada and in 35 foreign countries. One of the programs is aimed specifically for women. This is the 50th anniversary of the film whose story will be told in a new book, "Talking Your Way To Success," by William Longwood, a New York reporter (for the World-Telegram).

In an interview, Mrs. Carnegie offered some suggestions for platform success for the woman speaker.

"Remember, if you have stage fright, you're not alone," said Mrs. Carnegie. "But you can make it work for you. With practice, the terror turns to excitement."

"Preparation is one of the best ways of whipping stage fright," she said. "And draw on your own experience when you plan a talk.

Other suggestions:

—Don't try to knock out your accent, unless it bothers YOU. Let your regional heritage show through. . .you'll be a more natural speaker.

—Wear simple clothes and, once you've decided on a costume, forget about it on the platform. She cited the "case of the slipping stole" as one of the things which will distract an audience. She shared the platform with an author who was done out in a milk stole which kept skidding around on her shoulders.

"The audience was so intent on seeing whether the stole eventually would fall off it didn't pay any attention to the speaker," said Mrs. Carnegie. "And, eventually the stole did."

—A basic color scheme is preferable. No red shoes with black dress. But red in suit or dress is a good platform color. Black often "blurs" the speaker out, she said. Although, this will depend on the lighting.

—On hats. They're not mandatory on the platform. If you wear a hat, keep it small—big brims hide your face. Keep it free of any bobbing flowers or other trim that'll go into motion as you talk.

—Keep jewelry simple too. No jangling armful of charm bracelets, or long, dangling earrings. Jewelry should be "stationary."

—Avoid powdering your nose or applying lipstick on the platform. This habit marks you as a "non-professional."

"And I wish," said Mrs. Carnegie, "that sponsoring groups once and for all would quit sending the inevitable corsage.

"If they must send flowers, present them AFTER the speech. An orchid pinned on the shoulder distracts too. . .I never can get one pinned firmly. I've solved the problem by simply fastening the flowers to my purse."

BATHROOM PLANTS

Green plants in bathrooms can add immeasurably to the decor. The softness of plant life injects a feeling of decoration which otherwise is difficult to achieve in such utilitarian rooms which abound with tile, glass and plastic surfaces. The steam from the shower and sunlight from a bathroom window insure healthy growth of plants.

OFFICER Trainee, Donnavave Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Hughes, 1011 South Grand, will be commissioned second lieutenant in the United States Air Force November 12 for assignment as Intelligence Officer after completion of the 90 - day course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. Miss Hughes was graduated this year from Northeast Louisiana State College with a BA degree in Art-Education.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

This week's Tailor Trix winner is Mrs. Mary Formica, Worcester, Mass., who sent this suggestion:

"Use elastic thread to sew buttons on coats and jackets for the extra 'strain' on the buttons and will keep them from popping off so fast. This will save mothers time and patience."

REMOVE MARKS

"Dear Eunice:

"I would like to make over a velvet dress and would like to know if there is any way to take out the stitching marks that show from the original stitching?"

Mrs. L. A. L.

Dear Mrs. L. A. L.:

The marks from machine stitching are almost impossible to remove from velvet. The longer they have been in, the harder the task. My only suggestion would be to hold the velvet close to the steam from a tea kettle and gently brush as it steams. If any of you readers have a better idea, please come to our rescue.

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I sew for my grandchild and a size 2 fits her well except that it is about 4" too long. If I buy a size 1, it is too small. How does one buy children's pattterns?"

Mrs. D. M. S.

Dear Mrs. D. M. S.:

Buy the pattern according to the chest measurement. The age of the child often has little to do with the size pattern you will need. The length of the garment would be measured in the same way you would measure the length of the pattern for an adult, both from shoulder to waistline, and from the waitstline to the finished length of the skirt. Since children's heights vary considerably at any age, it is usually necessary to adjust the length of the pattern.

Mrs. R. L. says: Have you ever ironed the puffed sleeves of a small girls's dress or blouse on a LIGHTED light bulb? Works like magic!

ADJUST ARMHOLE

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"One of the mysteries of adjusting a ready-made garment is the diagonal wrinkles that form on the bodice, just in front of the armholes. What can I do about this, it happens on almost all the clothes I buy?"

Mrs. L. R.

Dear Mrs. L. R.:

The diagonal wrinkles you speak of are usually caused by very sloping shoulders. If this is the case with you, rip the sleeve out of your garment. Make a new shoulder seam by taking at least ½-inch additional seam allowance at the armhole and taper to the original seam at the neckline.

To make the sleeve fit the armhole, you will have to trim the underarm seam about ½-inch lower, tapering to nothing about halfway to the shoulder. I would check the way your garment hangs at this time, if the wrinkles have disappeared, you may reset the sleeves.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Revers: Front part of the bodice, coat or jacket, that rolls back to form lapels. This actually is part of the front facing of your garment.

Your sewing "short cuts" may be old to you, but new to someone else. Send them to Sew Simple and make many new friends. I welcome any letters from you and will answer them as soon as possible in this column.

Woman Auto Dealer Gives Stiff Competition

ATLANTA (AP) — One of the business world's rarities — a woman auto dealer — is showing the men that the feminine touch can be tough competition.

Georgia's distaff dealer is Mrs. O. B. Leverett, a Gainesville widow who has been running an agency since the death of her husband 10 years ago.

"It's a fascinating business and I enjoy it," she says. She was unanimously voted president by the other three board members.

"I don't feel that being a woman auto dealer is a handicap," she says. "But I have found that most men like to deal with men, and either the general manager or sales manager (both men) will usually make the sales."

Mrs. Leverett had worked for eight years as an assistant cashier in an auto agency run by her husband before they went to Gainesville.

"I go to work like the rest of them." she says. "Some times I don't get to the office as early but I make up for it at night."

Her duties have curtailed social activities, but when she has to attend a tea she takes along hat, gloves and shoes to the office for a quick change after work.

The business woman still finds time to cook, work around the house and help her son, and an aunt who live with her.

The trim brunette won't give her age, although she says she was known as Violet "for the first 40 years and is Vi for the second 40."

About retirement the Gainesville widow says, "I intend to stay in the auto business."

GROWING DRESSES

When making daughters school dresses put two or three tiny tucks on the underside of hem. When you want to lengthen dresses as she grows taller, just let out tucks.

If you do take a hem out of her dress and a line is left where the hem was taken out, conceal it with a tiny tuck or two all the way around the skirt.

STUFF PEPPERS

Cover green peppers with boiling water and boil three to five minutes before stuffing and baking.

Logtown P-TA Plans Supper With Cake Walk

Logtown P. T. A. met Thursday, October 11 in the school cafeteria with Mrs. G. L. McQuiston presiding.

Highlight of the meeting was a film shown by the assistant coach of Ouaihita Parish high scool, Bob Carter, on "Pysical Fitness." He was assisted by Ronnie Bennett in giving demonstrations of exercises the students go through in physical education.

During the business sessitn members voted to purchase 25 P. T.A. song books and also to have a ham supper and cake walk Thursday, October 25 from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m.

Room count was won by the second grade and refreshments were served by second grade room mothers.

All classes are open to nonmembers of the Bernice Garden Club.

A-Sharp Coterie Elects Officers

Organizational meeting of the A-Sharp Coterie was held Saturday, October 13 in the home of Mrs. Grayson Guthrie.

Officers elected for the ensuing team include Cynthia Leigh, president; Marilin McKee, vice-president; Jane Allen, secretary; Sheila Butler, treasurer; Jo Anne Patterson, historian and Teresa Langley, reporter.

Refreshments were served to the members and sponsors present.

Variety Of Silhouettes Seen In Autumn Dresses

Variety spices the dress collections you'll be seeing this fall. Variety of silhouettes, patterns and fabrics give classic shaping to new dresses.

The body - skimming fit, with a near-to-the-body-line, looks newest with matchbox seaming.

Fall versions of coat dresses are neatly defined and made a welcome, flattering return for women of all sizes and ages.

There's a definite revival in the tunic dress — a ⅞ length tunic in soft princess lines is destined for popularity, as is the tunic dress with a soft, flowing sash at the wasitline.

Another important silhouette is that of the two - piece overblouse, gently shaped and graceful through the bodice, over an eased skirt.

All of these are the near-to-the-figure silhouettes — handsomely soft, gracious and touched with fanciful accents of buttons, bows, easy sashes, scarves and fur fancies.

COSTUMES

The dress - costume or costume-dress (as the case may be) takes on a variety of moods for fall '62.

Coats and dresses match or contrast in either simple or most-elegant harmonies. High - button closings on coats, slim shoulders and narrowed sleeves top slender, body skimming dresses.

In soft wools, crisp worsteds and gentle knits, they look wonderfully well through the daytime hours; in rich metallic - look fabrics, in brocades and other luxury fabrics these costumes lend glamour for dinner - and - after hours.

For dressy afternoon occasions, there are elegantly simple suits—handsomely enlivened with bands of fur round the collar, hem jacket opening.

Similar styles go to the theater in a grand manner in fine brocades, ribbed ottomans, trapuntos, velvets and other elegant fabrics.

For dancing parties, gala occasions and more - formal events, costume dresses, both long and short are complemented with long, elegant rajah coats; trim short popover jackets, cropped jackets with fur trims; slim crepe dinner dresses wear Chanel - type jackets all aglitter with metallics, while sheer, draped dresses are topped with sari-type, embellished long, long stoles.

Transition, Fall Beauty

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Transition of summer into fall can be such a beautiful sight. The colors of orange, red and yellows against the brown colors of the dying leaves and plants along the roadside and in the fields along the highway give a pleasing sight.

The show for T.V. and the Garden Center last Wednesday was such an appropriate one illustrating this beauty in flower arranging by Dr. John Wright from Louisiana Tech.

Dr. Wright said that his theme would be "Combining dried and fresh materials in arrangements to give the feeling of Fall.'

FALL FEELING

Those who saw the arrangements made by Dr. Wright will agree that he fullfilled the true feeling of Fall in each of his outstanding designs.

The vertical line design made of dried privet hedge, orange dahlias, and white mums (Christopher Columbus), in a deep brown compote container would be quite appropriate for the console table in the hall to greet the guests in the home.

The deep brown pillar vase served as a container for dried cattails and yellow (treasure) mums. This design would brighten most any room in the home and give a gentle reminder that Fall is here with all it's splendor.

Dark brown sorghum branches in three groups formed a triangle design in a low brown pottery bowl. Within this line Dr. Wright placed groupings of deep red mums (Lipstick). The green leaves served as a very effective filler and gave contrast.

In the facal area, Dr. Wright placed three bronze - orange dahlias in a row and one to the left at the base of the design. This made a wonderful combination of colors. A design of this type could be kept in place indefinitely during the Fall days just by changing the flowers at intervals.This is the nice thing about using our dried line materials such as the sorghum in this design.

FAVORITE

One of the favorites of the show was the design made in a large ceramic seashell. The color tones of the shell were tan outside lined with the aqua blue tones. The dried materials in this design for the main line were verticle groupings of milo (grain seed) which is a golden tan color, and one palm spathe which had been sprayed gold. This line was filled in and massed in the central area of the shell with bronze-into pink mums (Minnahaha).

Placed low at the outer edge were large cerese red dahlias with the buds. This formed the center of interest and gave more attention to the flowers in the design. The large shell would have otherwise created too much interest and stolen some of the glory from the arrangement had the large and colorful dahlias not been used. Sometimes a container will compete in a design for attention. That is why it is sometimes best to use a basic type container with plain lines when we wish to focus our attention mainly on the flowers. Dr. Wright brought this out while commenting on this design.

SENSATION

This show has certainly caused a sensation. So many came by the Center to look at the flowers closely. Seems that everyone left inspired to go home and make a design for their own home or garden club show. As I have said before — isn't it fine that we have Dr. Wright give us his time to show his many creations so that we can learn more and more about flower-arranging. Thanks, Dr. Wright.

Remember, the names of these early varities of mums that Dr. Wright used in the show Wednesday, Minnahaha, Christopher Columbus, Huntsman, Lipstick, and Treasure. These are a pleasure to have in your garden since they bloom early and give flowers for arranging when other flowers are scarce and, while you wait for the later blooming varities later on.

Next Wednesday's program will be given by The Garden Gate Garden Club of Winnsboro, of which Mrs. Si Willing is president.

Church Officials Are Announced

Heads of various organizations at Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, West Monroe, for the coming year were announced last week by the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor.

They are Hugh B. Balfour, chairman of deacons; Dave D. Rodgers Jr., superintendent of Sunday School; Ellis E. Auttonberry, Training Union director; Mrs. H. H. McBroom, Woman's Missionary Union president, and Robert L. (Bob) Holstead, president of Men's Fellowship and Bible Study.

NEW FEES PROPOSED

LONDON (UPI)—The Church of England Friday proposed a new fee schedule doubling the cost of church baptisms and church burials.

Curtain Call

Tonight through Tuesday night will mark the last three performances of the scheduled run of "The Solid Gold Cadillac." If you have not yet made your reservation to attend, time is fleeting to call FA 3-1235 between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. to see if any seats are left.

It helped a lot that about half our reservations for this play came in by mail. Mrs. L. H. Carter, Mrs. R. M. Kettenring, Mrs. C. H. McHenry and Julius Cahn processed the mail and then stayed on to give Jerilyn Gilstrap a hand with the box office after it opened Monday.

In Little Theatre as in other activites there are always unsung heroes who quietly perform small, but important tasks. Jo Brian could not have appeared in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," without the baby sitting services provided by Murray Burfford, Jan Evans, Joyce Fowler, Donna and Juanita Gentry, Janice Hattaway, Betsy McBride and Francis Yeldell. And let us not forget the doughnuts brought to several rehearsals by Mrs. L. A. Shipman, Mrs. Robert S. Smith and Mrs. McHenry.

HOSTESSES

Too late for inclusion in the program we learned that Mrs. Elizabeth Baxter and Mrs. Ione Baxter were to be the official AGC hostesses at Saturday's matinee for the contractors' wives.

A happy touch for the patron preview last Wedneday resulted from the thoughtfulness of the officers of the Central Savings Bank in sending corsages to our hostesses. We understand John Rudisill added this lagniappe to the bank's kindness in promoting our play on its reader signs.

The fall membership drive is now officially over and we are grateful to the many hundreds who have displayed Little Theatre bumper stickers during the past few weeks. Membership is running well ahead of last year at this time and we always gain additional members throughout the season, especially during the musical.

NEWSREEL

Roger Kelley took the "newsreel" shots for "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Jo Brian felt just a little conspicuous in costume and make - up as she posed for these photos at the courthouse and airport. Delta was most obliging in letting us "borrow" their Atlanta-bound Convair last Monday.

We have received several missing play programs from Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Guerriero, Mrs. P. J. Bruscato and Marillyn Taylor. Louis Guerriero directed a number of our shows before he took up a professional career in drama. Phil Embanato, Mrs. Bruscato's brother, was active in Little Theatre about 1938 to 1940 and is now in the landscape business in California. Marillyn, of course, is appearing in the current play, continuing an interest in theatre that goes back to her high school days.

At present we lack only 18 programs to complete the 142 major productions we have done. The years 1941 through 1944 cover half the missing programs and if we had "Dear Ruth," and "Blithe Spirit," we would be intact from 1945 to the present. Please call FA 5-3200 if you can help fill the gaps.

We have in hand the thesis written by the former Gladys Diamond, now Mrs. Lamar Lane, of Rayville. Mrs. Lane says that a bound copy was presented to Little Theatre in 1951 and we wonder who has it. This document is a treasure trove of historical information about the drama in our area. How many people recall that Maude Adams came here in January, 1932, on her farewell tour of Portia in "The Merchant of Venice"? Miss Adams was nearly 60 at the time. She lived to the age of 81.

According to Mrs. Lane, three previous dramatic groups were short - lived: The Monroe Dramatic Club in 1910, The Players' Club in 1924, and The Little Theatre in 1929. In later columns we hope to tell about the start of our organization in 1932, and its early trials and tribulations.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Cats and photography are a compatible pair. Publish a picture of a cat and there is a greater response from readers than any other single type of picture, I've found. Cat lovers are a special breed, it seems, quick to express their feelings where it concerns their pets.

Some years ago I first heard the story of how a kitten changed the life and career of a young man. It was a half frozen kitten and the young man, stumbling over it in the snow, took it home. He never did find it a good home elsewhere, as he had intended, for it purred its way into his heart.

WILLING SUBJECT

The kitten proved to be a willing and rewarding subject for his camera, though at the time the young man was only an amateur photographer. His kitten pictures proved so successful that cat photography became a career and within a few years, Walter Chandoha — for he was the young man — became the country's foremost specialist in feline photography.

Now we have at hand a reverse story whereby through photography the life of a cat has been changed. It is the story of a silver-white Persian cat, Nicodemus, who unexpectedly became a photographer's model and thereby won fame and fortune. From a harried, day-to-day existence as a house pet to $50 an hour modeling fees and selection as "Career Cat of the Year" in a matter of a few years is quite a change you'll agree.

The story is told by Eleanor Harris in "Career Cat" (Doubleday, Garden City, N. Y.) with more than 30 photographs giving visual testimony in the case.

Nicodemus didn't do it all on his own, of course. His "mother," Loiselle Adams preferred the shy cat even over a beau and marriage. To give the cat confidence by meeting people, Loiselle carried Nicodemus in a big tote bag on her job hunting expeditions.

One fortunate day in an office, the cat poked his head up out of the bag and impressed the receptionist, the personnel director and an advertising executive in that order. Within minutes, Loiselle switched from a job seeker to business manager of a cat with a model fee of $15 an hour.

MINK, DIAMONDS

Nicodemus has since posed for the mink and diamond trade in ultrasmart magazines and has figured as a personality in promoting world understanding and charity drives in news stories. After more than trebling his hourly fee, Nicodemus acquired a copyrighted name a year ago as board chairman of Nicodemus Enterprises, Inc. He owns a corporate seal and has his own cat's paw mark as a signature for business and fan letters.

Walter Chandoha's career as a cat photographer hasn't lagged any lately either. Currently at hand is a new book, "Igor Cassini's Blue Book of Social Cats" with photographs by Chandoha (Citadel Press, N.Y.)

The collection of cat studies are each captioned with humorous imaginary cat-lines from the high society world of Igor Cassini.

And very shortly we'll have the annual Cat Calendar for 1963 with photos by Walter Chandoha. This weekly engagement book (Berkshire Publishing Co., Cambridge, Mass.) provides a varied assortment of cats to suit cat lovers' tastes every week for the next year.

It's enough to send you camera fans out into the streets hunting up stray kittens for your own cat-to-riches story.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Transplant Irises Now

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

There is still time, in October, to transplant Japanese, Siberian and the Louisiana irises.

While plants of these irises would have already established themselves if they had been planted in September, they will be all right, even in a cold winter, if you mulch them lightly with pine straw.

For some reason, the Japanese and Siberian irises have never been very popular in Southern gardens. This is possibly because people who had no pool or water in their gardens thought they had to plant these irises by water.

EXPERIENCE

Experience with the exciting Louisiana irises has now taught us that all three of these groups of plants can be grown in ordinary flower beds. They will produce smaller blossoms if one does not supply a great deal of water just before and during the flowering period, but they will bloom just the same if they do not get extra water.

Planted as late as October, none of these irises will show much leaf growth, but they will be sending out new roots at the base of their leaves and may even send up a bloom or so in the Spring.

In case November and December are warm you may get some leaves on the blue Louisiana irises. When freezing weather comes, these leaves will be frozen right to the ground, but they will have helped the new plants to get under way, and no harm will be done, as this freezing back seldom does any harm.

BIG SHOW

Flowering as they do right after the bearded irises, the Japanese, Siberian, Louisiana and Spuria irises make a big show just as the hot weather changes us over from spring to summer in the south.

If you have some of these stunning perennials in your garden, there will always be real excitement when they bloom because even a few blossoms of any of the fine varieties will make a big show. A sizeable bed of them will attract the public if you are not careful.

Garden magazines have been full of advertisements, during the last few years, of the very large-flowered Japanese irises. These flat, horizontal flowers stand up better to southern heat than the bearded types do.

Siberians are much smaller, of course, and are useful to lighten the edges of groups of the Japanese and to lengthen the blooming season. Siberians come in the blue shades, too, which are lacking in the Japanese.

The Spurias and the Louisianas which we southerners are so fond of are translucent flowers. The light shining through them shows up their colors and provides the most exciting pictures we can ever produce in a garden, especially where lights and shadows play over the blue, yellow, and the rare wine shades.

Halloween Party Scheduled Here

The Paramount Theatre will host an annual Halloween Party Saturday at 9:30 a.m. for all kiddies in the area.

Ted Hatfield, city manager, said prizes and fun are being planned for all of the youngsters — from one to 101. On stage will be apple ducking and the old - time favorites of Halloween activities.

Casper, the Friendly Ghost, will take over for two hours of fun on the "lucky cartoon " show.

The party will be over promptly at 12 noon.

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, the charming fairy tale written by the Grimm Brothers and translated into many languages, is featured on a new set of stamps from West Germany, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

The 7 pfennig plus 3 depicts the wicked queen peering into a magic mirror. The 10 pf. plus 5 shows Snow White and the seven dwarfs dining at a large table. The 20 pf. plus 10 shows Snow White eating the poisoned apple. The 40 pf. plus 20 pictures the reviving of Snow White by the handsome prince.

The additional values on this semi - postal set go to the Welfare Fund of West Germany. All the stamps are printed in four colors.

Stamp collectors will recall that West Germany issued a Red Riding Hood set in 1960 and a Hansel and Gretel set in 1961.

The United Nations will commemorate its operation in the Congo on United Nations Day (Oct. 24) with the issuance of a new stamp in two denominations. The stamp depicts a map of the world highlighting the African continent and the Congo. Designer of the new stamp is George Hamori of Australia.

First-day cover collectors can obtain their specialties by sending their remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to the U.N. Postal Administration, United Nations, N.Y.

Paraguay reports the issuance of eight new stamps to honor the U.S. astronauts John Glenn and

Scott Carpenter. There are four perforated stamps showing the space capsule in flight around the earth. There are also three air-mail values featuring profile portraits of Glenn and Carpenter. The Paraguay Post Office Dept., in connection with this issue, has also released souvenir sheets with appropriate illustrations.

Austria has issued a new series of stamps depicting some of its historical landmarks. The 40 Groschen red features Porcia Castle in Spittal on the Drau; 60 Groschen red-brown shows Lederer Tower in Wels; 80 Groschen yellow-brown depicts a farmhouse in Pinzgau; 1.20 Schilling purple features Kornmesser House in Bruck on the Mur; 2.20 Schilling green Beethoven House in Heilgenstadt.

United Arab Republic has issued two new commemorative sets. One set honors the first African Table Tennis Tournament. Featured on this stamp is a map of the African continent and a table tennis net. The ball is seen over the city of Alexandria. The second set honors the 38th World Shooting Championship. This stamp depicts a rifle and a target. Both of these new issues are triangular in shape.

Plant Now For Blooms

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you want some flowers blooming for Thanksgiving and Christmas, plant calendula seed this month and, if Mr. Weatherman is kind and holds the hard freeze until after Christmas then you will enjoy blooms.

If you want sweet peas for next spring now and until Thanksgiving is the time to plant the seed.

In the next few weeks many gardeners will get the urge to get into the yard for some work and perhaps one of the needs in the landscape is a tree. There are some pretty important hints to remember before making the selection and first of importance is to keep in mind the size of the tree when full grown.

PLANTING TWIG

That's a might hard point to remember, too, because you are perhaps planting a three - foot twig. Many of our trees will have a hundred foot spread in 25 years. If you do not have a large area there are a number of medium and small trees to select as the redbud, crape myrtle, Japanese magnolia, crabapple, fringe tree, dogwood, mimosa and tallow tree. These are only a few. Ask your nurseryman about others.

Remember the oaks, magnolias, pecans, sycamore and tulip trees need plenty of room when grown. The best months for planting trees are December, January and February. The trees are more or less dormant at this time and, too, usually this is the season that has more rainfall.

This will give the roots system an excellent chance to get established before the hot dry summer. So, make your plans now for the area that needs some shade and wait to plant the tree in December.

Several homemakers called last week about the correct way to plant anemone bulbs. So perhaps you, too, may be confused. The claws are placed down. Don't plant them upside down. The same is true for ranunculus plant — claws down.

WASHABLE WOOLENS

Science has entered the fashion scene and we now have washable woolens. Certain woolens are machine washable without danger of shrinking, matting or losing their shape. But remember, Mrs. Consumer, not all woolens are washable — so be sure to read the labels.

A good manufacturer will also supply the washing instructions along with the "washable" identification. It is more or less an accepted fact that if a label on wool merchandise merely reads "washable" it means that a hand washing technique can be used with success.

When you, Mrs. Homemaker, sew and care for garments made of machine washable wools, remember to use machine washable linings and interfacings. Simple pattern designs will probably be most satisfactory since bound buttonholes, set-in pockets and many similar tailoring processes do not respond well to repeated launderings. After the garment has been washed it will most likely need a touch-up job with the iron or maybe a complete pressing. This will need to be done by steam pressing, not ironing.

SPOTS ON FURNITURE

Flower vases and cool summer drinks often leave circles on table or chest tops. Here are some suggestions for treating these and other blemishes on wood surfaces. You can remove circles or spots caused by sweating containers by treating them immediately with turpentine on a cloth. If treatment is delayed, you may need to rub the spot with pumice powder and raw linseed oil.

When hot or sweating dishes cause deep white spots, rub the stains with salad oil, and salt. Dip your finger in the oil, then in the salt and rub the spots. You may need to do quite a bit of rubbing to remove the stains.

Light scratches on furniture may be rubbed with a mixture of equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine and white vinegar. Deep scratches in dark furniture will disappear if a small amount of iodine or burnt umber is applied to the scratch. Then cover the treated area with colored wax.

Avoid leaving plastic mats with foam backs on a table, vanity or chest for long periods. These sometimes cause the wood finish beneath them to look cloudy or white.

A THOUGHT

If you can keep your head when you are being attacked, you are on the highway to success.

NEWSREEL

Roger Kelley took the "newsreel" shots for "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Jo Brian felt just a little conspicuous in costume and make - up as she posed for these photos at the courthouse and airport. Delta was most obliging in letting us "borrow" their Atlanta-bound Convair last Monday.

We have received several missing play programs from Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Guerriero, Mrs. P. J. Bruscato and Marilyn Taylor. Louis Guerriero directed a number of our shows before he took up a professional career in drama. Phil Embanato, Mrs. Bruscato's brother, was active in Little Theatre about 1938 to 1940 and is now in the landscape business in California. Marillyn, of course, is appearing in the current play, continuing an interest in theatre that goes back to her high school days.

At present we lack only 18 programs to complete the 142 major productions we have done. The years 1941 through 1944 cover half the missing programs and if we had "Dear Ruth," and "Blithe Spirit," we would be intact from 1945 to the present. Please call FA 5-3200 if you can help fill the gaps.

We have in hand the thesis written by the former Gladys Diamond, now Mrs. Lamar Lane, of Rayville. Mrs. Lane says that a bound copy was presented to Little Theatre in 1951 and we wonder who has it. This document is a treasure trove of historical information about the drama in our area. How many people recall that Maude Adams came here in January, 1932, on her farewell tour of Portia in "The Merchant of Venice"? Miss Adams was nearly 60 at the time. She lived to the age of 81.

According to Mrs. Lane, three previous dramatic groups were short - lived: The Monroe Dramatic Club in 1910, The Players' Club in 1924, and The Little Theatre in 1929. In later columns we hope to tell about the start of our organization in 1932, and its early trials and tribulations.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Cats and photography are a compatible pair. Publish a picture of a cat and there is a greater response from readers than any other single type of picture, I've found. Cat lovers are a special breed, it seems, quick to express their feelings where it concerns their pets.

Some years ago I first heard the story of how a kitten changed the life and career of a young man. It was a half frozen kitten and the young man, stumbling over it in the snow, took it home. He never did find it a good home elsewhere, as he had intended, for it purred its way into his heart.

WILLING SUBJECT

The kitten proved to be a willing and rewarding subject for his camera, though at the time the young man was only an amateur photographer. His kitten pictures proved so successful that cat photography became a career and within a few years, Walter Chandoha — for he was the young man — became the country's foremost specialist in feline photography.

Now we have at hand a reverse story whereby through photography the life of a cat has been changed. It is the story of a silver-white Persian cat, Nicodemus, who unexpectedly became a photographer's model and thereby won fame and fortune. From a harried, day-to-day existence as a house pet to $50 an hour modeling fees and selection as "Career Cat of the Year" in a matter of a few years is quite a change you'll agree.

The story is told by Eleanor Harris in "Career Cat" (Doubleday, Garden City, N. Y.) with more than 30 photographs giving visual testimony in the case.

Nicodemus didn't do it all on his own, of course. His "mother," Loiselle Adams preferred the shy cat even over a beau and marriage. To give the cat confidence by meeting people, Loiselle carried Nicodemus in a big tote bag on her job hunting expeditions.

One fortunate day in an office, the cat poked his head up out of the bag and impressed the receptionist, the personnel director and an advertising executive in that order. Within minutes, Loiselle switched from a job seeker to business manager of a cat with a model fee of $15 an hour.

MINK, DIAMONDS

Nicodemus has since posed for the mink and diamond trade in ultrasmart magazines and has figured as a personality in promoting world understanding and charity drives in news stories. After more than trebling his hourly fee, Nicodemus acquired a copyrighted name a year ago as board chairman of Nicodemus Enterprises, Inc. He owns a corporate seal and has his own cat's paw mark as a signature for business and fan letters.

Walter Chandoha's career as a cat photographer hasn't lagged any lately either. Currently at hand is a new book, "Igor Cassini's Blue Book of Social Cats" with photographs by Chandoha (Citadel Press, N.Y.)

The collection of cat studies are each captioned with humorous imaginary cat-lines from the high society world of Igor Cassini.

And very shortly we'll have the annual Cat Calendar for 1963 with photos by Walter Chandoha. This weekly engagement book (Berkshire Publishing Co., Cambridge, Mass.) provides a varied assortment of cats to suit cat lovers' tastes every week for the next year.

It's enough to send you camera fans out into the streets hunting up stray kittens for your own cat-to-riches story.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Transplant Irises Now

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

There is still time, in October, to transplant Japanese, Siberian and the Louisiana irises.

While plants of these irises would have already established themselves if they had been planted in September, they will be all right, even in a cold winter, if you mulch them lightly with pine straw.

For some reason, the Japanese and Siberian irises have never been very popular in Southern gardens. This is possibly because people who had no pool or water in their gardens thought they had to plant these irises by water.

EXPERIENCE

Experience with the exciting Louisiana irises has now taught us that all three of these groups of plants can be grown in ordinary flower beds. They will produce smaller blossoms if one does not supply a great deal of water just before and during the flowering period, but they will bloom just the same if they do not get extra water.

Planted as late as October, none of these irises will show much leaf growth, but they will be sending out new roots at the base of their leaves and may even send up a bloom or so in the Spring.

In case November and December are warm you may get some leaves on the blue Louisiana irises. When freezing weather comes, these leaves will be frozen right to the ground, but they will have helped the new plants to get under way, and no harm will be done, as this freezing back seldom does any harm.

BIG SHOW

Flowering as they do right after the bearded irises, the Japanese, Siberian, Louisiana and Spuria irises make a big show just as the hot weather changes us over from spring to summer in the south.

If you have some of these stunning perennials in your garden, there will always be real excitement when they bloom because even a few blossoms of any of the fine varieties will make a big show. A sizeable bed of them will attract the public if you are not careful.

Garden magazines have been full of advertisements, during the last few years, of the very large-flowered Japanese irises. These flat, horizontal flowers stand up better to southern heat than the bearded types do.

Siberians are much smaller, of course, and are useful to lighten the edges of groups of the Japanese and to lengthen the blooming season. Siberians come in the blue shades, too, which are lacking in the Japanese.

The Spurias and the Louisianas which we southerners are so fond of are translucent flowers. The light shining through them shows up their colors and provides the most exciting pictures we can ever produce in a garden, especially where lights and shadows play over the blue, yellow, and the rare wine shades.

Halloween Party Scheduled Here

The Paramount Theatre will host an annual Halloween Party Saturday at 9:30 a.m. for all kiddies in the area.

Ted Hatfield, city manager, said prizes and fun are being planned for all of the youngsters — from one to 101. On stage will be apple ducking and the old - time favorites of Halloween activities.

Casper, the Friendly Ghost, will take over for two hours of fun on the "lucky cartoon " show.

The party will be over promptly at 12 noon.

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, the charming fairy tale written by the Grimm Brothers and translated into many languages, is featured on a new set of stamps from West Germany, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

The 7 pfennig plus 3 depicts the wicked queen peering into a magic mirror. The 10 pf. plus 5 shows Snow White and the seven dwarfs dining at a large table. The 20 pf. plus 10 shows Snow White eating the poisoned apple. The 40 pf. plus 20 pictures the reviving of Snow White by the handsome prince.

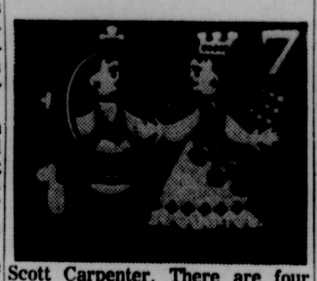
The additional values on this semi - postal set go to the Welfare Fund of West Germany. All the stamps are printed in four colors.

Stamp collectors will recall that West Germany issued a Red Riding Hood set in 1960 and a Hansel and Gretel set in 1961.

The United Nations will commemorate its operation in the Congo on United Nations Day (Oct. 24) with the issuance of a new stamp in two denominations. The stamp depicts a map of the world highlighting the African continent and the Congo. Designer of the new stamp is George Hamori of Australia.

First-day cover collectors can obtain their specialties by sending their remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to the U.N. Postal Administration, United Nations, N.Y.

Paraguay reports the issuance of eight new stamps to honor the U.S. astronauts John Glenn and



Scott Carpenter. There are four perforated stamps showing the space capsule in flight around the earth. There are also three air-mail values featuring profile portraits of Glenn and Carpenter. The Paraguay Post Office Dept., in connection with this issue, has also released souvenir sheets with appropriate illustrations.

Austria has issued a new series of stamps depicting some of its historical landmarks. The 40 Groschen red features Porcia Castle in Spittal on the Drau; 60 Groschen red-brown shows Lederer Tower in Wels; 80 Groschen yellow-brown depicts a farmhouse in Pinzgau; 1.20 Schilling purple features Kornmesser House in Bruck on the Mur; 2.20 Schilling green Beethoven House in Heilgenstadt.

United Arab Republic has issued two new commemorative sets. One set honors the first African Table Tennis Tournament. Featured on this stamp is a map of the African continent and a table tennis net. The ball is seen over the city of Alexandria. The second set honors the 38th World Shooting Championship. This stamp depicts a rifle and a target. Both of these new issues are triangular in shape.

Plant Now For Blooms

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you want some flowers blooming for Thanksgiving and Christmas, plant calendula seed this month and, if Mr. Weatherman is kind and holds the hard freeze until after Christmas then you will enjoy blooms.

If you want sweet peas for next spring now and until Thanksgiving is the time to plant the seed.

In the next few weeks many gardeners will get the urge to get into the yard for some work and perhaps one of the needs in the landscape is a tree. There are some pretty important hints to remember before making the selection and first of importance is to keep in mind the size of the tree when full grown.

PLANTING TWIG

That's a might hard point to remember, too, because you are perhaps planting a three - foot twig. Many of our trees will have a hundred foot spread in 25 years. If you do not have a large area there are a number of medium and small trees to select as the redbud, crape myrtle, Japanese magnolia, crabapple, fringe tree, dogwood, mimosa and tallow tree. These are only a few. Ask your nurseryman about others.

Remember the oaks, magnolias, pecans, sycamore and tulip trees need plenty of room when grown. The best months for planting trees are December, January and February. The trees are more or less dormant at this time and, too, usually this is the season that has more rainfall.

This will give the roots system an excellent chance to get established before the hot dry summer. So, make your plans now for the area that needs some shade and wait to plant the tree in December.

Several homemakers called last week about the correct way to plant anemone bulbs. So perhaps you, too, may be confused. The claws are placed down. Don't plant them upside down. The same is true for ranunculus plant — claws down.

WASHABLE WOOLENS

Science has entered the fashion scene and we now have washable woolens. Certain woolens are machine washable without danger of shrinking, matting or losing their shape. But remember, Mrs. Consumer, not all woolens are washable — so be sure to read the labels.

A good manufacturer will also supply the washing instructions along with the "washable" identification. It is more or less an accepted fact that if a label on wool merchandise merely reads "washable" it means that a hand washing technique can be used with success.

When you, Mrs. Homemaker, sew and care for garments made of machine washable wools, remember to use machine washable linings and interfacings. Simple pattern designs will probably be most satisfactory since bound buttonholes, set-in pockets and many similar tailoring processes do not respond well to repeated launderings. After the garment has been washed it will most likely need a touch-up job with the iron or maybe a complete pressing. This will need to be done by steam pressing, not ironing.

SPOTS ON FURNITURE

Flower vases and cool summer drinks often leave circles on table or chest tops. Here are some suggestions for treating these and other blemishes on wood surfaces. You can remove circles or spots caused by sweating containers by treating them immediately with turpentine on a cloth. If treatment is delayed, you may need to rub the spot with pumice powder and raw linseed oil.

When hot or sweating dishes cause deep white spots, rub the stains with salad oil, and salt. Dip your finger in the oil, then in the salt and rub the spots. You may need to do quite a bit of rubbing to remove the stains.

Light scratches on furniture may be rubbed with a mixture of equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine and white vinegar. Deep scratches in dark furniture will disappear if a small amount of iodine or burnt umber is applied to the scratch. Then cover the treated area with colored wax.

Avoid leaving plastic mats with foam backs on a table, vanity or chest for long periods. These sometimes cause the wood finish beneath them to look cloudy or white.

A THOUGHT

If you can keep your head when you are being attacked, you are on the highway to success.

Judge Clears Way To Elect Negro Solon

ATLANTA (UPI) — Superior Court Judge Durwood Pye angrily tossed aside a federal court injunction Saturday and paved the way for the election of the first Negro to a Southern Legislature since reconstruction.

Pye ruled in an unusual Saturday hearing that votes in a Georgia senatorial election must be counted by districts rather than by counties. He said a federal injunction against a similar decision earlier.

The federal tribunal, which handed down the order at the request of state Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, had no jurisdiction in the case and "the effect was for these three federal judges to sit upon the bench of Georgia where they have no authority to sit," Pye said.

The order, originating from vote-counting in the Oct. 16 senatorial primary in the state, specifically applied only to the Fulton Atlanta County election. But it was expected to hape an effect in other multi - county senatorial districts.

The court action so near the Oct. 23 runoff left state election officials in a quandry as to what course to take.

State Democratic Party Secretary George Stewart was faced with getting out sample ballots to the counties holding runoffs by this weekend. In addition to Fulton, DeKalb, Cobb, Bibb, Chatham, Muscogee and Richmond are multi-district counties and runoff contests were set in most of them.

Stewart was trying to decide whether to certify candidates in counties other than Fulton on a countywide or a district basis.

Cook said Pye's ruling would be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

If Pye is upheld, either LeRoy Johnson, a Negro lawyer, or T. M. Alexander, a Negro dentist, will go to the state Senate next January from the 38th District in Fulton County. Johnson led in the vote count in counting by district but would face Ed Barfield, a white man, in an Oct. 23 runoff under county - wide vote tabulations. Alexander was unopposed as the Republican nominee for the general election.

Vatican Names Key Groups

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council pledged itself Saturday to work for the welfare and brotherhood of all men and all nations. At the same time it named seven key commissions reflecting broad international representation.

Many of the council fathers seemed generally satisfied with the outcome, although there were indications of some exceptions.

Of the members elected to the proposal-drafting commissions, 64 bishops—about 57 per cent—were among those recommended by a reformist coalition of West-Central Europeans.

But the more conservative traditionalists also showed strength in the procedural maneuvering.

In its declaration of purposes and hopes, the worldwide assembly of 2,700 Roman Catholic prelates pledged their efforts for the unity of all people as brothers, "irrespective of the race or nation to which they belong."

They voiced their determination to oppose injustices and inequities that blight mankind so that the "life of man may become more human."

And they appealed to "all our brothers who believe in Christ and all men of good will" to join in the struggle "to establish in the world a more ordered way of living and greater brotherhood."

The election of the members of the seven commissions, the first of 10 in all, climaxed a week of suspense over the result.

Pope John XXIII changed council rules to require only pluralities rather than majorities on the basis of a first ballot cast last Tuesday. Each commission is to have 16 bishops elected by the council and eight appointed by the Pope.

Prelates from the United States selected to the commissions thus far named:

Mrs. Roosevelt Has Unusual Type Of Anemia

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's recent hospital stay was caused by "an unusual type of anemia" which required some blood transfusions, a spokesman for the former First Lady said Saturday.

Mrs. Roosevelt, 78, entered Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center on Sept. 26 and returned home Thursday for continued treatment. Her illness had been described until today simply as a lung infection.

"Mrs. Roosevelt has an unusual type of anemia which has required some transfusions," the spokesman said.

"In addition, there has been a complicated infection with fever which has made her quite ill, but which shows some sign of improvement. At the hospital, many complicated tests were necessary. These have been completed.

U.N. Annex Plan Rejected

UNITED NATIONS, New York (AP) — A U.N. committee has turned thumbs down on a proposal from Acting Secretary-General U Thant that the headquarters structure be enlarged to accommodate an expected 126 member countries instead of the present 109.

Diplomatic sources said Saturday the advisory committee on administrative and budgetary questions had rejected his plan to spend $6,342,000 erecting a two-story annex to the 38-story Secretariat Building that would have provided two big new conference rooms for General Assembly committees.

They said the advisory committee, in private session here, recommended instead that the present trusteeship council chamber be enlarged to conference-room size at a cost of $297,000.

That committee, the informants said, accepted other proposals from Thant that would run the total spending up to $1,930,500, instead of the $8,005,500 he had in mind .

The United Nations started in 1945 with 51 member countries. The General Assembly Hall, first used in 1952, was designed to seat delegations of 10 persons each from 70 countries.

U.N. membership will hit 110 when the assembly admits Ugandan next Thursday. In his remodeling recommendations, Thant said that with more colonies in line for independence, "It now appears reasonable to expect a membership of some 126 in the not too distant future."

He proposed to reduce the seats for each delegation in the assembly hall from 10 to 6. The committee okayed this idea in preference to alternative proposals to reduce the seats from 10 to 5 or to leave the number at 10 but take 246 chairs away from the public.

The final decision on the secretary-general's proposals and the committee's recommendations in regard to them is up to the assembly itself. The matter will come up first, in the next few weeks, in the assembly's budgetary committee.

Greece Plans To Settle All Foreign Debts

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek government has announced it intends to start immediate negotiations to settle all of the nation's foreign debts. Some date back to 1881.

The announcement came Friday night from Premier Constantine Caramanlis following the signing of an agreement in New York settling Greece's prewar debt to stockholders in the United States.

Caramanlis said that the government plans to refund all prewar state loans on a five per cent basis of their nominal value.

The debt to American stockholders covered a total of $35,988,500 in bonds.

The remainder amounts to $153,736,500 owed mostly to British, French and Belgian nations.

There Is No "R. E. A." In Louisiana

There is a lot of confusion about R. E. A. It is a symbol for "Rural Electrification Administration," a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This agency serves as a bank for lending money to make electric power and telephones available in rural areas.

REA lends to any responsible private company, public body or Cooperative group. For instance, there are only 13 member-owned Electric Co-ops in Louisiana. But, REA has 33 borrowers in Louisiana—19 private telephone companies, one large power company and the 13 privately-owned Electric Cooperatives mentioned.

The Electric Co-ops are no more "REA" than any of these 20 REA-financed, private companies.

Because REA is short and easily remembered, some people associate the entire rural electrification program with the symbol. Many refer to the 13 independent home-owned Electric Co-ops simply as, "REA". This is just as inaccurate as calling a neighbor who financed his home, "Mr. FHA", "Mr. VA" or "Mr. First National Bank."

Electric Cooperatives and the commercial companies who borrow from REA do so on the strength of their good credit ratings. They repay the REA loans on strict schedules, plus interest. Repayable REA loans have revolutionized rural living. They have boosted the economy of both town and country....providing countless new jobs, better techniques, new industries and revitalizing main street business.

Electric Cooperatives are local, private enterprises, owned by the rural folks they serve. They are chartered under Louisiana laws. They in no way constitute "federal" or "socialized" power—as some would have the public believe.

There isn't a single REA employee in Louisiana working with Electric Cooperatives. The electric Cooperatives are proud of the great record of the REA lending agency. However, the simple fact is: There is no "REA" in Louisiana.

Electric Power Associations are no more owned or controlled by "R.E.A." than your home or car is owned or controlled by the bank or finance company through which it was purchased.

Vatican Names Key Groups

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council pledged itself Saturday to work for the welfare and brotherhood of all men and all nations. At the same time it named seven key commissions reflecting broad international representation.

Many of the council fathers seemed generally satisfied with the outcome, although there were indications of some exceptions.

Of the members elected to the proposal-drafting commissions, 64 bishops—about 57 per cent—were among those recommended by a reformist coalition of West-Central Europeans.

But the more conservative traditionalists also showed strength in the procedural maneuvering.

In its declaration of purposes and hopes, the worldwide assembly of 2,700 Roman Catholic prelates pledged their efforts for the unity of all people as brothers, "irrespective of the race or nation to which they belong."

They voiced their determination to oppose injustices and inequities that blight mankind so that the "life of man may become more human."

And they appealed to "all our brothers who believe in Christ and all men of good will" to join in the struggle "to establish in the world a more ordered way of living and greater brotherhood."

The election of the members of the seven commissions, the first of 10 in all, climaxed a week of suspense over the result.

Pope John XXIII changed council rules to require only pluralities rather than majorities on the basis of a first ballot cast last Tuesday. Each commission is to have 16 bishops elected by the council and eight appointed by the Pope.

Prelates from the United States selected to the commissions thus far named:

Mrs. Roosevelt Has Unusual Type Of Anemia

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's recent hospital stay was caused by "an unusual type of anemia" which required some blood transfusions, a spokesman for the former First Lady said Saturday.

Mrs. Roosevelt, 78, entered Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center on Sept. 26 and returned home Thursday for continued treatment. Her illness had been described until today simply as a lung infection.

"Mrs. Roosevelt has an unusual type of anemia which has required some transfusions," the spokesman said.

"In addition, there has been a complicated infection with fever which has made her quite ill, but which shows some sign of improvement. At the hospital, many complicated tests were necessary. These have been completed.

U.N. Annex Plan Rejected

UNITED NATIONS, New York (AP) — A U.N. committee has turned thumbs down on a proposal from Acting Secretary-General U Thant that the headquarters structure be enlarged to accommodate an expected 126 member countries instead of the present 109.

Diplomatic sources said Saturday the advisory committee on administrative and budgetary questions had rejected his plan to spend $6,342,000 erecting a two-story annex to the 38-story Secretariat Building that would have provided two big new conference rooms for General Assembly committees.

They said the advisory committee, in private session here, recommended instead that the present trusteeship council chamber be enlarged to conference-room size at a cost of $297,000.

That committee, the informants said, accepted other proposals from Thant that would run the total spending up to $1,930,500, instead of the $8,005,500 he had in mind .

The United Nations started in 1945 with 51 member countries. The General Assembly Hall, first used in 1952, was designed to seat delegations of 10 persons each from 70 countries.

U.N. membership will hit 110 when the assembly admits Ugandan next Thursday. In his remodeling recommendations, Thant said that with more colonies in line for independence, "It now appears reasonable to expect a membership of some 126 in the not too distant future."

He proposed to reduce the seats for each delegation in the assembly hall from 10 to 6. The committee okayed this idea in preference to alternative proposals to reduce the seats from 10 to 5 or to leave the number at 10 but take 246 chairs away from the public.

The final decision on the secretary-general's proposals and the committee's recommendations in regard to them is up to the assembly itself. The matter will come up first, in the next few weeks, in the assembly's budgetary committee.

Electric Power Associations are no more owned or controlled by "R.E.A." than your home or car is owned or controlled by the bank or finance company through which it was purchased.

There Is No "R. E. A." In Louisiana

There is a lot of confusion about R. E. A. It is a symbol for "Rural Electrification Administration," a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This agency serves as a bank for lending money to make electric power and telephones available in rural areas.

REA lends to any responsible private company, public body or Cooperative group. For instance, there are only 13 member-owned Electric Co-ops in Louisiana. But, REA has 33 borrowers in Louisiana—19 private telephone companies, one large power company and the 13 privately-owned Electric Cooperatives mentioned.

The Electric Co-ops are no more "REA" than any of these 20 REA-financed, private companies.

Because REA is short and easily remembered, some people associate the entire rural electrification program with the symbol. Many refer to the 13 independent home-owned Electric Co-ops simply as, "REA". This is just as inaccurate as calling a neighbor who financed his home, "Mr. FHA", "Mr. VA" or "Mr. First National Bank."

Electric Cooperatives and the commercial companies who borrow from REA do so on the strength of their good credit ratings. They repay the REA loans on strict schedules, plus interest. Repayable REA loans have revolutionized rural living. They have boosted the economy of both town and country....providing countless new jobs, better techniques, new industries and revitalizing main street business.

Electric Cooperatives are local, private enterprises, owned by the rural folks they serve. They are chartered under Louisiana laws. They in no way constitute "federal" or "socialized" power—as some would have the public believe.

There isn't a single REA employee in Louisiana working with Electric Cooperatives. The electric Cooperatives are proud of the great record of the REA lending agency. However, the simple fact is: There is no "REA" in Louisiana.

Boston Imposes Drivers Curfew

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts's new teen-age drivers curfew law went into effect Saturday.

State police said any boy or girl 16 to 18 years old applying for a motor vehicle license will be given a junior permit. Holders of junior permits caught driving between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m. will be charged with driving without a license, police said.

For the time being, police explained, teen-agers 16 to 18, who already have regular drivers' permits, will not be affected by the curfew.

Council Told Tax Cut May Aid Business

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—President Kennedy's chief economist told the Business Council Saturday that a substantial tax cut planned for 1963 may give the faltering business expansion its second wind.

Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers told 100 industrialist members of the council that a recession could happen but need not necessarily come.

Heller did not challenge the views of a majority of the council's professional economic consultants who Friday predicted a very slight business downtown in first-half 1963, followed by a recovery later in year.

Heller said the extent of the dip predicted — only $2 billion from a record $560 billion rate of national output — was within the margin of statistical error.

He said national output will make a better gain in this quarter than the $3.5-billion advance registered in the July - September quarter, but acknowledged:

"The first half of 1963 will be a period of testing, to see whether the economy has enough steam, stimulated by a tax cut, to get its second wind—or whether it falls back into a mild recession."

Heller noted that business has continued to advance throughout this year despite a number of adverse developments including the government vs. industry clash over steel prices last spring and the stock market collapse in May. He said this indicated great resiliency in the economic structure.

Continued strength may be gained, Heller said, from a scheduled $1-billion rise in local and federal government spending, planned increases in business investment, a probable rise in consumer outlays, and fairly stable export and inventory buying.

But total national output is running some $32 billion below its full-employment potential, Heller told the corporation heads, and: "This in itself, wholly apart from the question of recession or no recession, makes a compelling case for tax reduction. . . .

"I believe that a tax cut is a necessary part of full employment policy."

Kennedy has announced he will ask Congress for a general tax overhaul in January, including reduction in the 52 per cent corporation rate and the individual income rates which rise to 91 per cent, as an economic stiumlant.

Although Heller talked to the council behind closed doors, in conformity with council rules, he gave reporters an account of his talk later.

Heller told the council he could not foresee a reduction in federal spending—one of the demands made Friday in the report of the council's Committee on the Domestic Economy headed by F. R. Kappel, board chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Heller noted that scheduled rises in the space and military programs, as well as the rising demand for services of a growing population, necessarily will increase the level of spending despite specific economies which he said are being achieved.

Five Children Die In Fire At Apartment

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (AP)—Five children died Saturday in a fire at an apartment house where, police said, three minor blazes had been caused recently by youngsters playing with matches.

The victims, none older than 4, were the children of sisters who occupied adjoining apartments — Wanda Hughes and Brenda Hughest.

Dead were Lavonne, 4, Lavetta, 3, and Curtis, 10 months, the children of Wanda; and Brenda, 2, and Eddie 11 months, the children of Brenda. Dr. Mildred Williams, Jefferson County coroner, said death had been caused by smoke inhalation.

Authorities said an estimated 43 persons resided in the eight-unit apartment and about 25 fled the two-story building when the alarm was turned in.

Firemen did not immediately determine the cause of the fire.

Ephraim W. Day, Charles Town police chief, said three minor fires during the past two months in the Hughes' apartment had been caused by children playing with matches.

Wanda Hughes discovered Saturday's fire when she returned from a restaurant on the first floor. She reported hearing screams from the children but could not gain entry to the apartment because of the flames. She alerted a woman and four children living across the hall.

The other mother, Brenda, was working at the time in a tavern near the race track area of Charles Town.

Authorities said the only exit for residents of the five second-floor apartments was a stairway.

SWEPT FROM PLANE

Inquiry Launched In Death Plunge

WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn. (AP)—Federal and state authorities began an informal inquiry Saturday into the death of a pretty, Paris-born stewardess who was swept from a two-engine plane Friday night.

While state police guarded the impounded aircraft, investigators questioned the other crew members, officials of Allegheny Airlines and representatives of Convair, the plane's manufacturer, in an attempt to find the cause of the accident.

The stewardess, Francoise de Moriere, 29, was drawn through a loose rear door of the plane in a terrific burst of pressure as she was about to announce the craft's imminent landing at Bradley Field here.

Her body was found two hours later in a field in Farmington, a suburb of Hartford.

The plane was en route to Providence, R.I., from Washington, D.C., with stops at Philadelphia and Windsor Locks.

Saturday's meeting was closed to the public. It was conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Aviation Administration and the State Aeronautics Department.

If any evidence of misconduct was found, the FAA will hold a formal hearing.

An air leak in the rear door of the plane was discovered en route from Philadelphia to Windsor Locks. Miss De Moriere and the copilot, Thomas Hawkins, 34, Alexandria, Va., attempted to plug the leak with pillows, said a passenger, Charles Mack, 34, Springfield, Mass.

The rushing noise of air stopped, Mack said, Then Miss De Moriere sat down next to him and chatted.

"A little while later, she said, 'excuse me. I have to announce our descent,'" Mack recalled.

Nothing more was heard from her.

It was a few moments before the passengers realized Miss De Moriere was missing. There were no witnesses to the accident.

In Providence, a passenger, Gustave M. Keulemans, Barrington, R.I., executive vice president of the American Screw Co. said the leak was detected before the plane passed over New York.

He said the pilot, Harold Gould, 38, Alexandria, Va., should have landed at New York, or notified ground stations before proceeding with the flight.

The plane with 47 passengers aboard was landed safely at Bradley Field after Gould radioed the tower that Miss De Moriere had plunged to the ground 1,500 feet below.

Group Told Cuban Press Suppressed

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A tape recorded statement by an imprisoned Cuban leader was presented before an Inter-American Press Association committee Saturday to support a report that press freedom is being suppressed by Fidel Castro.

"Everybody who is not a Communist has to leave (Cuba)," the recorded voice said.

Jule Dubois of the Chicago Tribune, chairman of the committee, played the recording as part of his opening report. He said it was made by Huber Mattos, one of the leaders of Castro's revolution, and smuggled out of Cuba.

Mattos, said Dubois, made the recording on Oct. 21, 1959, while awaiting arrest after breaking with Castro. Mattos now is serving a 20-year prison sentence after being convicted as a traitor in December 1959. The charge against him was made by Castro himself after Mattos declared the Communists were taking over Cuba and announced he was getting out of the Castro regime.

The recorded voice, sounding through the big conference hall here, said, "All mothers who were happy watching the birth of a different nation, have to weep seeing this nation succumb." Mattos called upon Castro "not to bury the revolution."

Dubois told the committee, meeting in advance of next week's session of the association, that Castro had tightened restrictions on foreign correspondents in Cuba.

"The less than handful of correspondents who have been allowed to remain in Cuba are now subjected to rigid travel restrictions," he asserted. "Their dispatches are either censored entirely or rewritten without their knowledge at the cable offices.

Castro, he declared, is "a ridiculous and servile fraud who has delivered his country to the Soviet Union." Dubois noted that the association, at its 1960 convention in Bogota, labeled Castro Public Enemy No. 1 of the free press in the Americas, and nothing has happened to cause that resolution to be modified, he said.

India Favors Red China Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Indian delegation sources said Saturday India has no intention of complaining to the U.N. Security Council about the border fighting between Indian and Communist Chinese forces.

The Indian informants also said that despite the fighting, India still favors seating Communist China in the United Nations.

"There is no change in our policy on this question because of the latest fighting," the informants said.

Europe Market Meet Scheduled

PARIS (AP)—French officials said Saturday a meeting of the foreign ministers of the six Common Market nations probably will take place Tuesday in Brussels.

Italy wants the ministers to examine the status of Britain's application to join the Common Market, and the status of proposals for a joint Common Market political authority.

Sleepless Wife Waits For Call Husband Safe

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Nancy Clore, weary after a sleepless night, waited by her telephone Saturday, hoping for a call that would say her missing husband was safe.

Bank employe William Ward Clore Jr., 31, had been missing since 1:30 p.m. Friday, shortly after a gunman fled with $10,000 from the branch bank where Clore worked.

Minutes after the holdup, the gunman phoned bank manager Robert Hasseries, warning him "I have one of your boys."

Clore spoke briefly, then the receiver was slammed down.

More than 100 officers made a house-to-house search in a five-block radius around the bank. The futile hunt lasted until nearly midnight.

The bandit ordered Hasseries to get him $10,000 and Hasseries, in turn, sent Clore into the vault. Hasseries said the robber carried a nickel-plated revolver under his coat.

After receiving the money the holdup man took Hasseries with him as he left the bank, releasing him about a block away.

Clore is believed to have slipped out to follow them. Until Hasseries alerted police, no other bank employes had any idea the robbery had occurred.

CAN'T BE FEDERALIZED

Alabama Militia May Be Created

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Incoming Gov. George C. Wallace is expected to take steps to create a state militia in the wake of an announced integration attempt at the University of Alabama.

Sources close to the Democratic nominee said Saturday an announcement that five Negro students would apply to the white university has stiffened Wallace's determination to press for the creation of a state force under his control to meet any violence in racial integration.

Wallace, who is opposed only by a political unknown in the Nov. 6 general election, wants to set up the militia not only to meet this type of violence, the sources said, but also to deal with other demonstrations and disasters, the latter in particular if the National Guard should be federalized because of world tensions.

A state militia, such as Alabama had during World War II, would be under the command of the governor and, unlike the National Guard, could not be federalized.

How a new militia would be financed and whether it would require new legislation has not been made known.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., announced Friday that the students would apply for transfers to the University of Alabama in the next few days.

Rioting broke out during initial integration of the university after a federal court ordered Autherine Lucy admitted in February 1956. Violence then, however, was not as severe as recent demonstrations at the University of Mississippi.

Miss Lucy was expelled three days after she entered the university because she accused school authorities of conspiring with a mob that touched off rioting on her arrival. No Negro has since been admitted.

Wallace said in his campaign that, if necessary, he would stand in the doorway of any Alabama school to block desegregation during his four-year term as governor.

He declined to comment on the announcement of a second integration attempt at the university or on the creation of an Alabama militia.

The Arkansas National Guard was taken out of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' control in 1957 and he was unable to use the force to prevent integration.

Mississippi National Guard troops were also federalized in the recent integration crisis at Ole Miss.

If a new legislative act is needed to set up a militia, it would probably not come until January 1963, when the Alabama Legislature is expected to convene in special session for legislation on items including highway funds.

Gov. John Patterson, however, could call a special session as early as November after the general election. Legislators assume duties immediately on election while Wallace does not take office until Jan. 14.

Patterson was not available for comment on the new intentions to integrate the university.

The secretary of the university's Board of Trustees, Rufus T. Beale, said routine notices have been sent out for the regular board meeting Nov. 9.

Hubert Mate, dean of admissions at the university and his staff rule on all applications. In addition, transfer students must have the approval of the dean of the college to which they apply.

Dr. James H. Newman, vice president of the university, said all applications submitted would be processed in due time but said no one would be admitted before the new term starts in February.

Seattle Fair Prepares To Close Today

SEATTLE Wash. (AP) — Big crowds pushed into the Seattle World's fair Saturday as the exposition prepared to end its six-month run Sunday in ceremony and solvency but without President Kennedy.

Officials scurried to find a stand-in for Kennedy, who canceled a weekend visit to Seattle and flew back to Washington because of a cold.

The fair broke a weekday attendance record Friday with more than 94,000 on hand. It expected crowds above 100,000 Saturday and Sunday to bring the total to 9½ million — perhaps 10 million counting tickets sold in advance but unused.

Happy with estimated receipts of $62 million, fair officials said they'll wind up with history's first financially successful six-month fair. No one would guess the profit figure until all bills are in.

Transfer of the $10-million federal Science Pavilion to a nonprofit corporation—the act Kennedy was to have performed—will take place Sunday anyway.

A two-hour closing ceremony, with music, marching, $10,000 worth of space-age fireworks and a 21-gun salute, will begin at sunset.

The federal pavilion will go into operation Monday as a Pacific Science Center, without a break. There are plans to convert the big Washington State Coliseum into an 18,000-seat sports and convention building.

Seattle plans to keep the popular monorail train. The restaurant-topped space needle, privately operated, will close for a few days and then reopen as a regular attraction.

Reds Say U.S. Soldier Defects

BERLIN (AP) — The official East Germany news agency ADN reported Saturday night that a U.S. soldier named Henry Kiernan had sought political asylum in East Berlin. ADN gave no reason for his action.

A spokesman for the U.S. garrison in Berlin said Pvt. Henry Kiernan, 19, Philadelphia, Pa., had been absent without leave since Oct. 4. He was a truck driver for Headquarters Co., 3rd Battle Group, 6th Infantry.

Ed Kennedy Favored In Senate Race

BOSTON (AP) — Just over a month ago, Edward M. (Teddy) Kennedy, youngest brother of President Kennedy, was a lean, desperate, hungry man, politically speaking.

He was running his long legs off, chasing the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator. On Sept. 18, he won it from State Atty. Gen. Edward McCormack Jr., rolling up a plurality of 311,900, a 5-2 smash. It was an astonishing performance for a man making his first race.

Today, Kennedy is still running hard in the sense of long hours and frequent appearances.

But the hoarse, strident note is gone from his voice. He looks more relaxed. He even lets some artesian humor—a Kennedy family trait — bubble up in his speeches. All this is new since the September primary.

Kennedy's principal opponent is Republican George Cabot Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former senator and ambassador to the United Nations. A Harvard history professor, H. Stuart Hughes, grandson of former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, is running as an independent.

At stake is the seat vacated by John F. Kennedy when he went to the White House.

Who will go into it Nov. 6;

The consensus of political observers here favors Teddy. One said "He's so far ahead that he's out of sight." Not many are that extreme.

Kennedy cautiously points to the largest segment of voters in the state, the independents, and says "about a million independents didn't vote in the primary. Who knows which way they are going to go?"

The breakdown in Massachusetts is roughly 921,000 registered Democrats, 608,000 Republicans and an estimated 1.2 million independents. (Many voters here, to avoid expressing a preference for either major party, do not ballot in the primaries. In the finals, they are not required to ask for either a Republican or Democratic ballot.)

Lodge calls it an uphill fight. He concedes that he is not as well known as Kennedy. But he says "It's coming fast now, getting to be known, and I really think I'm going to win."

He has some new figures to bolster his optimism.

A poll taken on his behalf, and completed last week, compares the position today vis-a-vis Kennedy with last May. Six months ago, it showed Kennedy with 52 per cent preference to Lodge's 34. The present figure, according to his sampling, is Kennedy 46.5 per cent, Lodge, 42.5, Hughes 3, and 8 per cent "undecided."

Puppy Attacked By Eagle On Chicago Street

CHICAGO (AP) — Golden eagles are supposed to live in craggy mountain retreats, not amid the glass and steel of big cities.

But Friday, a golden eagle attacked Penny, a lovable month-old puppy.

The bird, perched regally atop a South Side roof, spotted Penny, spread its enormous wings and swooped down upon the mild-mannered city pup.

Penny wheeled, tore for cover and almost made it. But the giant bird struck and dug its sharp claws into the dog's back.

A passing policeman rushed to Penny's aid and fired his pistol at the bird. The shot missed. Penny's owner, Fred Goodman, grabbed a broom lying on the sidewalk and did brief, but furious, battle with the bird.

The graceful eagle — doubtless unaccustomed to rude city ways — ascended to its lofty perch once more.

The city folks then called the Lincoln Park Zoo. A zoologist raced to the scene, pumped a single tranquilizer shot from his special gun into the bird and carted it away.

Council Told Tax Cut May Aid Business

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—President Kennedy's chief economist told the Business Council Saturday that a substantial tax cut planned for 1963 may give the faltering business expansion its second wind.

Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers told 100 industrialist members of the council that a recession could happen but need not necessarily come.

Heller did not challenge the views of a majority of the council's professional economic consultants who Friday predicted a very slight business downtown in first-half 1963, followed by a recovery later in year.

Heller said the extent of the dip predicted — only $2 billion from a record $560 billion rate of national output — was within the margin of statistical error.

He said national output will make a better gain in this quarter than the $3.5-billion advance registered in the July-September quarter, but acknowledged:

"The first half of 1963 will be a period of testing, to see whether the economy has enough steam, stimulated by a tax cut, to get its second wind—or whether it falls back into a mild recession."

Heller noted that business has continued to advance throughout this year despite a number of adverse developments including the government vs. industry clash over steel prices last spring and the stock market collapse in May. He said this indicated great resiliency in the economic structure.

Continued strength may be gained, Heller said, from a scheduled $1-billion rise in local and federal government spending, planned increases in business investment, a probable rise in consumer outlays, and fairly stable export and inventory buying.

But total national output is running some $32 billion below its full-employment potential, Heller told the corporation heads, and: "This in itself, wholly apart from the question of recession or no recession, makes a compelling case for tax reduction. . . .

"I believe that a tax cut is a necessary part of full employment policy."

Kennedy has announced he will ask Congress for a general tax overhaul in January, including reduction in the 52 per cent corporation rate and the individual income rates which rise to 91 per cent, as an economic stiumlant.

Although Heller talked to the council behind closed doors, in conformity with council rules, he gave reporters an account of his talk later.

Heller told the council he could not foresee a reduction in federal spending—one of the demands made Friday in the report of the council's Committee on the Domestic Economy headed by F. R. Kappel, board chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Heller noted that scheduled rises in the space and military programs, as well as the rising demand for services of a growing population, necessarily will increase the level of spending despite specific economies which he said are being achieved.

Five Children Die In Fire At Apartment

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (AP)—Five children died Saturday in a fire at an apartment house where, police said, three minor blazes had been caused recently by youngsters playing with matches.

The victims, none older than 4, were the children of sisters who occupied adjoining apartments — Wanda Hughes and Brenda Hughest.

Dead were Lavonne, 4, Lavetta, 3, and Curtis, 10 months, the children of Wanda; and Brenda, 2, and Eddie 11 months, the children of Brenda. Dr. Mildred Williams, Jefferson County coroner, said death had been caused by smoke inhalation.

Authorities said an estimated 43 persons resided in the eight-unit apartment and about 25 fled the two-story building when the alarm was turned in.

Firemen did not immediately determine the cause of the fire.

Ephraim W. Day, Charles Town police chief, said three minor fires during the past two months in the Hughes' apartment had been caused by children playing with matches.

Wanda Hughes discovered Saturday's fire when she returned from a restaurant on the first floor. She reported hearing screams from the children but could not gain entry to the apartment because of the flames. She alerted a woman and four children living across the hall.

The other mother, Brenda, was working at the time in a tavern near the race track area of Charles Town.

Authorities said the only exit for residents of the five second-floor apartments was a stairway.

SWEPT FROM PLANE

Inquiry Launched In Death Plunge

WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn. (AP)—Federal and state authorities began an informal inquiry Saturday into the death of a pretty, Paris-born stewardess who was swept from a two-engine plane Friday night.

While state police guarded the impounded aircraft, investigators questioned the other crew members, officials of Allegheny Airlines and representatives of Convair, the plane's manufacturer, in an attempt to find the cause of the accident.

The stewardess, Francoise de Moriere, 29, was drawn through a loose rear door of the plane in a terrific burst of pressure as she was about to announce the craft's imminent landing at Bradley Field here.

Her body was found two hours later in a field in Farmington, a suburb of Hartford.

The plane was en route to Providence, R.I., from Washington, D.C., with stops at Philadelphia and Windsor Locks.

Saturday's meeting was closed to the public. It was conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Aviation Administration and the State Aeronautics Department.

If any evidence of misconduct was found, the FAA will hold a formal hearing.

An air leak in the rear door of the plane was discovered en route from Philadelphia to Windsor Locks. Miss De Moriere and the copilot, Thomas Hawkins, 34, Alexandria, Va., attempted to plug the leak with pillows, said a passenger, Charles Mack, 34, Springfield, Mass.

The rushing noise of air stopped, Mack said, Then Miss De Moriere sat down next to him and chatted.

"A little while later, she said, 'excuse me. I have to announce our descent,'" Mack recalled.

Nothing more was heard from her.

It was a few moments before the passengers realized Miss De Moriere was missing. There were no witnesses to the accident.

In Providence, a passenger, Gustave M. Keulemans, Barrington, R.I., executive vice president of the American Screw Co. said the leak was detected before the plane passed over New York.

He said the pilot, Harold Gould, 38, Alexandria, Va., should have landed at New York, or notified ground stations before proceeding with the flight.

The plane with 47 passengers aboard was landed safely at Bradley Field after Gould radioed the tower that Miss De Moriere had plunged to the ground 1,500 feet below.

Group Told Cuban Press Suppressed

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A tape recorded statement by an imprisoned Cuban leader was presented before an Inter-American Press Association committee Saturday to support a report that press freedom is being suppressed by Fidel Castro.

"Everybody who is not a Communist has to leave (Cuba)," the recorded voice said.

Jule Dubois of the Chicago Tribune, chairman of the committee, played the recording as part of his opening report. He said it was made by Huber Mattos, one of the leaders of Castro's revolution, and smuggled out of Cuba.

Mattos, said Dubois, made the recording on Oct. 21, 1959, while awaiting arrest after breaking with Castro. Mattos now is serving a 20-year prison sentence after being convicted as a traitor in December 1959. The charge against him was made by Castro himself after Mattos declared the Communists were taking over Cuba and announced he was getting out of the Castro regime.

The recorded voice, sounding through the big conference hall here, said, "All mothers who were happy watching the birth of a different nation, have to weep seeing this nation succumb." Mattos called upon Castro "not to bury the revolution."

Dubois told the committee, meeting in advance of next week's session of the association, that Castro had tightened restrictions on foreign correspondents in Cuba.

"The less than handful of correspondents who have been allowed to remain in Cuba are now subjected to rigid travel restrictions," he asserted. "Their dispatches are either censored entirely or rewritten without their knowledge at the cable offices.

Castro, he declared, is "a ridiculous and servile fraud who has delivered his country to the Soviet Union." Dubois noted that the association, at its 1960 convention in Bogota, labeled Castro Public Enemy No. 1 of the free press in the Americas, and nothing has happened to cause that resolution to be modified, he said.

CAN'T BE FEDERALIZED

Alabama Militia May Be Created

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Incoming Gov. George C. Wallace is expected to take steps to create a state militia in the wake of an announced integration attempt at the University of Alabama.

Sources close to the Democratic nominee said Saturday an announcement that five Negro students would apply to the white university has stiffened Wallace's determination to press for the creation of a state force under his control to meet any violence in racial integration.

Wallace, who is opposed only by a political unknown in the Nov. 6 general election, wants to set up the militia not only to meet this type of violence, the sources said, but also to deal with other demonstrations and disasters, the latter in particular if the National Guard should be federalized because of world tensions.

A state militia, such as Alabama had during World War II, would be under the command of the governor and, unlike the National Guard, could not be federalized.

How a new militia would be financed and whether it would require new legislation has not been made known.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., announced Friday that the students would apply for transfers to the University of Alabama in the next few days.

Rioting broke out during initial integration of the university after a federal court ordered Autherine Lucy admitted in February 1956. Violence then, however, was not as severe as recent demonstrations at the University of Mississippi.

Miss Lucy was expelled three days after she entered the university because she accused school authorities of conspiring with a mob that touched off rioting on her arrival. No Negro has since been admitted.

Wallace said in his campaign that, if necessary, he would stand in the doorway of any Alabama school to block desegregation during his four-year term as governor.

He declined to comment on the announcement of a second integration attempt at the university or on the creation of an Alabama militia.

The Arkansas National Guard was taken out of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' control in 1957 and he was unable to use the force to prevent integration.

Mississippi National Guard troops were also federalized in the recent integration crisis at Ole Miss.

If a new legislative act is needed to set up a militia, it would probably not come until January 1963, when the Alabama Legislature is expected to convene in special session for legislation on items including highway funds.

Gov. John Patterson, however, could call a special session as early as November after the general election. Legislators assume duties immediately on election while Wallace does not take office until Jan. 14.

Patterson was not available for comment on the new intentions to integrate the university.

The secretary of the university's Board of Trustees, Rufus T. Beale, said routine notices have been sent out for the regular board meeting Nov. 9.

Hubert Mate, dean of admissions at the university and his staff rule on all applications. In addition, transfer students must have the approval of the dean of the college to which they apply.

Dr. James H. Newman, vice president of the university, said all applications submitted would be processed in due time but said no one would be admitted before the new term starts in February.

Ed Kennedy Favored In Senate Race

BOSTON (AP) — Just over a month ago, Edward M. (Teddy) Kennedy, youngest brother of President Kennedy, was a lean, desperate, hungry man, politically speaking.

He was running his long legs off, chasing the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator. On Sept. 18, he won it from State Atty. Gen. Edward McCormack Jr., rolling up a plurality of 311,900, a 5-2 smash. It was an astonishing performance for a man making his first race.

Today, Kennedy is still running hard in the sense of long hours and frequent appearances.

But the hoarse, strident note is gone from his voice. He looks more relaxed. He even lets some artesian humor—a Kennedy family trait — bubble up in his speeches. All this is new since the September primary.

Similarly, his Boston headquarters no longer resemble a bargain basement during a sale. The warm smell of confidence is there. His aides try not to inhale too much of it.

Kennedy's principal opponent is Republican George Cabot Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former senator and ambassador to the United Nations. A Harvard history professor, H. Stuart Hughes, grandson of former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, is running as an independent.

At stake is the seat vacated by John F. Kennedy when he went to the White House.

Who will go into it Nov. 6;

The consensus of political observers here favors Teddy. One said "He's so far ahead that he's out of sight." Not many are that extreme.

Kennedy cautiously points to the largest segment of voters in the state, the independents, and says "about a million independents didn't vote in the primary. Who knows which way they are going to go?"

The breakdown in Massachusetts is roughly 921,000 registered Democrats, 608,000 Republicans and an estimated 1.2 million independents. (Many voters here, to avoid expressing a preference for either major party, do not ballot in the primaries. In the finals, they are not required to ask for either a Republican or Democratic ballot.)

Lodge calls it an uphill fight. He concedes that he is not as well known as Kennedy. But he says "It's coming fast now, getting to be known, and I really think I'm going to win."

He has some new figures to bolster his optimism.

A poll taken on his behalf, and completed last week, compares the position today vis-a-vis Kennedy with last May. Six months ago, it showed Kennedy with 52 per cent preference to Lodge's 34. The present figure, according to his sampling, is Kennedy 46.5 per cent, Lodge, 42.5, Hughes 3, and 8 per cent "undecided."

Andrews Rites Held In Area

WINNSBORO (Special) — Funeral services for Mrs. Charles Andrews, 42, of Crossett, Ark., who died as a result of a hunting accident Friday, were held at the First Baptist Church of Gilbert at 2 p.m. Saturday. Interment followed in Oakley Cemetery near Gilbert.

Survivors include the husband, Charles Andrews, Crossett; two sons: Harry Ed and Bill, both of Crossett; four daughters, Miss Patsy Andrews, Shreveport; Mary Clara Andrews, Carolyn and Linda Andrews, all of Crossett, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wafer, Sr., Gilbert, two brothers, Harry Jr. and Bill Wafer, both of Gilbert; three sisters, Mrs. George Harden, Shreveport; Mrs. Roy Peacock, Lake Charles, and Mrs. Edward Elerbe, Gilbert.

India Favors Red China Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Indian delegation sources said Saturday India has no intention of complaining to the U.N. Security Council about the border fighting between Indian and Communist Chinese forces.

The Indian informants also said that despite the fighting, India still favors seating Communist China in the United Nations.

"There is no change in our policy on this question because of the latest fighting," the informants said.

Seattle Fair Prepares To Close Today

SEATTLE Wash. (AP) — Big crowds pushed into the Seattle World's fair Saturday as the exposition prepared to end its six-month run Sunday in ceremony and solvency but without President Kennedy.

Officials scurried to find a stand-in for Kennedy, who canceled a weekend visit to Seattle and flew back to Washington because of a cold.

The fair broke a weekday attendance record Friday with more than 94,000 on hand. It expected crowds above 100,000 Saturday and Sunday to bring the total to 9½ million — perhaps 10 million counting tickets sold in advance but unused.

Happy with estimated receipts of $62 million, fair officials said they'll wind up with history's first financially successful six-month fair. No one would guess the profit figure until all bills are in.

Transfer of the $10-million federal Science Pavilion to a nonprofit corporation—the act Kennedy was to have performed—will take place Sunday anyway.

A two-hour closing ceremony, with music, marching, $10,000 worth of space-age fireworks and a 21-gun salute, will begin at sunset.

The federal pavilion will go into operation Monday as a Pacific Science Center, without a break. There are plans to convert the big Washington State Coliseum into an 18,000-seat sports and convention building.

Seattle plans to keep the popular monorail train. The restaurant-topped space needle, privately operated, will close for a few days and then reopen as a regular attraction.

Sleepless Wife Waits For Call Husband Safe

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Nancy Clore, weary after a sleepless night, waited by her telephone Saturday, hoping for a call that would say her missing husband was safe.

Bank employe William Ward Clore Jr., 31, had been missing since 1:30 p.m. Friday, shortly after a gunman fled with $10,000 from the branch bank where Clore worked.

Minutes after the holdup, the gunman phoned bank manager Robert Hasseries, warning him "I have one of your boys."

Clore spoke briefly, then the receiver was slammed down.

More than 100 officers made a house-to-house search in a five-block radius around the bank. The futile hunt lasted until nearly midnight.

The bandit ordered Hasseries to get him $10,000 and Hasseries, in turn, sent Clore into the vault. Hasseries said the robber carried a nickel-plated revolver under his coat.

After receiving the money the holdup man took Hasseries with him as he left the bank, releasing him about a block away.

Clore is believed to have slipped out to follow them. Until Hasseries alerted police, no other bank employes had any idea the robbery had occurred.

Boston Imposes Drivers Curfew

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts's new teen-age drivers curfew law went into effect Saturday.

State police said any boy or girl 16 to 18 years old applying for a motor vehicle license will be given a junior permit. Holders of junior permits caught driving between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m. will be charged with driving without a license, police said.

For the time being, police explained, teen-agers 16 to 18, who already have regular drivers' permits, will not be affected by the curfew.

Europe Market Meet Scheduled

PARIS (AP)—French officials said Saturday a meeting of the foreign ministers of the six Common Market nations probably will take place Tuesday in Brussels.

Italy wants the ministers to examine the status of Britain's application to join the Common Market, and the status of proposals for a joint Common Market political authority.

ACE MEMORY

NEW YORK (UPI) — World War I ace Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker proved recently his memory is as good as his flying. Rickenbacker recognized a man in the Stanhope Hotel, where he lives, and remembered his name although they hadn't seen each other for 35 years.

Reds Say U.S. Soldier Defects

BERLIN (AP) — The official East Germany news agency ADN reported Saturday night that a U.S. soldier named Henry Kiernan had sought political asylum in East Berlin. ADN gave no reason for his action.

A spokesman for the U.S. garrison in Berlin said Pvt. Henry Kiernan, 19, Philadelphia, Pa., had been absent without leave since Oct. 4. He was a truck driver for Headquarters Co., 3rd Battle Group, 6th Infantry.

Puppy Attacked By Eagle On Chicago Street

CHICAGO (AP) — Golden eagles are supposed to live in craggy mountain retreats, not amid the glass and steel of big cities.

But Friday, a golden eagle attacked Penny, a lovable month-old puppy.

The bird, perched regally atop a South Side roof, spotted Penny, spread its enormous wings and swooped down upon the mild-mannered city pup.

Penny wheeled, tore for cover and almost made it. But the giant bird struck and dug its sharp claws into the dog's back.

A passing policeman rushed to Penny's aid and fired his pistol at the bird. The shot missed. Penny's owner, Fred Goodman, grabbed a broom lying on the sidewalk and did brief, but furious, battle with the bird.

The graceful eagle — doubtless unaccustomed to rude city ways — ascended to its lofty perch once more.

The city folks then called the Lincoln Park Zoo. A zoologist raced to the scene, pumped a single tranquilizer shot from his special gun into the bird and carted it away.

Rites Pending For Brother Of Local Resident

OAK GROVE (Special) — Funeral services for John T. Bannister, 77, brother of a Monroe woman, are pending arrival of relatives.

Mr. Bannister, brother of Mrs. Fanny Tullos of Monroe, died in his home at route three, Oak Grove Wednesday, following a short illness.

Services will be held in Zoar Methodist Church in Chatham with the Rev. Scott, pastor of the church, and the Rev. J. T. Garrett officiating. Burial will be in the Zoar Church Cemetery under the direction of Gay's Funeral Home of Oak Grove.

Other survivors include his widow, Mrs. Eula Mae Bannister, Oak Grove; one son, G. T. Bannister, with the U. S. Navy in Antartic; three daughters, Mrs. Edna Floyd, Denver, Col., Mrs. Ella Stratton, Wichita, Kans., and Mrs. Dorothy Wheat, Kingsville, Tex.; one brother, A. L. Bannister, Brookhaven, Miss.; and six grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Keith Fowler, L. M. Price, James Payne, Odis Peterson, Earl Peterson and James Strong.

Judge Refuses To Halt Vote To Reapportion

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Chancellor W. T. Horton warned Saturday if voters approve Nov. 6 the legislative reapportionment plan and he decides it does not comply with the U.S. constitution his plan would be put into effect by state courts.

Horton refused to act on a Gulf Coast citizens group request that the Nov. 6 election be enjoined because the legislative-approved reapportionment plan was not adequate.

Horton said he felt his original order—which told the legislature he would effect a reapportionment plan if they did not act—would allow him to nullify the proposed plan if approved by voters.

The legislature just wound up a session which set up a 144-member House and a 82-member Senate. Horton's plan called for a 147-member House and a 49-member Senate.

Advocates of the legislative plan contend the plan is fair but others feel it leaves the power of the legislature in the hands of the rural counties and does not adequately represent the larger counties.

Horton's plan called for distribution of seats on a population basis for the Senate and distribution on population and area for the House.

OAK QUIETER

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The same type of equipment used to check on earth - orbiting satellites and missiles is helping automobile engineers make cars quieter.

To get an accurate check on all noise and vibration, car manufacturers can use a two-channel electronic telemetry system that "listens" to the sounds test cars make on the road and transmits signals to a sensitive receiver in a following vehicle. The system was designed by the Bendix Corp. here, which built the telemetry equipment used in the Project Mercury program to receive data from U. S. astronauts.

Rites Pending For Brother Of Local Resident

OAK GROVE (Special) — Funeral services for John T. Bannister, 77, brother of a Monroe woman, are pending arrival of relatives.

Mr. Bannister, brother of Mrs. Fanny Tullos of Monroe, died in his home at route three, Oak Grove Wednesday, following a short illness.

Services will be held in Zoar Methodist Church in Chatham with the Rev. Scott, pastor of the church, and the Rev. J. T. Garrett officiating. Burial will be in the Zoar Church Cemetery under the direction of Gay's Funeral Home of Oak Grove.

Other survivors include his widow, Mrs. Eula Mae Bannister, Oak Grove; one son, G. T. Bannister, with the U. S. Navy in Antartic; three daughters, Mrs. Edna Floyd, Denver, Col., Mrs. Ella Stratton, Wichita, Kans., and Mrs. Dorothy Wheat, Kingsville, Tex.; one brother, A. L. Bannister, Brookhaven, Miss.; and six grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Keith Fowler, L. M. Price, James Payne, Odis Peterson, Earl Peterson and James Strong.

Judge Refuses To Halt Vote To Reapportion

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Chancellor W. T. Horton warned Saturday if voters approve Nov. 6 the legislative reapportionment plan and he decides it does not comply with the U.S. constitution his plan would be put into effect by state courts.

Horton refused to act on a Gulf Coast citizens group request that the Nov. 6 election be enjoined because the legislative-approved reapportionment plan was not adequate.

Horton said he felt his original order—which told the legislature he would effect a reapportionment plan if they did not act—would allow him to nullify the proposed plan if approved by voters.

The legislature just wound up a session which set up a 144-member House and a 82-member Senate. Horton's plan called for a 147-member House and a 49-member Senate.

Advocates of the legislative plan contend the plan is fair but others feel it leaves the power of the legislature in the hands of the rural counties and does not adequately represent the larger counties.

Horton's plan called for distribution of seats on a population basis for the Senate and distribution on population and area for the House.

OAK QUIETER

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The same type of equipment used to check on earth - orbiting satellites and missiles is helping automobile engineers make cars quieter.

To get an accurate check on all noise and vibration, car manufacturers can use a two-channel electronic telemetry system that "listens" to the sounds test cars make on the road and transmits signals to a sensitive receiver in a following vehicle. The system was designed by the Bendix Corp. here, which built the telemetry equipment used in the Project Mercury program to receive data from U. S. astronauts.

JFK REVISES ESTIMATES

Reds May Delay Berlin 'Squeeze'

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Kennedy administration appears to be revising its estimates of the Soviet timetable for a showdown with the Western powers over Berlin. The period of maximum danger is now expected to come early next year rather than before Christmas.

How the situation actually develops will be determined in part by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's decision on whether to visit the United Nations and have a Berlin crisis conference with President Kennedy in the next few weeks.

Administration policy makers said Saturday that however the timing develops they are more than ever convinced by last week's diplomatic developments that the dangers of U.S.-Soviet conflict are not diminishing and that there is no prospect in the predictable future of an East-West accord on West Berlin's future.

President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other administration spokesmen have been expressing grave concern over the Berlin situation for several weeks. Officials say privately that their primary concern is to make Khrushchev understand there will be no Western concessions on vital interests in Berlin even if the West has to fight to protect those interests.

At the same time some officials privately agree that a related purpose of the administration's campaign is to emphasize to the American people that in the administration's view Berlin presents a far greater danger than the Communist military buildup in Cuba.

Administration authorities insist that the line will not change after the Nov. 6 election. Indeed, the public emphasis on toughness may be greater immediately after the elections because West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, an uncompromising foe of any yielding on Berlin, will see Kennedy Nov. 7.

Last week brought what amounted to a long-distance exchange of views between Kennedy and Khrushchev through Ambassador Foy Kohler in Moscow and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who came to Washington.

The results of this exchange are primarily these:

1. Khrushchev advised Kennedy that he wants to continue East-West talks for awhile instead of letting the Berlin dispute come to a quick climax. This line coincided with reports from Eastern European diplomats that there very likely would be no Soviet move to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany until after an East German Communist party meeting in East Berlin in late January.

2. Khrushchev made it clear through both Kohler and Gromyko that he was considering a visit to the United Nations in late November. He indicated to Kohler matters he would like to talk to the President about—Berlin being the most important. Kennedy sent word through Gromyko that he would be willing to see Khrushchev, but he avoided encouraging him to come.

3. Gromyko and his advisers told Kennedy, Rusk and other American officials emphatically and without qualification — although with full diplomatic courtesy—that Russia intends to make a separate peace treaty with East Germany; alsot hat Russia cannot understand why the United States insists that Western forces must remain in West Berlin.

Contempt Verdict Delayed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Contempt cases against Mississippi's governor and lieutenant governor were put off until next week Saturday as a federal appeals court failed to act.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is considering whether to fine and-or imprison Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. for their actions in the James Meredith integration case.

They were found in civil contempt last month for their action in preventing Meredith's enrollment at Ole Miss.

The appeals court Friday issued a sweeping preliminary inmunction, blocking Barnett, a number of other state officials and their successors from interfering with Meredith so long as he remains a student at Ole Miss.

The injunction was issued at Atlanta after seven of the court's judges held an all-day conference. Chief Judge Elbert Tuttle declined to say whether a decision had been reached in the contempt case, but promised it would come as soon as possible.

The justice department has asked that Barnett be fined $10,000 a day starting Oct. 2, the day he was supposed to show he had purged himself of contempt.

The university campus at Oxford was quiet Saturday, with many students away for the weekend. A large number went to Jackson for Saturday night's Ole Miss-Tulane football game.

In Jackson, Barnett held an open house at the executive mansion for Ole Miss students and faculty.

Meredith, storm center of the desegregation crisis, was away for the weekend too, presumably at Memphis, Tenn., with his wife. He is due to return to Oxford late Sunday to start his fourth week as a student.

Pope Changes Voting Rules For Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII made a slight change Saturday in the voting procedure for a new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church.

He also freed cardinals of the threat of excommunication for not attending a conclave to choose a new Pope, and he banned photographs of a Pope on his death bed.

Pope John's rules were contained in an apostolic letter, a motu proprio (a document signed by the Pope "in his own hand"), made public Saturday. The letter amended rules framed by Pope Pius XII in 1945.

The previous rules provided that a minimum of two-thirds of the voting cardinals, plus one, was required to elect a Pope. Under Pope John's amendment, a two-thirds majority is sufficient. However, if the number of cardinals in the conclave cannot be divided into equal thirds, the new rules hold to the requirement of two-thirds plus one.

Pope John eliminated a regulation threatening cardinals with excommunication for failing to attend a conclave for reasons other than health. Jose Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, could not attend the 1958 conclave that elected Pope John XXIII. His absence was considered justified. He is living in asylum in the U.S. Legation in Budapest, having taken refuge there during the 1956 Hungarian uprising.

In his letter Pope John also ordered that no photographs could be made of a dying Pope and that no sound recordings might be made in the death room.

When Pope Pius XII died, newspapers in Italy and aboard published pictures of the pontiff on his death bed. Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, personal physician of Pope Pius, was later ousted from the Rome Medical Association for selling photographs and newspaper articles describing the Pope's death agony. Later an appeals board annulled the expulsion, saying there were technical errors in the way the action was taken.

Pope John's letter said: "Anyone wanting to take pictures of a Pope after death, for reason of proof or testimony, must ask the permission of the cardinal chamberlain, who will not grant the permission if the pontiff does not wear his pontifical robes."

Trustees Okay Legal Battle On Scholarship

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Trustees of Vassar College Saturday authorized a legal battle, if necessary, to remove a whites-only clause from the scholarship bequest of a North Carolina woman.

The $200,000 bequest was made by the late Miss Sally Baker Staton of Tarboro, N.C., whose will specified the money should be used for scholarships for white girls from Tarboro or Edgecombe County, N.C.

The Vassar Board of Trustees at a meeting authorized the officers of the college to decline the bequest unless the restriction to white girls is eliminated. The board described the restriction as "contrary to the policies and philosophy of the college."

Miss Staton, a member of the Class of 1897 at Vassar, died recently at the age of 87.
